ALERT.

No Noise But Much Work.

The De Young Men Are Busy.

Alameda's Share of the Loaves and Fishes.

Pointers Regarding Some of the Bills to Come Up.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, January 8.—"I don't like this quiet among the DeYoung men," said an ardent Perkinite this evening, "it brooks too much of the calm before the storm. There is a smiling confidence about them, too, that I don't understand. Anyone would think that they had their fight won, and in view of all this clamor for Perkins it is at least strange that they do not appear distressed."

And that is the situation in a nutshell. The Perkins men are proclaiming their victory before they enter the lists and the DeYoung clans are engaged in that oft advised occupation of "sawing wood." Anyone who thinks though that they are idle are sadly mistaken. The most persistent buttonholing on record is going on, but it is being done quietly and not where all who run may see.

DeYoung is undoubtedly making the fight of his life. The most powerful influences extant are being exercised in his interests and were it not for the great popularity of his opponent he would have a sure thing. That no ordinary candidate could cope with him is admitted even by his most bitter opponents, but then he is running against one of the strongest men in California on such an issue, and that's the rub.

Billy Hamilton, who, as Perkins' manager, is doing splendid work, is still waiting to launch his caucus thunderbolt, but like a good general is holding it back until the organization is completed throughout in both branches of the Legislature and the members are thereby footloose. Up to the present time it has been impossible to get them to devote the necessary time for such an undertaking, as the horde of office seekers this session is unusually large and the aspirants unusually hungry to take a dip into the State's pockets—a result doubtless of the hard times.

Hamilton says, though, that he has hopes of arranging the caucus for the end of this week, and if not then, at the beginning of the coming one. But if he is as confident as he says he is he is evidently reckoning without his host, for the De Young men are almost willing to bet money that he will not be able to get enough votes together to force the issue.

As a matter of fact, though, an out-and-out De Young man is very hard to find. Although there are plenty of them about they are not wearing the fact on their coat sleeves, and are almost as uncommunicative regarding themselves as members of the A. P. A.

Frank Stone went to San Francisco on the afternoon train, leaving his brother Harry in charge of the headquarters at the Berkshire, and some think that when he returns he will bring De Young with him. All this talk of neither Perkins nor De Young appearing on the scene at all is, of course, sheer nonsense; they will have to be in usual evidence if they expect their friends to be able to draw wavering votes into line.

It may be said, though, that the actual battle has not yet begun; everything up to date is merely skirmishing, and the unreliability of the situation is best shown by the fact that each candidate is claiming votes that will go to the other man. There will be some surprises when the roll is called, though the first ballot, will not, according to the De Young calculations, tell any tale, as a number of his supporters are pledged for second choice, and will not be called on until after they had had an opportunity to show that Perkins cannot get there. The policy to weaken Perkins' strength by weaning away votes for him, by means of a third candidate, will doubtless be maintained, and it is on this line that Bowers' candidacy will come in.

WHAT ALAMEDA COUNTY GETS.

The day in the Legislature was devoted simply to perfecting working organization. Alameda county, as usual, got up a fight among its own members, with the result that some of the most eagerly sought for places were lost. However, the county has not fared so badly up to date, as will be seen by the following list of places already secured:

In the Senate.

Sergeant-at-Arms—Leslie Blackburn of Oakland.

Enrolling Clerk—J. H. Dungan of Livermore.

In the Assembly.

File Clerk—H. D. Chadbourne of Alameda.

Chaplain—Rev. O. Summers of Alameda.

The selection of Rev. Mr. Summers for chaplain was to a certain extent the result of a fight Sacramento got into over the appointment of Bert Kidder. As a result the selection of the man of prayer was taken from the Capital City and given to Alameda county.

Mr. Summers, though, had been making a hard fight for the place and was backed staunchly by the colored element. He is the presiding elder for California of the African Methodist Church, and is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. He was a slave in the South during ante-bellum days, and knows what it is to have been lashed at a whipping post.

His opening prayer this morning was naturally looked to with some interest, and although he was a trifle nervous at making his legislative debut, he acquitted himself well.

The proceedings in the Senate simply consisted of selecting the statutory officers, and the nomination of Thomas Flint of Monterey as president pro tem. was seized on by Senator Tirey Ford as an opportunity to pay the San Juan representative a number of neat compliments.

Senator Seawell made the first official move by the Democrats towards seating Budd by presenting a resolution calling on the Senate and Assembly to meet in joint session and canvass the returns.

The action was, however, premature and the resolution went on the table.

GOOD FOR FOUR YEARS.

Controller's office—W. W. Douglass, L. C. Strienning, F. W. Rorer, T. E. Swain, R. P. Roper, J. W. Baker, M. E. Colgan.

Attorney General—Deputy, Judge J. Daly of Ventura.

Surveyor General—Deputy, T. E. Wright; clerks, C. J. Willey, T. M. Eby, Hy. Williams, C. A. Bump.

SOME BILLS TO COME UP.

Senator Dunn of San Francisco intends to introduce a bill aiming for the suppression of betting. It is very sweeping and makes it a misdemeanor to make a wager on any game of chance. Even boxing, baseball, horse-racing and other popular sports come under the ban.

The principal measure from Los Angeles this time will be in the hands of Senator Mathews. It is a constitutional amendment giving counties the right to issue 3 per cent bonds to be sold at par and to run for forty years for the purpose of constructing State railroads. The amendment does not call for the building of any particular line or for any organization that will immediately pertain thereto. The Senator says it is not an anti-Southern Pacific measure, that is, not in the sense of the many bills introduced with that purpose.

Assemblyman Dodge is mentioned for the chairmanship of the County Government Committee. He says that if he is he will see that steps are taken to cut down the salaries now attached to many of the leading offices. Dodge has got a couple of election bills this time, one calling for a secret ballot in conventions, and the other making it a misdemeanor to resort to trading for the purpose of securing a nomination.

Judge Waymire of Alameda is on the alert for an Irrigation bill that is to come up. Congress, at its last session, passed an Act ceding arid lands to various States. California is thus honored to the extent of 1,000,000 acres, and a bill is to be introduced at this session calling for the disposal of the land at a nominal sum per acre. Judge Waymire, however, will oppose the bill, which, he says, will enable the land to pass into the hands of rich operators, and he will, instead, introduce a bill calling for the appointment of a commission, consisting of the Governor, Controller and Attorney General, to employ an engineer to make surveys and arrangements for irrigating the land in question. He then proposes to have the land leased out in small parcels at so much per acre, the title in perpetuity to remain in the State and the proceeds to be for University and school purposes.

Ex-Attorney General W. H. H. Hart will have an important County Government bill introduced. It calls for a uniform fee system throughout the State and also for a system by which county officers shall be remunerated partly by regular salary and partly by fees. By this means he says the problem of fluctuation of county business will be met. A county which is passing through a period of shrinkage will not be saddled with a lot of expensive officials, whereas, on the other hand, if the business increases, the multiplication of the fees will permit the hiring of all the deputies needed.

PERSONALS AND NOTES.

Ed Pringle of East Oakland was given the full Democratic complimentary vote of fifteen for one of the statutory offices in the House. Felix Mulgrew got the same consideration.

Al Baker of Oakland was given the place of assistant file clerk as a sop for having been sidetracked in his fight for assistant sergeant-at-arms. He will draw $4 a day.

Charley Weber will be up from Los Angeles before the week is out.

Dan Burns is expected tomorrow (Wednesday).

Leslie Blackburn was formally installed today as sergeant-at-arms of the Senate. Tom Rodgers turned over the keys to him and gave him the combination to the safe and a few pointers on how to satisfy everybody.

Mal Dillon is among the many who are hoping that the flotsam and jetsam will bring something their way.

Senator Hart of Sacramento has decided that he does not want the Committee on Education. It will go to Senator Tirey Ford.

Colonel Thomas F. Garrity is here to defend McDonald in his contest with Collins.

THE CAUCUS.

Republicans Will Assemble This Evening.

Perkins Says He Only Needs Four Votes.

Special to The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, January 9. — Senator Perkins arrived today to personally participate in his campaign. He is domiciled at the Golden Eagle here. I interviewed him this afternoon.

"I am of the same opinion that I had at election time," he said, "and that is that I will win.

"I was practically the only candidate mentioned and was indorsed throughout the State.

"Of all the personal assurances and pledges I received the only one I know of that has fallen down is Robert Gay of Oakland.

"He now says, I believe, that he is not bound by any expression of opinion he has made heretofore.

"Congressman Bowers is not in the fight. He personally assured me he would not be and said that if he was required, he would come on from Washington to help me.

"I know though, that his name is being mentioned so as to draw sectional strength from me."

The issue, however, will be made tonight, when a Republican caucus will be held on the Senatorial proposition.

The call is at present signed by forty-seven, and there may be others before evening comes.

"The Republicans should, of course, abide by the issue of this caucus, as it will be representative of their party.

"I am aware that some Republicans will not come, but they are counted, and if they do not choose to attend I do not see how they can afterwards vote for any other candidate in open session.

"As near as I can tell you, my positive strength is 57 votes and has been all along.

"This left four votes to be obtained and I am not afraid to face issue on that score.

"As far as this talk of Democrats voting for De Young is concerned, I am sure many of them would vote for me, though I am not seeking election that way, but on my party issue.

"Of course I will be glad to get their votes too, as when I go to Washington I will endeavor to represent the interests of the State as well as the party."

STATE SENATE.

The Joint Session Resolution Again Laid on the Table.

CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The Gubernatorial contention cropped out in the Senate this morning the first thing after that body was called to order.

Seawell, Democrat, offered a concurrent resolution calling for a joint session of the Senate and Assembly tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of canvassing and publishing the election returns for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Voorhels, Rep., spoke in favor of laying on the table. He said that it had been agreed among the Republicans that a resolution similar in purport was to be introduced in the Assembly today, and it was desired to act upon the Assembly resolution.

Seawell argued that it was proper that such a resolution should emanate from the Senate, and he urged the adoption of his resolution.

The resolution to lay on the table prevailed, however, by a vote of 22 to 17.

IN THE ASSEMBLY.

The Gubernatorial Contest Thought to Be Settled.

CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The first business of the Assembly this morning was to receive Governor Markham's last message, which was presented by the Governor's secretary at 11 o'clock.

The reading of the message was dispensed with and a thousand copies were ordered printed for the use of members.

Thomas presented a concurrent resolution providing for a meeting of the Senate and Assembly at 2 P. M. tomorrow, for the purpose of canvassing and publishing the returns of the election for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Adopted without a dissenting voice.

The resolution provides for the appointment of a joint committee of three members from each House to confer with the Governor-elect and Lieutenant Governor-elect for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for their inauguration.

This agreement was reached in the caucus of the Republican Assemblymen this morning and it is not believed that any opposition will be offered in the Senate.

COLLINS' CONTEST.

It Was Called Up This Afternoon by the Speaker.

SACRAMENTO, January 9.—When the House reassembled at 2 o'clock, the contest of McDonald's seat by Collins, Republican candidate from the Forty-ninth district, Alameda county, was announced by Speaker Lynch.

DEMOCRATS CONFER.

The object of the conference was to organize against any surprise that may be sprung by the Republicans in relation to Budd's inauguration, in order to act quickly and in concert.

It is understood that the Democrats were somewhat worried over the fact that duplicate returns have been sent in from Fresno and Alameda counties.

It has since been learned that the extra returns from Alameda county are to be used in the contest of the seat of McDonald, Democrat, but the object of double returns from Fresno is not known.

MILLARD IS BETTER.

The Precautionary Oath Was Intended to Be a Secret.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., January 9.—Lieutenant Governor Millard's condition is better this morning than at any time since he was taken seriously ill.

The precautionary oath of office taken Monday was intended to be secret, but it leaked out.

"THE BULLETIN" SOLD.

It Was Purchased by R. A Crothers for $35,500.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 9.—The Evening Bulletin was sold this morning by United States Court Commissioner Heacock.

It was purchased by R. A. Crothers, brother-in-law of Loring Pickering, and until Monday business manager of the Morning Call.

There were only three bids.

Thomas Magee, for George K. Fitch, offered $30,000; C. M. Shortridge, the new proprietor of the Call, bid $35,000; and Crothers bid $35,500. There being no further bidding, he secured the oldest paper in the city.

OLIVE CONSUMPTION.

The Demand in the United States Is Increasing.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The consumption of olives in the United States is increasing rapidly, as a result of the immigration of large numbers of people from Southern Europe.

The United States Consul at Cadiz, Spain, in a report to the State Department, shows the value of olives sent to the United States from one province of Seville, last year, was $326,884 and the quantity about 150,000 bushels.

This year's crop is about 25 per cent short.

The Consul says the duty of 20 per cent imposed by the new Tariff bill will not materially affect the volume of imports and the Treasury will be a clear gainer by the amount.

A Big Firm Assigns.

A TEST.

Currency Bill Is Knocked Out.

A Preliminary Skirmish on the Measure.

Republicans Stood Solid With the Democratic Opponents.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The special rule to bring the Currency bill to a vote was defeated on ayes and nays.

This was a decisive test vote, and practically kills the bill.

There was a good attendance on the floor of the House when Speaker Crisp rapped the gavel today, as notice had been given that the special order to terminate the debate on the Currency bill would be reported from the Committee on Rules, and the prevailing belief was that the fate of the bill would be determined today.

Outhwaite presented a special order from the Committee on Rules.

It provided for closing general debate and consideration of the Springer substitute as original bill under the five minute rule today, tomorrow and Friday until 2:05 P. M., the bill and pending amendments to be reported to the House for final vote Saturday immediately after the morning hour.

Some confusion was caused by a volley of questions from members which followed Outhwaite's demands, the members being anxious to ascertain the status of the amendments after the adoption of the order.

Springer, chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, assured the gentlemen there would be no disposition to shut out members.

Outhwaite made a brief speech urging the necessity for closing the debate on the Currency bill and for the disposing of it in order that more pressing measures like the Nicaragua canal bill might be considered.

Bland wanted to know if the opportunity to offer an amendment to strike out the enacting clause (which would kill the bill) would be given.

Outhwaite said the rule discriminated against no amendment, and Springer again assured the House there would be no disposition to cut off members with amendments.

Bland was not satisfied and insisted that a provision be inserted in the rule, or an agreement be had by which a vote could be had on his amendment.

Reed, in some caustic remarks, said he thought the situation a very unfortunate one.

"We seem to be deliberating here," said he, "as to the proper method of getting rid of this bill. It is unfortunate if we are to hope for remedial legislation."

He agreed with his colleague, Dingley, that Sections 9 and 10, relating to State banks, which were vital, should be first considered. However, he said, Republicans washed their hands of responsibility and he did not know whether they ought to interfere or not.

After some further wrangling, during which Bland and others loudly protested that the adoption of the rule would cut them off, Outhwaite regretted all suggestions for amending the rule and demanded the previous question.

The Republicans voted solidly with the Democratic opponents of the measure against ordering the previous question, and it was defeated on a rising vote of 92 to 101.

Among the Democrats who voted against the ordering of the previous question were Cockrell of Texas, McGann of Illinois, Hooker of Mississippi, Ellis of Kentucky, Money of Mississippi, Bailey of Texas, Bland and Hall of Missouri, Holman of Indiana.

Outhwaite hurriedly demanded the yeas and nays, and the roll was called.

The supporters of the bill made a desperate effort to secure a majority on the roll call, but the previous question was again rejected by 124 to 129.

McCreary, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, moved to go into a Committee of the Whole, for the consideration of the Diplomatic Appropriation bill and it was carried without a division.

The Currency bill has been abandoned, at least temporarily, to give its supporters an opportunity to reform their lines.

It had all happened so quickly it was some time before the members were able to realize that the struggle was over.

At 2:45 Secretary Carlisle arrived at Capitol and held consultation with Speaker Crist in latter's room on the defeat of the Currency Bill.

The Appropriation Has Only Been Cut Slightly.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The Indian Appropriation bill has been nearly completed by the House Committee on Indian Affairs and may be reported this week.

Slight reductions have been made in nearly all the items, so the total will be about $200,000 less than the appropriations of last year.

WILLING TO COMPROMISE.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs today again postponed the final consideration of the resolution providing for a ballistic test of the Carnegie armor plates, and also the bill for the reorganization of the personnel of the navy.

The postponement of the armor plate resolution was due to a statement that Carnegie had made an application to the Secretary of the Navy for a settlement.

It was stated that Carnegie's proposition is to remove the armor plates alleged to be defective and subject them to the required test and replace them at his own expense.

JUDGE RICKS' CASE.

The Charges Against Him to Be Investigated Monday.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The consideration of the charges against Judge Ricks of Cleveland was postponed today by the House Judiciary Committee until Monday next, as the attendance today was one short of a quorum. The charges preferred by the Cleveland Labor Union will be first taken up.

The charges of Samuel J. Ritchie against the Canadian Copper Company will not be considered by the committee until the first case has been disposed of.

Judging by the expressions of several committeemen there is a doubt as to whether Ritchie's case will be deemed worthy of serious investigation.

IN THE SENATE.

The Deficiency Bill to Come Up Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, January 9. — Harris, just selected for another term of six years in the Senate, has returned to Washington, and was warmly congratulated by his colleagues, when he appeared in the Chamber today.

Ex-Senator Edmunds also visited the scene of his old duties.

Cockrell, from the Appropriation Committee, reported the Urgency Deficiency bill and it was placed on the calendar. Cockrell gave notice that he would call it up tomorrow.

Replying to Quay, Cockrell said that there had been no amendments by the committee to any portion of the bill relating to the income tax.

THE BEEF KINGS.

They Come in for Some Abuse in London.

LONDON, January 9.—The meeting last evening of the Meat and Cattle section of the London Chamber of Commerce has served to bring out a storm of jealous abuse of American meat and American business methods.

The Daily Telegraph states that the American beef kings, after half ruining British husbandry, now coolly propose to take an additional million from the British traders and consumers. This statement is repeated on all sides.

Last night's meeting was to protest against the attempt of American shippers to abolish the customary trade allowance of a pound in every quarter of meat, to compensate for the loss by shrinkage, etc.

AFTER THE HOBOS.

A Safety Committee Organized at Santa Ana.

SANTA ANA, Cal., January 9.—A meeting was held here last night by a large number of citizens to devise some means of protecting this locality from depredations that are being committed by the hobo and criminal element.

The meeting resulted in the appointment of a committee called the Committee of Safety, to propose plans of organization.

The criminal element is flocking here to such an extent that the citizens feel compelled to do something to protect their property and their families. Many of the most prominent residents of the city are acting with the Committee of Safety.

TO SUSPEND HIM.

The Governor of Bitlis May Have to Retire.

LONDON, January 9.—A correspondent of the Standard at Constantinople telegraphs that he has heard that the Sultan requested Great Britain to disavow the speech recently made by Gladstone to the Anglo-Armania deputation that visited him at Hawarden.

The English, French and Russian Governments have asked the Porte to suspend the Governor of Bitlis, who is held mainly responsible for the Sassoun massacre, until the commission of inquiry shall have concluded its labors.

Elliott Goes to Prison.

CHICAGO, January 9.—Director M. E. Elliott of the American Railway Union surrendered today, and was taken to jail in McHenry county to serve a sentence in the strike contempt case.

Death of an Author.

His Slayer, the Father of Mrs. Boogar.

Philip Boogar, the aged capitalist, was shot last evening, shortly after 7 o'clock, by his wife's father, Michael Collins. After lingering and suffering in great pain, the injured man died at 12:25 o'clock today in his room at the Galindo. The shooting occurred on Eighth street, in front of the hotel.

So far as known, nobody saw the shooting. The first intimation that anything was wrong was conveyed to people in the neighborhood by the reports of two pistol shots, fired in rapid succession, nearly opposite the entrance to the Galindo. The reports and the flashes, in an instant, drew a hundred people to the scene. The crowd swelled as the time advanced, but all they could see having any connection with the assault was Collins, walking eastwardly on Eighth street, and old man Boogar, pressing his hand to his left side, groaning, and attempting to make his way up the long flight of stairs leading to the hotel.

Boogar was aided in this effort by a young man named Price, whom the reports of the pistol attracted from a saloon to the street. As Price appeared on the walk Collins was standing a few feet away with a smoking revolver in his hand. Boogar was tottering toward the entrance. Price put several questions to him concerning the assault and received from the old man the information that he had been shot by Collins.

The injured man was aided to ascend to his apartment, room 41, in the Galindo, where he was put to bed. Drs. J. A. Miller and Theodore Olmstead were summoned. These gentlemen made an examination and found that one bullet had penetrated the left side of the body between the ninth and tenth ribs, had perforated some of the intestines and that internal hemorrhage had resulted. The second bullet had missed its mark. It was apparent to them after the examination that the injured man could not survive.

The news of the shooting traveled with great rapidity, and in a short time District Attorney Snook and his deputy, L. S. Church, appeared for the purpose of taking an ante-mortem statement, if such should prove necessary. They discovered, however, that Boogar did not believe he was going to die, so that the taking of the statement had to be abandoned. The attorneys, therefore, left the chamber.

Dr. Miller, however, informed them that he would render an ultimatum, as to the effect of the wound, at midnight, and that he would tell the patient what would be the result of his injuries.

In the meantime Police Officers Banks and Stokes had arrived on the scene without. They ascertained from Manuel Peterson, who had seen the flashes from a distance, that the assailant had approached Boogar from Franklin street and after the affray had returned in that direction; also that the assailant is the father of Mrs. Boogar, at whose residence at the corner of Eighth and Franklin streets, he has been residing for some time. Banks went to the residence, found Collins in the front room looking out upon the scene of the shooting. Collins still had a pistol in his hand. He was placed under arrest and taken to the City Jail, where he assumed an attitude of stolid indifference and refused to speak on the subject.

The wounded man suffered excruciating pains. He gradually lost strength, and, when the midnight hour approached, the doctors announced that he was sinking rapidly. Deputy District Attorney Church and Frank P. Thwaites were summoned. Boogar told Mr. Church that he did not expect to survive his injuries and made the following dying statement:

"I, Philip Boogar, fully believing that I am about to die as a result of wounds inflicted this day by one Collins, do hereby make the following statement. This statement is made in view of immediate death and without any hope of recovery on my part. At the time of making this statement I have abandoned all hope of recovery and I make the same without any hope of recovery whatever, and under the full belief that I am about to die and under full sense of impending dissolution:

"It looks as if I am going to die—I don't have any hope of living; I think I am going to die; my wife's father shot me; Michael Collins shot me; when he shot me he was within four steps away from me; did not have any pistol with me at the time; I did not know what he was going to do when he came up to me, the first thing he did was to pull the pistol on me; he was standing right in front of me at the time and he fired two shots; one of them struck me right in the body; he did not say anything at the time, nor did he say anything during the shooting; I turned immediately and walked upstairs; the first I knew that he was there was when he fired the shot; he did not give any warning at all; he did not say anything at all; he was very close to me when he shot; he was within three feet of me; he held the pistol right up to me and I pushed him away; I pushed him before he fired the second shot; he had the pistol up against me when I pushed him away; when he fired the first shot he put the pistol right up to my belly; I have no idea that I am going to live, and believing that I am going to die and I make the foregoing statement without any hope of recovery, whatever, and under a full sense of immediate death.

"Dated January 9, 1895.

Just as the statement was signed Collins was brought to Boogar's room and identified by Boogar as the man by whom he had been shot.

After the making of the statement he was left to the care of the physicians and nurse. This morning at 5 o'clock, on instructions from P. F. Benson, Boogar's attorney, Dr. Paterson of this city took hold of the case.

There were five physicians in attendance on the injured man during the day. Efforts were directed toward relieving the sufferings of the aged victim, but no attempt was made to locate the bullet. The wound was pronounced fatal, as the bullet had penetrated the vitals and cut the intestines. An operation was performed this morning but without avail. The old man continued to sink slowly until he finally died at 12:25 o'clock today.

Boogar left a will, which is now in a safe deposit vault in this city. While its contents are not definitely known, it is stated that he failed to recognize his wife as a beneficiary. The will was made during the past year. It is believed that he left the bulk of his property to Mrs. Whittemore of Napa, an adopted daughter. She is a niece by a former marriage of the deceased capitalist, but was reared by him from her youth.

Coroner Baldwin will hold an inquest tomorrow. The post mortem examination will be conducted at the Morgue this afternoon. The body was removed there as soon as the Coroner was notified of the death.

The latter, when questioned on the subject, said that her father had been acting strangely of late, that he had been worked up by affidavits recently made by Boogar, in which the latter assailed her character. She also stated that her father felt that Boogar would assault him and that she had advised him to be on his guard to protect himself.

Boogar is 70 years of age, and his assailant, though a more active and hardy man, has the same number of years to his credit.

The troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Boogar are manifold. She has accused her husband of trying to poison her. He has made a similar charge against her. She has also tried to make it appear that he is insane, but has been unsuccessful in the attempt. At present she is proceeding for a divorce against him and the manner in which he has sought to disprove the allegations in the complaint, as also show up certain alleged irregularities in her career, has occasioned a great deal of intense feeling both on the part of Mrs. Boogar and her father and son against Mr. Boogar.

A MURDERER ESCAPES.

Although Supposed to Be Insane He Was a Clever Worker.

STOCKTON, Cal., January 9.—Antone Vital, the condemned murderer who was a short time ago transferred from San Quentin State Prison, while under sentence of death, to the State Insane Asylum in this city, escaped from the latter institution some time last night and is still at large.

Handicapped as he was by shackles on his hands, he managed to remove the casing from the window, taking out the sash and window weights and used them to break enough of the iron bars to admit of his body passing through.

He evidently covered the weights with the bed clothing in his room so as to deaden the sound. He then took the cord that travels over the pulleys, making a rope of his bed clothes.

A BANK ROBBED.

The Vault Blown Open With Dynamite.

TOLEDO, Ohio, January 9.—The safe in the Merchants' National Bank at Defiance, Ohio, was blown open with dynamite Monday night, and about $25,000 stolen.

The officials were unable to open the vault Tuesday morning but as there was no signs of anyone having been in the bank the night before they thought nothing of it.

An expert was sent for and when he opened the outer door, today, it was discovered that the interior of the safe had been blown up. The loss will not affect the standing of the bank.

WANT A LEASE.

Great Britain Is After a Lone Island.

One of the Hawaiian Group Is Desired.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The President today sent Congress another batch of Hawaiian correspondence supplementary to the Walker report.

This chapter is full of interest, inasmuch as it reveals a notable difference of opinion between Admiral Walker and United States Minister Willis regarding the necessity of keeping the United States warships at Honolulu as long as the British Government keeps a man-of-war there.

In the second place it discloses the effort being made by the British Government, with the consent of the Hawaiian authorities, to secure a lease of an island of the Hawaiian group, to be used as a cable station.

"Senate and House of Representatives: I submit herewith certain dispatches from our Minister at Hawaii, and documents which accompanied the same.

"They disclose the fact that the Hawaiian Government desires to lease to Great Britain one uninhabited island belonging to Hawaii as a station for a submarine telegraph cable to be laid from Canada to Australia, with connection between the island leased and Honolulu.

Both the Government of Hawaii and representatives of Great Britain in this negotiation concede their proposed lease cannot be effected without consent of the United States, for the reason in our reciprocity treaty with the King of Hawaii, he agreed as long as the said treaty remained in force, he would not lease or otherwise dispose of or create any lien upon any port, harbor or other territory in his dominion or grant any special privilege or rights of use therein to any other State or Government.

"At the request of the Hawaiian Government this subject is laid before Congress for its determination upon the question of so modifying the treaty agreement above recited as to permit the proposed lease.

"It will be seen that the correspondence, which is submitted, between Hawaii and the British, that the negotiators negatives the existence on the part of Hawaii of any suspicion of British friendliness or fear of British aggression.

"Attention of Congress is directed to the following statement contained in a communication addressed to the Hawaiian Governments by representatives of Great Britain:

"We propose to inform the British Government of your inquiry whether they will accept the sovereignty of Neckar Island or some other uninhabited island on condition that no subsidy is required from you. As we explained, we have not felt at liberty to entertain that question ourselves, as we were definitely instructed not to ask for sovereignty of any island, but only for a lease, simply for the purpose of a cable.

"Some of the dispatches from our minister, which are submitted, not only refer to a project for leasing the uninhabited island belonging to Hawaii, but contain interesting information concerning recent occurrences in that country and its political and social condition.

"This information is valuable because it is based upon observation and knowledge necessarily within the scope of the diplomatic duties which are entrusted solely to the charge of this intelligent diplomatic officer representing the United States Government at Hawaii.

I hope Congress will see fit to grant the request of the Hawaiian Government and our consent to the proposed lease to be accorded.

"It seems we might not by refusal of request stand in the way of advantages to be gained by isolated Hawaii through telegraphic communication with the rest of the world, and especially in view of the fact that our own communication with that country would thereby be so improved without apparent detriment to any legitimate American interests."

THE WEBER MURDER.

A Sensational Story Told About Some Drunks.

SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The Bee has a startling story in connection with the Weber murder. It says when Weber and wife were murdered on December 29th the murderers left bloody clothing in a back yard, donning suits from Weber's wardrobe and taking the train for San Francisco early the next morning.

New Year's eve ten drunks were placed in one cell and discharged the next day. Later a trusty found, under the seat in the toilet, a lady's gold watch, which Captain Lees identified as the property of the murdered woman.

Weber's son confirmed the identification.

A Prosecution Suspended.

BERLIN, January 9.—At today's session of the Reichstag a motion was adopted suspending the prosecution of Herr Stadthagen, Socialist member. The debate on the anti-Revolution bill was then taken up.

The National Liberals have decided to interpellate the Government on the charge it failed to afford adequate protection to the Germans abroad.

Cleveland's Nominations

WASHINGTON, January 9.—President Cleveland today sent to the Senate the following nominations: War—Lieutenant Colonel George H. Burton, inspector general, to be colonel and inspector general; Major Peter D. Vroom, inspector general, to be lieutenant and inspector general.

Funeral of Mrs. Stevens.

The funeral of Mrs. Tillie L. Stevens, nee Cordes, of Elk Grove, took place yesterday afternoon at Elk Grove. Mrs. Stevens was the only sister of Mrs. Charles P. Visher, and was for a number of years railroad agent at East Oakland. The funeral was largely attended and the floral pieces which were received from the various parts of the State, were many and beautiful. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Rodgers of the First Presbyterian Church.

HEAVY DAMAGES

Big Claim Filed Against the Guatemalans.

Objections Raised to Block the Matter.

The United States May Appear as an Arbitrator.

There promises to be a preliminary hitch, which will take many months to to settle.

It is evidently the policy of the Guatemalan Government to gain time by raising multitudinous questions to block the progress of the case, so the prospective settlement is a long way off.

Both sides evince a stubborn disposition to carry their points.

Senor De Leon is constantly engaged in correspondence with Senator Zaza Y. Arriga, Guatemalan representative at Washington, presumably looking to the United States stepping in to assume the role of arbitrator.

The latest known instructions from his Government are that the Guatemalan Minister shall pursue uniformly a pacific policy, and the same instructions are borne by Don Jacinto Castellanos, the new Minister of Salvador to Mexico.

GOING ABROAD.

Fond Farewell to Father McSweeney Tonight.

Rev. Thomas McSweeney, the energetic and popular pastor of the Church of St. Francis de Sales, at the corner of Grove and Hobart streets, will leave tomorrow on a trip abroad, and will be absent perhaps a year.

Father McSweeney's trip is not undertaken for the purpose of deriving pleasure in revisiting old scenes, but to rebuild a physique and recall sight, both of which have been, in a measure, impaired by the extraordinary devotion to duty, which has characterized the gentleman since he assumed the pastorate of St. Francis. He has earned the relaxation and rest which his friends have impelled him to take, and his return, with health restored, will be awaited with interest by many admirers.

For the purpose of bidding Father McSweeney good-by, there will be a reception in St. Francis' Hall, immediately north of the church, tonight at 7:30 o'clock, to which parishioners and citizens will be welcome. The reception proper will be preceded by a short programme of literary and musical features.

LOST HIS JOB.

Gardener Thomas White Charged With Incompetency.

Thomas White, gardener at Jefferson Park, was dismissed last night by the Board of Public Works upon the recommendation of Superintendent of Streets Harrison. White was accused of general incompetency, and disobedience of orders. He was suspended last Saturday, but refused to deliver the keys of the toolhouse of the park. Superintendent Harrison secured admittance and removed the appliances. White was requested to resign, but refused, and charges were subsequently preferred against him.

The board also ordered the carrying out of various resolutions of the Council, ordering street work. The Superintendent of Streets was ordered to resume the sweeping of streets by hand, on Friday night.

TO CONSOLIDATE.

The Council Will Consider a Preliminary Step.

Under the head of unfinished business the Council will tomorrow evening consider a resolution of Councilman Snell creating a commission to commence preliminary work touching the consolidation of Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley and all the territory lying west of the western boundary of San Leandro.

The resolution names as commissioners M. J. Keller, John R. Glascock and W. G. Palmanteer. The purpose is to canvass the field and to ascertain the general feeling with reference to the proposition of consolidation.

A JURY TRIAL.

Case of E[illegible]man Jr. Set for February Twenty-first.

E. A. Sherman Jr., president of the Alameda County Christian Endeavor Union, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with criminal libel, issued at the instance of Chief of Police Schaffer. Sherman was released on bonds in the sum of $2000. He appeared in the Police Court this morning and was arraigned. Sherman pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. Judge Wood set the case for trial on February 21st. Attorney Ben Morgan will appear for Sherman.

SOUTH SIDE LEAGUE.

Another Meeting Will Be Held Friday Night.

Next Friday night another meeting of the South Side Protective League will be held in Buswell Block, at the corner of Fourth street and Broadway, at which a set of by-laws for the government of the league will be adopted.

The committee intrusted with that work is said to be ready to report.

ON HIS TRACK.

He Has Failed to Meet His Successor.

His Bondsmen Are Now Out Looking for Him.

PIERRE, S. D., January 9.—The alleged failure of W. H. Taylor, the outgoing State Treasurer, to turn over the office to his successor yesterday, has started rumors flying of an investigation.

Taylor seemingly cannot be located, but his bank at Redfield closed its doors last evening, and he is alleged to be short a large amount of State funds.

Just how much cannot be now learned.

It is reported that about $250 000 should be on hand, but Public Examiner Meirs has not been able to secure a statement where the funds were deposited since last April.

A Lodging House Deal Aired in Court.

The preliminary examination of C. A. Chittenden, W. J. Parker, W. S. McCormick and L. B. Clarke, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses in connection with a lodging-house sale to Mrs. Matilda R. Tufts, was resumed in the Police Court this morning before Judge Wood. The charges grow out of the sale of the Brunswick House at Sixth and Howard streets, San Francisco, to Mrs. Tufts in exchange for a Napa county ranch, valued at $4000. Mrs. Tufts claimed that the defendants had conspired to defraud her and caused their arrest.

Mrs. V. A. Brown, a landlady of the house, was on the witness stand this morning, but there was nothing new adduced from her testimony.

Regained Her Sight.

After seven months of total blindness, Miss Ella Woolley of Lorin has miraculously regained her sight. Miss Woolley resides with her mother. Seven months ago, after graduating from the Fabiola Hospital as nurse, she went to Virginia City, Nev., for her health. One night she went to bed and next morning awoke to blindness. Her eyes had completely lost the sense of sight. She was brought home to Lorin and placed under the care of physicians, but they gave the case up as hopeless, and Miss Woolley became resigned to her lot. Monday evening she retired as usual. Yesterday morning she awoke at 7 o'clock, and to her amazement was able to see. Vision had come in the night.

FIVE BULLETS.

The Defendant, Bennett, Faces the Jury.

Again, the familiar form and features of C. R. Bennett, late secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Vice, are attracting attention in the Superior Court.

This time, however, he acts as defendant, being charged with assault to kill George W. Gray.

His appearance proved a great drawing card, and the attendance of spectators, as a consequence, was larger than has been seen in the court for many a day.

The jury in the case comprises the following: G. M. Naismith, Dennis O'Neill, O. Knox, Thomas Walker, John Gunnip, Andrew H. Schou, J. A. Andrews, H. P. Winegar, D. W. Standeford, S. L. Bixby, E. G. Rhodes and C. W. Becker.

The opening address was made by Deputy District Attorney Lin S. Church, who has as associate counsel Colonel Kowalsky of San Francisco.

The first witness on the stand was C. F. Benjamin, who was acting as gateman on the car of the broad-gauge train on which the assault took place in May of last year. He testified to the facts of the shooting by Bennett at Gray, when the latter had retired to the rear of the car, after he had driven Bennett out of the car by firing four bullets at him.

On cross-examination the witness described the relative positions of Gray and Bennett in the car, how the latter had been driven to the platform and how he had immediately returned to the car and then fired once at Gray. The defense got him to show the height of the gates on the platform, with a view of trying to establish the fact that it would be impossible, because of that height, for a person pursued, to jump over them while the train was in motion.

The theory of Bennett's attorney seems to be that he fled for safety, and that when he found he could not jump off the train without endangering his life he returned to the car and, supposing that Gray was premeditating another assault, fired at him in self-defense.

Parties having incomplete sets of "Glimpses of America" will please call at TRIBUNE office or send in order for missing numbers at once. A limited number of parts up to 31 are now ready for delivery, and missing parts may be secured by leaving application at the office. Orders by mail must be accompanied by postage at the rate of 1 cent for each number.

CITY FINANCES;

Auditor Snow Making a Semi-Annual Estimate.

Statement of the Condition of Funds.

To Be Submitted to the City Council at Once.

The condition of the city's finances has been receiving considerable attention of late from interested officials. Auditor Snow recently held a conference with the members of the Finance Committee of the Council, the result of which was that the Auditor decided to prepare a statement of the condition of the city's funds which should show what amounts are available for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30th.

This compilation is now being prepared by the Auditor and will be ready for presentation to the Council at its next regular meeting. The statement will be very comprehensive, covering an estimate of the amount required by absolute necessity for the maintenance of the city departments and showing the exact condition of each fund. The statement is intended to be a guide for the Council in outlining the work to be done during the remainder of the year.

The Auditor has examined the books of each department and has ascertained the amount of bills now outstanding against the funds. He has also checked up all the resolutions and ordinances of the Council for several months past which authorize the expenditure of money. When completed, the Auditor's statement will be a sufficient guide to the Council as to the city's finances, which will enable it to make further appropriations without overstepping the limit for the year.

In estimating the probable expenditures for the remainder of the year the Auditor has confined himself solely to the absolute requirements of the department. In his tabulations of the income from taxes, yet to be collected, he has ignored the increased figures of the assessment roll as made by the City Board of Equalization. "I understand," said Mr. Snow, "that the Council has decided not to use the increased figures, hence, I shall ignore them."

While the estimate is not quite complete, the Auditor stated this morning that he was satisfied that there would be enough in each fund to cover the necessary expenditures, the "bread and butter" items, and his statement would show where the Council could make judicious expenditures of the remaining funds.

"I find," said the Auditor, in discussing the semi-annual estimate, "that I shall have to make a new estimate of income, as compared with that of last year. The receipts from liquor and peddlers' licenses and the Police Court are falling somewhat short. Another point in connection with this estimate is the danger that the Council may forget just where it stands. This will give it data. I find the City Engineer has been authorized to do work which will cost $2000 for surveying alone.

"By estimating nothing but the absolute requirements we shall probably have money left in every fund. The question left with the Council is, 'how shall the money remaining be expended and the legal limit not over-reached.'"

A NOVEL PURSE.

Charles A. Webster of Spokane, Wash., who resided in Oakland twenty-six years ago and spends a portion of his time in this State, is the inventor of an ingeniously devised coin-holder, on which he is taking out a patent, and of which there will be numerous designs—some to carry in the pocket; others, to be connected with the belt, for children and ladies. It consists of a case, some of them flexible or hinged, between each coin, and long enough to hold several coins, while the slot or opening through the coin-holder admits of the easy passage of the different kinds of coins to pass through, from an opening at upper end and down by gravitation, in some of them, to the lower section, which has an ingeniously contrived circular opening in front and rear which opens out to the lower end and shows about two-thirds of the center of the coin in that section and which can be readily and quickly grasped by the thumb and forefinger and removed at the will of the operator, there being springs (or side pressure) at top; also at lower end to keep coins in place.

SAN FRANCISCO AND VICINITY.

W. H. HAMMON, Forecast Official.

WEDNESDAY.....JANUARY 9, 1895

CHINA has been playing "fast and loose" with Japan, professing to sue for peace, and using that profession as a blind to conceal her efforts to strengthen her defenses.

POLITICAL corruption, which, according to recent revelations, has attained such astounding proportions in San Francisco, has at last precipitated a crisis in that city's affairs, and a demand is now being made upon the Mayor, by some of the leading citizens, to call a public mass meeting to devise measures of reform.

THE Nantasket and Warren and Bristol branches of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, all of which are short lines, are to be operated hereafter by electricity. These lines do local service like the Seventh street line in this city, accommodating the traffic of a number of small towns in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

THE change in the ownership of the San Francisco Call has resulted in some editorial changes also. John McNaught, who has for four years presided over the editorial page of the San Jose Mercury, has been transferred to the chair of the chief editorial writer of the Call, and Fred L. Foster succeeds him on the Mercury. The latter paper is giving new evidences of prosperity, having added another column to the width of its pages, now carrying eight columns to the page.

"GENERAL" KELLEY, the organizer of tramps, ex-convicts and vagrants into an "Industrial Army," contemplates changing his headquarters to San Francisco to await the opening of spring, when he will head again for Washington. Kelley had better get back again to honest work as soon as he can, even if it involves rock-breaking for a living. To prolong his stay in this community as the leader of vagrants and the preacher of lawless doctrines is fraught with peril to his person, for human patience has a limit, and long-suffering communities are sometimes stirred into action, as is evidenced in the recent conduct of Sacramento.

ONE of the pathetic side scenes to the change that is taking place in the Administration of the State is a Lieutenant Governor-elect so prostrated by a dangerous sickness that the oath of office will have to be administered to him in the room in which he has been lying for some time past in a critical condition, in the presence of a joint committee of the Legislature, specially selected for the purpose. This joint committee will represent the Legislature and will be required to visit Mr. Millard at his Los Angeles home to witness the taking of the oath, in compliance with the law, which provides that the oath shall be taken "in joint session of the Legislature."

THE new Mayor of San Francisco, Adolph Sutro, deals with the question of liquor license in his inaugural address in a clear and intelligent way. The following paragraph is quoted from the inaugural: "Intemperance produces more crime and misery than all other causes combined, and nine-tenths of the cases of intoxication arise from the sale of spirits, for which a high license should be exacted. Wine and beer might be sold at lower license, as they are comparatively innocuous. This has been demonstrated in France, Germany and other countries, where but little intoxication is to be found. Total abstinence cannot be enforced in the larger cities, as experience has abundantly shown."

THE weather prophet presiding over the doings and destinies of the Signal Service station at San Francisco has been wonderfully wide of his mark frequently through the winter in his weather predictions. But he was never more astray than yesterday morning and today. Yesterday his predictions were for fair weather and the rain dropped in derision in sheets. This morning we were promised up to midnight, "occasional rains; somewhat cooler; brisk to high southerly winds." The weather clerk is again laughing at this false weather prophet, for the day opened lovely, the sun warm, the air calm, and no showers in sight. "Forecast Official" W. H. Hammond, is a rank failure as a weather prophet and is a miserable hand at guessing.

The Demand for Cheaper Food.

Cheaper food is the cry nowadays all along the line. It is not restricted to the poor only. It is heard through the domiciles of the middle classes and well up among those who are well to do. The process of industrial and financial re-adjustment has entered largely into domestic economies. How far it extends into the social organism may be better understood when we cite the utterance of a citizen of ample means who has been living in ease and comfort on the proceeds of the snug fortune which he made in the halcyon days of the State, and which is securely invested: "Thirty cents per pound for fish! That is more than three times the price of beef! There is no sense in it! Fish ought to retail at 5 cents per pound."

That citizen expressed two things in his running comments on the price of fish: First — That those who are far above want, as well as those whose means are limited, are taking an active interest in the cost of the necessaries of life. Second—That fish, which is in every other seaboard State the poor man's meat, is inordinately dear here, and owing to its outrageously high price takes rank among the luxuries of the table.

The State and the Federal Governments have been for many years past spending large sums of money in the development of the fisheries of the Pacific coast, so as to make fish food abundant and cheap. The rivers and lakes and bays of the State have been stocked with the best food fishes of Eastern waters. The native food fishes have been protected and propagated for the same purpose. And as a result every river that flows to the sea, every bay that opens on the ocean and every roadstead and shoal on the coast is teeming with the best and largest food fishes of the two great oceans that lave the continent and of the rivers that drain into them. But salmon sells today at the same price per pound at which it was retailed in the flush days of twenty years ago, and the delicious food fishes of Eastern waters that were transplanted here by the State for the poor man's benefit never get beyond the rich man's table and are furnishing a harvest only for the fisherman and the fishmonger.

There is reason in the public demand for cheaper fish as there is in the cry for cheaper bread. The man who casts his nets in the waters gathers the harvest without expense, beyond what is represented in his nets and boat. He pays no rent; nor has he farmed for the harvest. Fish food ought, therefore, to be the cheapest article offered in the markets for domestic consumption, instead of the dearest. There is something radically wrong about the whole business when prime beef is being retailed for one-third the retail price of fish food.

Wage-earners are required to hedge in all domestic expenditures, for they are now compelled to labor for much less than two years ago. The loss which this reduction in the power to earn represents must be divided. The days when fortunes could be made in a few years in trade have gone by. Profits on the necessaries of life must conform to the earning power of the laborer. Beef is cheaper here today, in obedience to that law, than it is in Great Britain; clothing has dropped 50 per cent in three years; house rents are lower; fuel is cheaper; but bread here costs twice as much as it costs in England and in the Eastern States, and fish from five to ten times as much. There is something out of joint somewhere. As to fish food, the State seems to have a duty to perform in connection with it, for inasmuch as the State has been fostering the fisheries, it may be within the line of its duty to determine why its efforts to furnish cheap fish food for the poor in its waters are not fittingly rewarded and to apply an effective remedy. As to bread, also, the State can follow the example of other States and fix the weight of a loaf, which will, in effect, determine the price likewise.

THE pistol is a poor agent for the settlement of personal grievances and legal complications. It may accomplish the removal of some legal obstructions, but it surely erects barriers far more formidable in their stead. The presence of the deadly weapon always makes matters worse, without regard to how bad they may have been before. Only in extreme cases does society justify its use; the grounds for the justification must, however, be unmistakable and the remedy which the law applies either wholly inadequate or immeasurably too slow and uncertain in its operation. But society rightly revolts against the use of the pistol in cold blood for the settlement of civil complications that are adjustable by the ordinary processes of law, no matter who is behind the trigger or who stands before the muzzle. Every lover of law and order will deplore and deprecate its use under such circumstances.

IN his inaugural address Mayor Sutro of San Francisco made the following suggestion in speaking of a new charter which has a local application here in view of an approaching election: "Among the most important provisions should be one for a Board of Public Works, consisting of competent engineers and architects, independent of politics."

RANDOM NOTES.

Berlin claims to be the healthiest large city in the world, but it is not. London has a lower death rate.

Only six persons out of each 1000 live to be 75 years old, and only one reaches the century mark.

At Butte, Mont., a young lady applied for permission to kill her traitor lover. The court said that, while it might be desirable to wipe out such a scoundrel, it had no power to order it to be done except by ordinary legal means.

The engineers appointed by the War Department to determine the greatest practicable length of a span for a suspension bridge report that it is not only possible but practicable to build a six-track suspension bridge, with a span of 3200 feet, at a cost of $23,000,000.

The statistics gathered by the Department of Agriculture at Washington show that during the nine months of 1894, ending September 30th, the farmers and stock raisers of the United States exported to Great Britain more than 300,000 head of beef cattle, of a value of over $26,000,000.

Thackeray's dinner service is offered for sale in London; but it wasn't the service that made the dinners gay.

There are at present eighteen Swedish ladies studying medicine at the Karolinska Institute in Stockholm. Eight of these have passed their examination as candidates of medicine, and one of the latter, Froken Steckstein, has recently been appointed amanuensis at the institute at the pathological and anatomical demonstrations.

The next Congress may turn out to be a little off color, because there will be no colored member in it.

The theory that there is a relation between earthquakes and magnetic disturbances is declared to be absurdly unfounded by Professor Milne, the earthquake expert.

The real estate of Dr. Herz, of Panama Canal notoriety, has been sold and realized 1,348,000 francs.

Opposition to the use of the anti-toxine treatment for diphtheria has already taken an organized form in England. A deputation headed by Lord Coleridge has protested to the authorities against its use in the hospitals on the ground that "public money ought not to be devoted to experiments in psychology."

Better Times.

Country's lookin' all alive,
Better times for Ninety-five!
Don't care what the croakers say—
Country's happy on the way!
Sun's still shinin' round about—
When it's night the stars come out;
An' when they ain't shinin' right,
'Long comes the electric light!
Keep on goin'—toil an' strive;
Better times in Ninety-five!

Country's lookin' all serene;
Somewhere, underneath the snow,
There's a daisy that'll grow!
If it's cold, it does us good;
Exercise in choppin' wood!
An' if wood comes purty high,
Summer'll be here by an' by!
Keep on goin'—look alive,
Better times in Ninety-five!

BITS OF GOSSIP.

Queen Margaret of Italy has been presented with a golden bicycle. Now every morning when she and King Umberto go for their spin a big bulldog trots along to protect the golden wheel.

W. H. Sheppard, at the age of 10, was a poor little colored boy in the streets of Waynesboro, Va. Now, at the age of 30, he is a distinguished missionary of the Southern Presbyterian Church, and the only American negro who has ever been made a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

It is not generally known that Inspector Byrnes shares with other well known men real old-fashioned superstitions. The house which he now lives in was, before the Plaza Hotel was finished, numbered "13," and the Inspector would not consent to live in it, although the property was valuable and he was anxious to secure it. At last, by common consent of the neighbors, a change was effected and the number changed. No. 13 became No. 17, and the Byrnes family moved in.

Winkelmann's salary as operatic tenor in Vienna is $10,000 a year for about sixty appearances. Reichmann gets $8800 for six months; Frau Renard, $7200. Frau Schlager, who fifteen years ago received $18 a month as chorus girl, now has $8000 a year at the Imperial Opera.

Editor McDowell of the Mississippi Populist has disappeared, and the paper is suspended. He left the following note to his employes: "I leave two lamps, a bucket and dipper, a coal scuttle, a shovel, a broom, a washpan, a coal oil can, and about 700 pounds of coal. Divide the same between you."

C. M. Gill, '89; Yale's football captain and oarsman, has applied to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church for employment as a missionary to either China or Africa. He was recently staying in a little Maine town in which there was no church, so he shouldered an ax, cut enough timber, built his church, and preached in it.

During his first term as President Mr. Cleveland was quite obliging to autograph hunters, but during the past year he has paid no attention to letters asking for his signature.

Miss Emily Davies, who laid the foundation of Girton College, in 1869, is still living. Mme. Bodichon, who gave the first endowment to Girton ($5000), is dead.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

It is a common belief among women that the moth will not attack any green material, and many of them make it a point to buy stuffs of green dye whenever the color is not incompatible with the purpose for which the material is intended. Green dyes often contain arsenic, and that may account for the antipathy of the moth to the color.

A young woman, who was a passenger on a Sixth avenue car the other day, says the New York Sun, wore thirteen rings on her ungloved left hand. Each finger was laden two or three deep, and on the thumb was a gold band set with colored stones. The rings included a solitaire marquise, a three-stone diamond ring and several diamonds alternating with other precious stones, and an unusually large wedding ring. No one wondered at the young woman's hand being ungloved after the first glance, and she was the cynosure of all feminine eyes as long as she remained in the car.

For the first time a woman has received the degree of Doctor of Literature from London University in the person of Miss Dawes, a graduate of Girton.

The flower bonnet of the hour is a novelty. It usually consists of a single nodding flower, which appears to be growing from the high coil of hair. The bonnet's sole foundation is a soft coil of velvet. The flower is caught at the back. One shows a twist of pink velvet, with an American Beauty rose standing with graceful erectness at the back. Another has a coil of violet velvet and a careless cluster of heliotrope arranged toward the back.

To utilize any good fruit preserves on hand, cherries preferably, a savory little motley cake is made first by beating together four eggs for ten minutes, with a teacup of pulverized sugar, and afterward beat in a cup and a half of flour that has been sifted twice, a half cup of butter just brought to melting, and after mixing thoroughly add a half a pound of the cherries with a teaspoonful of the baking powder. When the cherries are evenly distributed through the batter pour into a cake pan lined with buttered white paper and bake for not longer than an hour and a quarter, trying the while with broom straws.

Lemon Cake—With two-thirds of a cupful of butter cream, two cupfuls of sugar, adding, in this order, the beaten yolks of three eggs, the beaten whites of the same, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, three and a half cupfuls of flour and the juice of one lemon. Two-thirds of a teaspoonful of soda should be sifted into the flour before that is added to the mixture, or it may be beaten in just before the lemon juice is added. Bake in the usual manner. Any plain cake may be flavored with lemon, thus making it in fact, a "lemon cake."

The greatest curiosity in the Queen's stables and harness rooms is a very beautiful set of harness for four horses. It is called "the quill harness," being one mass of the finest embroidery of white quills on black leather. The maker of the set brought an action against the Queen on the question of the price. The case, when fought out, resulted in a favorable verdict for her majesty, but Prince Albert would never allow the harness to be used, and it hangs in glass cupboards in the largest of the many harness rooms.—St. Paul's.

PRIZES ON PATENTS.

We secure patents and to induce people to keep track of their bright ideas we offer a prize of one hundred dollars to be paid on the first of every month to the person who submits to us the most meritorious invention during the preceding month. We will also advertise the invention free of charge in the National Recorder, a weekly newspaper, published in Washington, D. C., which has an extensive circulation throughout the United States and is devoted to the interests of inventors.

NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

The idea of being able to invent something strikes most people as being very difficult; this delusion the Company wishes to dispel. It is the simple things and small inventions that make the greatest amount of money, and the complex ones are seldom profitable. Almost everybody, at some time or another, conceives an idea, which, if patented, would probably be worth to him a fortune. Unfortunately such ideas are usually dismissed without thought. The simple inventions like the car window which could be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, the saucepan, the collar button, the nut lock, the bottle stopper, the snow shovel, are things that almost everyone sees some way of improving upon, and if in these kind of inventions that bring the greatest returns to the author.

The prize we offer will be paid at the end of each month, whether the application has been acted upon by the Patent Office or not. Every competitor must apply for a patent on his invention through us, and whether he secures the prize or not, the inventor will have a valuable patent.

PASSED AWAY.

Pneumonia Claimed Him as a Victim.

The Funeral Will Be Held Next Friday at 10 O'clock.

Howard Shaw of Shawsville is dead. He passed away at 4:30 o'clock this morning at his residence, Thirty-seventh street and San Pablo avenue. He was taken ill just a month ago with typhoid pneumonia, which caused his death.

Mr. Shaw, who was widely known throughout the county, was born on Prince Edwards Island thirty-nine years ago. Fifteen years ago he came to Oakland, and a year later married the daughter of M. J. Evoy.

His wife brought him wealth, which he increased by running a road house at Shawsville, which took its name from him.

Some years ago his father-in-law died, and three weeks ago was followed by Mrs. Evoy.

The estate is worth in the vicinity of $240,000, of which Mrs. Shaw will get about $125,000.

Besides the widow he leaves two children.

The funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Sacred Heart Church, Temescal. The remains will be interred in St. Mary's Cemetery.

THE BECKER TRIAL.

The trial of Charles Becker for the killing of C. A. Edson of Alameda was resumed in the Superior Court this morning before Judge Greene.

The attendance was not so large as on preceding days and interest in the proceedings seem to be on the wane according as the end approaches.

The principal witness this morning was Mrs. Becker the wife of the accused. She testified, among other things, to the fact that her husband had repeatedly called upon Edson, after he (Becker) had left the employ of Edson, in order to collect overdue wages from Edson. Sometimes he would make calls and demands once a week, and frequently he would receive neither money nor satisfaction.

STOP-OVER TICKETS.

The History of a Contest of Interest to Local Passengers.

The Robinson stop-over cases, in which he Supreme Court finally decided the entire legal principle last Saturday against the railroad and in favor of the right of stop-over at Oakland, commenced in 1890. The question whether section 490 of the Civil Code was in existence or was repealed first came up before Judge Greene in this county in a case of criminal libel by the People vs. Halstead, the editor of the Alameda Statesman. The prosecution was for an editorial calling W. H. Robinson a blackmailer for bringing in numerous suits at law because of denial of the stop-over privilege. The case lasted a week and was prosecuted by Hon. Thomas V. Cator. The question of stop-over, after a long argument, was decided by Judge Greene in favor of the right of stop-over, but before the close of the trial the judge decided that the point was not necessary to the determination of the criminal case. Halstead was convicted upon a charge by Judge Greene that Robinson had a right to bring the suits whether Section 490 was repealed or not, if Robinson in good faith believed it was yet the law.

The point next came before Judge Hunt in San Francisco in civil cases for damages by Robinson against the Southern Pacific. After elaborate briefs upon a demurrer, Judge Hunt held the stop-over right existed. Then the test case came to trial before Judge Hunt and a jury and at the close of arguments he decided that the ticket gave stop-over rights, that Oakland was an intermediate station to Alameda; that if the Central Pacific Railway was exempt from the stop-over law, it could not by its lease assign such exemption to the Southern Pacific, a foreign corporation. The railroad appealed to the Supreme Court and the case was heard in department, and later before the full bench. The whole court decided to hear further argument and ordered the case re-argued again on May 9, 1894, at Sacramento. In October, 1894, the Supreme Court decided the case against the railroad upon all the points presented. On November 5th a rehearing was granted upon new points presented by the railroad, viz.: that the ticket being to "Oakland or Alameda," the holder exhausted the ticket by getting off at Oakland. This was argued on November 26, 1894, and on January 5, 1895, a decision was rendered upon all points in favor of plaintiff. This case has been closely contested and has aroused much interest not only in Oakland, but in all parts of the State. The railroad has sent its entire legal force and special counsel to the front at various stages of the litigation. Messrs. Walker, Cross, Gear and McInerney making the principal arguments. For Dr. Robinson, Hon. Thomas V. Cator has appeared at every stage of the cases. The legal questions being now settled, the remaining cases will be easily disposed of.

GREAT CUT IN PRICES.

J. J. O'Brien's Clearance Sale Is Universally Appreciated.

There are clearance sales and clearance sales but the clearance sale of J. J. O'Brien & Co., of San Francisco, is unexampled, even in the history of that great firm.

There is nothing in the great store in the Murphy building, corner of Market and Jones street, San Francisco, that may not be had at prodigiously low prices. There is a demand for these goods all over the State, and hundreds of dollars' worth of them come every day to Oakland. This is especially true of the fall and winter stock of cloaks and dry goods.

Fine Bills at the Oriental and People's.

A Benefit Tomorrow Night for the Native Sons.

The season of the Aladdin Jr. Company came to a close last night, with credit to the people of this city, the company itself and Manager Cook of the Macdonough.

No such engagement was ever played in Oakland previously. So many people never attended a production in three performances in this city before, and no production, in the same time, gave more general satisfaction here to so large a number of people.

Notwithstanding the storm of yesterday afternoon and evening the theater was packed at each performance. Hundreds of spectators were compelled to stand during the performances, being unable to obtain seats. It is now believed that the spectacle could have been presented here for two nights longer to paying houses.

From an amusement standpoint the effect of the successful engagement of the Aladdin Jr. Extravaganza Company will be incalculable. It will attract to this city the attention of the best theatrical managers, with the result that they will be pleased to send us their attractions. It is such attractions only that the people of this city desire, and, such being the case, they will have little use in seeking abroad for their entertainment.

Haverley's Mastodon Minstrels.

J. H. Haverley's Original Mastodon Minstrels are announced to appear at the Macdonough Friday and Saturday, January 11th and 12th inst. In the long list of the members of the company may be mentioned Larry Darley, Burt Shepard, Harry Armstrong, E. M. Kayne, Al Gibson, Constantine and Lyons, and thirty other favorites of the first water—everything that goes to make up an attractive and entertaining programme of modern minstrelsy will be found with the "Mastodons" this season. The sale of seats opened this morning.

On next Monday, Miss Sadie Martinot will be seen in her latest and most successful comedy, The Passport, by B. J. Stephenson and William Fardley, authors of The Nominee. Miss Martinot's appearance is always interesting and a sure sign of calling forth the most refined theater-goers. She will be supported by Max Figman, the well known stage manager and director. The sale of seats for this attraction opens tomorrow at 9 a. m.

The Oriental.

The Oriental Theater, which has been closed for several days, will re-open tomorrow night, when there will be a grand benefit for the fund of the local parlors of Native Sons to enable them to make arrangements for the grand parlor, which is to be held in this city in April. The attraction will be The Operator, in which the Newell Brothers, aided by their fine company, will again appear.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights the same combination will appear in a fine production of The Corsican Brothers, a very entertaining play.

The People's.

At the People's Theater Spray, one of the prettiest and most interesting nautical dramas of the times, holds the boards. It is produced in a most interesting manner. The stage is well set, the characters are well sustained and, as a whole, a performance is given which greatly satisfies the audiences, which are large and enthusiastic. The same piece will be produced all the week.

GETTING SETTLED.

Third Day in Power of the New County Officers.

County Clerk Jordan contemplates the railing off of portions of the office and segregating the clerks and copyists from people who are always moving about within the present inclosure. He thinks that this isolation is necessary because of the danger incurred of losing valuable papers, making mistakes in the transcription of important documents, as also because of the necessity of preserving the secrets of the office, such as regards attachments, divorces, and other actions filed. He has made an appeal to the Supervisors to be aided in making the proposed improvements, and there seems to be no doubt that his appeal will be granted.

Last night Recorder Spear dined all the new and the old clerks of his office under Red Church, at Barnum's restaurant. There was an even dozen present, including Messrs. Church and Melvin of the District Attorney's office.

Mr. Spear's last appointment of an assistant was made today, the incumbent being C. F. Gomperts of Berkeley, as a copyist.

Tax Collector Barber is right in the harness, like the other officials. Yesterday he took in $1000 taxes on the second installment, which becomes delinquent on the last Monday in April.

Assessor Dalton will not appoint his second assistant, as he says, until the storm ceases and he can go out into the country and dig up one—a man.

No Use for the Board of Public Works.

Some Caustic Comments by Henry Dalton.

Another Letter in Which he Discusses the Charter.

Editor Tribune: The Board of Works, instead of removing the police, street and fire departments from politics, has made them a part of the local political machine. Instead of being the executive right arm of the city government, the board is a useless, expensive thing, serving no good purpose in the body politic. Instead of being an aid to the City Council, the board leaves the Council to do the work, while the board draws the salaries. Instead of the board inspecting all parts of the city 'vigilantly,' as required by the charter, it spends about an hour of its time a day in the service of the city. And instead of "recommending from time to time to the Council such work as it shall deem necessary or proper," the board makes no recommendations whatever to the Council, and does its utmost to keep from carrying out the recommendations that the Council makes to it. The board, instead of being an aid to the Council and the city, is a positive drag upon the progress of Oakland, and does its best to retard and set at naught the efforts of the Council to improve the city.

Another promise made for the Board of Public Works by its proposers was that it would lend to economy in the administration of public affairs, and would prove such a watch dog of the Treasury that many thousands of dollars would be saved annually to the taxpayers. This promise, like all the others made for the board, has not been kept.

Instead of "vigilantly inspecting all parts of the city," as required by the charter, the board hires other people to do the inspecting and pays them out of the City Treasury. For instance, while the new schoolhouses were in course of construction, it was, according to the charter, the duty of the board to "vigilantly inspect" them. Did they do it? No; they hired other people to do it, while they attended to their own private business and drew their salaries at the end of each and every month. And they paid these "inspectors" out of the city treasury. They hired a superintendent to "vigilantly inspect" each building, and paid each superintendent $100 per month. There were five such buildings under the control of the Board of Works. The board, therefore, in addition to their own salaries of $600 per month, paid out of the city treasury $780 per month to have the new schoolhouses "vigilantly inspected." Thirteen hundred and fifty dollars per month does not look like very great economy from a board that was to be the executive right arm of the city, was to cause the affairs of the city to be economically administered, and whose duty it is, according to the charter, to "vigilantly" inspect all parts of the city.

But if the work of "vigilantly inspecting" had been well done by the deputy inspectors of the $1350-per-month Board of Public Works, it would not have been so bad. But, unfortunately for the economical Board of Works, the unfinished foundations of the Sixth ward schoolhouse silently preach an eloquent sermon; and the text of that sermon is "it shall be the duty of the board to vigilantly inspect all parts of the city." Had the Board of Works done its duty, the Sixth ward school would now have been nearly, if not quite, completed. But, unfortunately for the city, the Board of Works had its own private business to "vigilantly inspect" at the time the schoolhouse was in course of erection, and, of course, the business of the city was neglected.

The Third Ward school is another example of the devotion of the Board of Public Works to its public duties. The board the "executive right arm of the city," be it remembered, adopted the plans for this building, and hired a man to "vigilantly inspect" it while it was being put up. When almost completed the building was found to be unsafe and in danger of collapsing. So the city was forced, on account of the neglect of duty by the Board of Public Works, to spend a large sum of money to remedy the defects which the Board of Public Works is paid $600 per month to see do not exist. In spite of the direct command of the charter to the board to "vigilantly inspect all parts of the city" (a duty, by the way, that the $600 per month board paid another man $150 per month out of the City Treasury to perform) the building was put up in a scandalously imperfect manner.

Add to the $1350 per month that the Board of Works cost the city during the time the new schoolbuildings were in course of construction the sum of $3500, for which the city is now being sued on account of the faulty construction of the Sixth ward school; to the sum thus gained add the interest the city is paying on the money it borrowed for, but cannot use, in the construction of the Sixth ward school; to this sum add the $8000 that the city has been compelled to expend in strengthening the dangerous Third ward school; add to this sum a money equivalent for the worry, vexation of spirit and annoyance of taxpayers, city officials and parents and citizens generally (to say nothing of Grand Juries, etc.); add to this sum counsel fees in the suit concerning the Sixth ward school, witness fees, expert fees, etc., etc., add together all these sums and it will be seen that the Board of Public Works, instead of being a source of economy in the administration of public affairs, is an expensive, useless incumbrance, one that the city would be better off without, and one against which the taxpayer has a just cause for complaint.

Another good illustration of the way the Board of Public Works attends to the business of the city is the matter of the purchase of the last fire engine. The Council directed the board to advertise for bids for a third-class fire engine. Now, a third-class fire engine is one having certain dimensions of pump, etc. A third-class engine costs more money than a fourth class one. The board advertised for bids for "a third-class engine;" but accepted "a fourth-class engine," and paid nearly as much for it as a third-class engine costs. To cut a long story short, the board received a fourth-class engine and paid nearly as large a sum for it as a third-class engine would have cost. That the board knew that it was receiving a fourth-class engine under the name of a third-class engine is not to be doubted. And when the attention of the board was called to the matter, the members of that body took refuge in silence, and neither denied nor affirmed that the city had been swindled. The object of the board in thus permitting the city to be robbed is not apparent. That it was robbed is, however, a fact.

A board that is paid $7200 per annum to prevent the city from being robbed, and still allows (even invites) the robbery of its employes, is not worthy of the continued support of the people of this city. It should be swept out of existence, and its place supplied by some other body of men. Any change would be for the better, for the reason that no change could, by any possibility, be for the worse.

THE CAUSE REVEALED.

Discovery of a Subtle and Life-Destroying Acid.

LODGED IN THE BODY.

The Way by Which It Gets Into the System—Some New Scientific Facts of Great Value and Interest.

"Any man or woman who can go through the trying winters and springs of this climate without suffering from rheumatism or neuralgic pains of some kind is decidedly fortunate." It was Dr. Hamilton, the popular physician, who declared this while talking to some friends at the club. Continuing, he said:

"What it is that causes these pains has been a greater mystery to physicians and scientists than almost any other question. Some have declared that they are the results of a severe cold, others that imprudent exposure has caused them, and still others that they arise from blood poisoning.

"In order to obtain, if possible, a correct theory of rheumatism and all the aches and pains which accompany it, certain authorities in Washington have taken steps to obtain the views of the physicians of America upon this subject. These views are of a varied nature, but so overwhelming a proportion hold to one belief as to leave but little doubt that it is a correct one. This belief, briefly stated, is that uric acid in the blood causes rheumatism, and that it is only by removing this poisonous acid that rheumatism or neuralgic troubles, in all their terrible forms can be cured. This being true, the important question arises, 'How does the uric acid get into the blood, and how can it best be removed?'

"Uric acid finds its way into the blood because the kidneys are weakened and can not throw it from the system. Restore the kidneys, and you will restore the power that will force the uric acid from the body, and thus banish the rheumatic agonies which it causes.

"This is reason; it is science; it is true. No one whose kidneys are in a perfect condition was ever troubled with rheumatism, and no rheumatic sufferer, however slight the pain may be, has perfect kidneys. The conclusion of the truth is inevitable. Perfect kidneys mean freedom from rheumatism.

"There never was, and probably never will be, but one remedy that can, in every case, drive uric acid from the blood. That remedy is Warner's Safe Cure. It cures rheumatism by eliminating the deadly uric acid. It banishes pain by removing the cause. It acts directly upon the kidneys. Within an hour from the time it is taken, its influence will be felt. It sustains the organs that sustain life, the forces that make the blood. For ladies during the severe ordeals through which they are compelled to pass it is invaluable. For the nervous troubles of youth and the debility that precedes old age it has no rival. There are thousands of men and women, too, who are in perfect health today wholly by reason of its great power, and it is the most potent remedy the world has ever known."

SCRATCHED 3 YEARS

Nothing like CUTICURA REMEDIES was ever manufactured. For three years have I suffered with a sore head. I would break out all over my head with pimples which would form a watery matter, and I would have to scratch until I would bleed. After doctoring with two doctors for three years, more or less, I finally made up my mind to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, with result entirely satisfactory to me. After using two sets I am entirely cured. I have recommended your remedies to several persons, and they all tell me they are No. 1. Our druggist is doing a nice business in CUTICURA REMEDIES, since my cure. I have given him the privilege of using my name as proof of their efficiency. I enclose my portrait.

SALT RHEUM CURED

My wife has been troubled with the salt rheum for four years. During this time doctors of Wisconsin, Illinois, and the most eminent of Chicago, failed to give relief. I bought the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and she used only one box of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and half a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and these have cured her completely.

C. M. STONE, 141 State St., Chicago, Ill.

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

There is no doubt that the CUTICURA REMEDIES daily perform more wonderful cures than all other skin and blood remedies combined. They instantly relieve and speedily cure every humor of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula, when the best physicians fail.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI.

The New Building to Receive Their Attention.

A meeting of the alumni of the Oakland High school will be held at the new High School building tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The committee on Constitution will present its report and the annual election of officers will take place.

At a recent meeting of the alumni, it was resolved to organize thoroughly. The main purpose is to undertake the decoration of the new building with pictures, casts, reliefs, etc., and to provide scholarships for worthy students. A committee of forty, one from each class, has been appointed. It is expected that definite action regarding these plans will be taken at the meeting tomorrow evening. The Alumni of the school numbers over 1500 members, and an active interest in the movement at hand is anticipated.

Some Queer Results of the Police Examination.

Secretary Kaufman Wrestles With Answers.

Would-be Policemen Fail to Catch the Idea.

Forty-one more or less intelligent appearing men struggled last Saturday in the Council chamber at the City Hall with the examination schedule, their answers to which shall determine their fitness to become members of the police force of Oakland.

George Kaufman, secretary of the Board of Public Works, is now trying to find "where he is at" with those "hopefuls'" papers. To determine whether the applicant has a sufficient amount of common sense and education to entitle him to become a part of the municipal peace-preserving force he is put to the test through a series of questions touching his knowledge of the general duties of a policeman and the more familiar forms of crime.

Besides these, he must wrestle with a few problems in common arithmetic and the primary English branches. The examination is supposed to give an insight into the general character, mentally, of the applicant. That many of those who essayed to pass the ordeal found themselves in hot water is clearly manifest from a glance over the papers submitted by them at the close of the day's proceedings. They wrestled with such intricate and involved problems, as, for instance, a definition of the duties of a police officer. One applicant, doubtless imbued with the example of some "con," answered, "Be quiet while on duty." Another puzzling number on the list was, "Define homicide?" The answers ran riot and here are some of them: "Trying to take your own life"; "An act according to law"; "An offense committed at home."

The examiners asked "what persons were classed as vagrants?" They were told variously that under that head were persons who lived by their wits; the Industrial army; "low life" persons. One sturdy citizen wrote when told to say what he would do if requiring assistance in making an arrest, "Dabtis sum one to asicis," rendered into English, "Deputize some one to assist." One applicant was way at sea on his definition of a search warrant. He wrote, "a man who kills and tries to escape." Another said a search warrant could only be served "ten days after drownded". Others were as badly tangled on homicide. It was "making an arrest" and "carrying a concealed weapon without permit of Governor," Crime, felony, misdemeanor and riot were respectively defined as "drunkness," "take of human life," break in store" and "an outlaw."

Secretary Kaufman will not be able to announce the successful candidates before tomorrow.

LOST HIS REASON.

Alvin Young is Now Confined in an Asylum.

Alvin S. Young, a confectioner, residing at 1012 Jefferson street, has been committed to the Agnews' Insane Asylum. The unfortunate man wanders aimlessly, and talks incoherently. He imagines that he sees angels and that he hears them singing. He tears his clothes and strikes his wife without any provocation. The other day he threatened to drown himself. The cause of his insanity is believed to be due to an injury on his head, which he received by being struck by a locomotive about a year ago. He was arrested by Sheriff White, on complaint of his wife, Mrs. A. S. Young. Deputy Sheriff Al White took Young to the asylum.

SUNSET LIMITED

The Southern Pacific Company's magnificent Vestibuled Train, between San Francisco and New Orleans, now starts on its flying transcontinental trip an hour and a half earlier and arrives in the Southern metropolis two hours earlier than formerly, reducing the run to 78 hours and opening several other popular routes to prominent Eastern cities.

Immediate connection is now made in New Orleans with the fast through trains of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL for Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago; the QUEEN & CRESCENT for Chattanooga, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston; also the PIEDMONT AIR LINE and the SEABOARD AIR LINE, for Atlanta, Danville, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, and other Eastern cities and in many cases reducing the time an entire day.

To be whirled across the continent from ocean to ocean in 3 days, from San Francisco to New York, with only one change, in the most palatial train that ever crossed a continent, and in a climate of perpetual Spring, is possible by the SUNSET ROUTE only, and on the SUNSET LIMITED. Remember that it costs only the regular fare to travel on this train; that it leaves Oakland Pier every THURSDAY at 9:27 A. M.

MESSAGE.

Reforms in the State Affairs.

Says the Primary Law Should Be Amended.

Comments on the National Guard and Blind Home.

SACRAMENTO, January 9. — Governor Markham today sent his second biennial message to the Senate and the Assembly. The message is a most complete one in every respect. The Governor deals with every department of State, and makes many wise recommendations. A synopsis of his report is as follows:

ADULT BLIND.

"I have made two visits to this institution. Both were somewhat limited, yet I believe that I have a fair knowledge of its work and method. There are about 112 inmates engaged in the manufacture of brooms. The home is under the supervision of Joseph Sanders, a blind man, formerly in the institution as a teacher. The wisdom of placing a sightless man in so responsible a position has been the subject of much controversy, and the division of the board on that subject has been the result—three being in favor of retaining Mr. Sanders and two emphatically opposed. At my request a Legislative Committee of Investigation was appointed, and its report exonerated Mr. Sanders and those supporting him for the position.

"This has been an unfortunate disputation, and, as far as I have been able to learn, more or less personal and local in its effect. Personally, I believe Mr. Sanders to be a remarkably efficient man, considering his infirmity, and one deeply interested in the success of this institution. The mere question of financial success should not supersede the charitable objects for which it was instituted. It has proven nearly self-supporting, and, I believe, will be entirely so, under favorable auspices.

"A demand for $10,000 extra for maintenance will be asked, together with sufficient money to purchase additional ground, both of which should be carefully considered. The latter is imperative. The fact that these unfortunates are striving to become self-supporting, warrants encouragement at the hands of the State, and it is to be hoped that proper assistance will be granted them.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

"I desire to call your attention to the pressing needs of this great educational institution, and I know of no more effective way of accomplishing it than to quote what Dr. Bonte and President Kellogg have just stated to me.

"'These very exigent demands come to us, as will be seen, from the scientific side of the University, and the University cannot keep pace with the growth of science, particularly applied science, without a knowledge of which our people will fail to see the use of a university and send their sons elsewhere, unless we are provided with the means of instruction.

"'The regents and faculties have long given anxious thought to these matters, and the finance committee eighteen months ago formulated a report, after four years of discussion, which was submitted to and approved by the Board of Regents. It is as follows:

"'The fact is, the University, in response to a great public demand, is expanding in every direction, and the appeal from almost every department of the University for more room and greater facilities is emphatic and urgent.

"'The construction of a large building, that will afford room for the educational departments, now cramped and crowded in unsuitable quarters; that will furnish space for the classification and display of the very valuable collections now concealed in boxes or stowed away in lockers, and which should be placed in a properly arranged museum; that will permit the shelving of more books and supply room for study and reading in connection with the increasing library; that will enable a large audience to be seated in a well-lighted, warmed and ventilated auditorium; and in which suitable fire-proof vaults can be constructed for the preservation of the papers and archives of the State University, now scattered in insecure places in the various buildings; and where also may be provided suitable and contiguous rooms for the administrative offices of the University—such a building should be erected without unnecessary delay as an economical measure. And as it will cost probably $500,000, this sum should be asked for from the Legislature for this purpose, to be expended in two years; and relieved of this strain, the income of the University would suffice to carry on the current work.'"

Many other recommendations are made concerning the University.

DEAF, DUMB, AND BLIND INSTITUTION.

"This institution is a credit to our State, its management worthy of all praise and the purpose of its creation completely carried out. No one can visit it without recognizing and acknowledging its benefits. It certainly is gratifying to me to speak so highly of its usefulness and management, but it is because I believe it is merited. I have made two visits to this establishment and carefully inspected its workings and financial conduct.

"The last Legislature appropriated $75,000 for an additional building. It is one of the most complete and economical erected during my administration. Its future wants will be found in the report of its Board of Directors.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

"The voice of the people through the ballot, when free from restraint of every kind, becomes their true expression. To render this grand privilege secure is the solemn duty of the law-making power. Expense in contributing to this end, if it but fulfils its purpose, is unworthy of consideration. Our present Election law has been thoroughly tested, and so far as I have been enabled to observe, its workings have proven satisfactory.

"The system could, however, be improved by the adoption of some method whereby the counting of the votes could be more rapidly performed, particularly so in our larger cities. Suggestions will be presented you, with changes which experience has demonstrated to be necessary, and to which I desire to ask your earnest, serious consideration.

"Your attention is called to the urgent necessity of establishing some form of procedure regulating and controlling primary elections. The danger to our government lies in the loose and very often profligate manner in which these elections are conducted, regardless of the rights of communities, imperilling their safety, and entirely under the control of the worst elements of society. Like stringent laws which protect the voter at a regular election, should shield him at these primaries.

"It is absurd to declare that the voter has the right at a general election to vote for whom he pleases, when those for whom he must vote have been placed before him without giving him an opportunity of declaring his choice. The privilege of nomination is strangled at the birth, and he must follow the dictates of a convention corruptly assembled, or quietly abstain from the use of the franchise. This is an evil growing by what it feeds on, threatening the liberties of the people by debarring them from the free and untrammeled exercise of personal choice.

CHINESE PRISONERS.

"I would recommend that you pass a joint resolution requesting the Governor to commute every Chinese subject now confined in our prisons, upon condition that he be deported to China at his own expense, never to return. We now have about 150 of these in our prisons, and it would seem to be wise to return them in this manner, if they are willing to go. While the Governor needs no change in the law to empower him to do so, yet such a resolution sanctioning the act would relieve him from assuming the entire responsibility, and apprise the people of the State of its object.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL.

"From the Adjutant-General's report it will be observed that there are on the roll of the National Guard of California 529 officers and men, which includes 325 officers and men of the Naval Battalion. As his report appears to have been prepared with much care, I would respectfully call your attention to it for the the details pertaining to that department.

"At my request, he, on a suming office, took an inventory of all the State property, as far as it was possible to do so, and I believe he will be able to leave to his successor an intelligent account of its disposition since that time. It was found in disorder when he came in, and I trust great improvement in that regard will be observed. I have in all ordinary matters pertaining to that department, relied implicity upon his suggestions, opinions, etc. His report will furnish you with ample information regarding the operations of the guard during his term of office, and especially during the last two years.

"Owing to the great stagnation in all classes of business, which naturally caused a deep-seated feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction in the minds of many of our people during the last two years, the guard of the State has many times been called upon to assist the civil authorities in maintaining order throughout the State, and I am pleased to say that with but a single exception its efficiency could not be questioned. While the aggregate cost to the State for this service is large, I feared that it would far exceed the amount asked for, and those entitled to it should be credited with loyalty to the interest of the State and I beg you to care for them without delay. Remember that the majority of the rank and file is composed of young men who depended upon their daily earnings for their support, and while in service were deprived of the same. Many of them have lost their situations by reason of having been called into active service. Do not assume that because no lives were lost and no property was destroyed that this important arm of the Government is useless, for the very fact that 5200 armed men stood ready to assist in the enforcement of the law made such a result possible. The Guard of this State is a creature of the statutes, and you should exercise extreme caution in framing laws for its government. It has never been called out by me except to assist the civil authorities, as provided by law.

KEEPER OF THE ARCHIVES.

"The Legislature of 1889, in my judgment, wisely created the position of keeper of the archives, an office that could and should be one of great importance. By the present arrangement the papers and documents of the State, while somewhat improved by the provisions of the act, are yet in a very unsatisfactory condition. For some unaccountable reason the appropriation for the payment of the salary of such officer was not allowed by the last Legislature. This was an error that should be remedied immediately.

BOUNTY FOR COYOTE SCALPS.

"I called the attention of the last Legislature to the necessity of repealing the act of 1891, providing for the payment of a bounty on coyote scalps. No action was taken, and in consequence the sum of $187,485 has been already paid out, and existing demands against the State amounting to $105,085 have been presented. For many good reasons this law should be repealed. The State has been shamefully defrauded by the payment for scalps that have been shipped into the State from Oregon, Nevada, Arizona and Mexico. The law provides that after the scalps are examined by the Board of Supervisors of a county, they shall be destroyed by fire, thereby extinguishing all evidences of fraud; and as the Supervisors have no interest in the matter, and simply act as agents of the State, it is manifest that no extra effort has been made to check irregularities, and the Board of Examiners have no means of preventing this swindle upon the State. It is to hoped that this law will be repealed.

CARE OF UNFORTUNATES.

"In my message to the last Legislature, I called attention to the number of unfortunates which were cared for wholly or in part by the State during the one year preceding that date. It was about 19,500, consisting of insane, orphans, half-orphans, abandoned children and foundlings, aged indigents, prisoners, feeble-minded, juvenile offenders, deaf, dumb, and blind, soldiers' widows and orphans, veterans at the Yountville Home and adult blind. I have examined and estimated the same for the last year, and find there are about 22,300, or an increase over that of two years ago of about 3000. It is for you to determine whether the State shall continue this work, or ask the counties whence they come to stand the expense.

FIFTY-CENT LIMIT.

"Taxation is always a vital question to the taxpayer. Be it ever so moderate, it is always capable of undergoing reduction.

"I was nominated and elected on a party platform which pledged the people that the tax rate should not exceed 50 cents on each $100 of taxable property. I soon discovered that this rate was a purely arbitrary one to adopt, and left me no definite foundation upon which to estimate the resources to be derived under it. After assuming office, I immediately sought the most reliable sources of information, to wit, the office of the State Board of Equalization and that of the Controller, and upon these data the valuations of 1893 were adopted, which yielded $4,932,646, and after deducting fixed charges, as the law allowed, the remainder represented the gross expenditures for permanent improvements. I was then able to furnish every interested legislator with a detailed statement of our financial condition. Notwithstanding this information, it was unheeded, and I was obliged to veto $700,000 of appropriation bills in order that the limit should not be exceeded. In 1891-92 the valuations were increased enough to reduce the average rate for these years to 41 cents.

"A similar course was adopted for the benefit of the last Legislature, with the same results. The valuations of 1892 were accepted as my guide, and they yielded $6,060,127, and in order to keep within said limit I was obliged to veto $1,000,000 of appropriations.

"In 1893-94, valuations were sufficiently reduced to increase the rate for those two years to an average of 53.4 cents, making for the four years of my administration an average of 48.7 cents on the $100. While this is the lowest rate since the State was organized, it should and can with proper legislation be reduced.

"All that was left for me to do was to veto still more appropriation bills, in order to reduce; but as I had already vetoed in all $1,700,000, exceeding in amount that of all the Executives since the adoption of the State government, I could but feel that I had reached the limit in that regard. Let it be hoped that my successor be spared that trying ordeal.

"On questions of appropriation the Legislature should act with caution, for it is presumed to be the proper judge of their necessity. Such action would avoid the responsibility so often unjustly thrust upon the veto power for protection.

"I have given considerable attention to the methods of performing State work, and carefully observed and noted the defects, and in my message to the last Legislature clearly pointed out many of them.

"The question as to whether our people outside of incorporated cities are called upon to pay a greater aggregate of taxes in proportion to actual valuations than those in other States, is debatable and very difficult of ascertainment, and I am not prepared to say they do. I have given the subject much thought, but there are so many contingencies to be considered that it is almost impossible to make comparisons.

"But our purely State taxes are much higher than the average States of the Union. This is to be accounted for in the growing tendency of our people to look to the State for aid in every direction, throwing the burden of responsibility that should be borne by others entirely on her shoulders, thus leaving her, as it were, without a friend.

"The constantly increasing number of unfortunates to be cared for is another cause. We have about 286,000 voters in the State, while we support in some manner over 22,000 unfortunates; being in the ratio of 1 to every 13 voters of the State. This is appalling. Are we not by this method encouraging dependency on the part of those that could be cared for in other ways? By this system of unrestricted charity are we not doing more harm than good? That many of these cases will appeal to our better nature none will deny, but it will be gainsaid that, if the respective localities in which these unfortunates live and ask for aid were compelled to answer their demands, investigations as to their deservings would be more carefully inquired into? As it is, no questions are asked, because the onerous load is borne by the State.

California is a miniature United States and our institutions widely spread, which adds to the legitimate expenses. The cost per capita of our insane in the three old institutions is less than in any State in the Union. The average is about 38½ cents a day, which includes food, clothing, attendance, in fact all costs outside of permanent improvements, and the inmates most humanely cared for. So with the State Prisons; the food is good, clothing ample, and all are well treated, and outside of permanent improvements the average is less than 40 cents per day. The Whittier and Preston schools, the Feeble-Minded, the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind, are, in fact, more than educational in their work, and are thereby more expensive in proportion, but by all of them economy has been rigidly practiced. The costs of commissions and boards are of themselves inexpensive, as only a very few of their members receive compensation for their labors. The objects to be attained by these boards and commissions are what the money is used for, and it is for you to say whether any or all of them can be dispensed with. Those most interested in them consider their work worth all it costs.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Aged indigents		180,000
For the insane, about		692,000
For charitable and educational institutions—
Deaf, Dumb, and Blind	$55,000
Feeble-minded	50,000
		105,000
Reformatories, to wit:
Whittier	$80,000
Preston	35,000
		115,000
For half salaries of eighty-six Superior Judges		135,000
For transporting prisoners, insane, etc.		60,000
Total		$1,833,500

"To this there should be added some deficiencies in order to meet the required demands upon them. Nearly all this expense in other States is borne by individuals, counties and municipalities. In other words, the State is relieved or reimbursed in some form for its expenditures in that direction.

"The total income of the State this year on the basis of 1894 will be about $5,728,112. Thus it is plain to be seen that after deducting the $1,833,500 and the $2,773,000 paid for our public school system, including Normals and University, there will be left about $1,121,612 to meet all other expenditures. The Controller's report will clearly define what the other expenditures of the State are and should be carefully estimated and added to the $1,000,500, which should represent the fixed charges against the State as the law now stands. Based on a rate of 45 cents instead of 50 cents it would yield $5,155,000 and leave about $550,000. To those who have claimed that the State government could be run on a basis of 25 per cent less than the present cost let me call their attention to the true situation. On that basis the yield would be about $4,295,000, which you will see is $311,500 less than the items embraced in the public school, benevolent and judicial charges, $4,006,500.

"For your convenience I will give you, as near as I can ascertain, the principal items that will be asked of you for permanent improvements, to wit:

Mendocino State Asylum	$ 120,000
San Bernardine	276,000
Napa (not estimated)	.....
Stockton	50,000
Agnews	5,000
Preston (estimated)	75,000
San Quentin (not estimated)	.....
Folsom (not estimated)	.....
Adult Blind (not estimated)	.....
Deaf, Dumb, and Blind	25,000
Building for State officers in San Francisco	500,000
State University in San Francisco, Berkeley and Mt. Hamilton	750,000
Amounting in all to	$1,655,500

"There will be others which I have not considered and cannot estimate.

"If there is one question upon which our people are a unit it is on the subject of taxation. You are their immediate representatives, pledged to respect their wishes, and to keep the rate of taxation within the 50-cent limit. Therefore, unless you determine to make radical changes in our method of transacting State work you will readily see that it will require every dollar that the 50-cent basis will produce in order to meet what may be properly considered fixed charges, as the law now stands, notwithstanding the increased income over 1893.

"By considering the Controller's report, and the estimates furnished you by the State Board of Equalization, you will see that no permanent improvements can be made unless some of the State's responsibilities are shifted, as heretofore indicated, or the rate will exceed the 50-cent limit. However unpleasant these facts may be, it is due to you and our taxpayers that they be plainly stated, in order that you may act accordingly, and our people be made aware of the true situation of affairs.

"Permit me to say that as to the financial statements above enumerated. I have given them to you for your own convenience. They are believed to be correct; but the means of verification are at your hands, and I would respectfully suggest that you examine the same for your own protection.

"I have no apologies to make as to our expenditures. They have all been made according to law, and it is for you to say in what manner they shall be reduced. I have striven to do all that any Governor should be expected to do in that respect."

In conclusion the Governor gives his thanks to all the departments of State and bids them farewell.

ALERT.

The De Young Men Are Busy.

Pointers Regarding Some of the Bills to Come Up.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, January 8.—"I don't like this quiet among the DeYoung men," said an ardent Perkinite this evening, "it brooks too much of the calm before the storm. There is a smiling confidence about them, too, that I don't understand. Anyone would think that they had their fight won, and in view of all this clamor for Perkins it is at least strange that they do not appear distressed."

And that is the situation in a nutshell. The Perkins men are proclaiming their victory before they enter the lists and the DeYoung clans are engaged in that oft advised occupation of "sawing wood." Anyone who thinks though that they are idle are sadly mistaken. The most persistent buttonholing on record is going on, but it is being done quietly and not where all who run may see.

DeYoung is undoubtedly making the fight of his life. The most powerful influences extant are being exercised in his interests and were it not for the great popularity of his opponent he would have a sure thing. That no ordinary candidate could cope with him is admitted even by his most bitter opponents, but then he is running against one of the strongest men in California on such an issue, and that's the rub.

Billy Hamilton, who, as Perkins' manager, is doing splendid work, is still waiting to launch his caucus thunderbolt, but like a good general is holding it back until the organization is completed throughout in both branches of the Legislature and the members are thereby footloose. Up to the present time it has been impossible to get them to devote the necessary time for such an undertaking, as the horde of office seekers this session is unusually large and the aspirants unusually hungry to take a dip into the State's pockets—a result doubtless of the hard times.

Hamilton says, though, that he has hopes of arranging the caucus for the end of this week, and if not then, at the beginning of the coming one. But if he is as confident as he says he is he is evidently reckoning without his host, for the De Young men are almost willing to bet money that he will not be able to get enough votes together to force the issue.

As a matter of fact, though, an out-and-out De Young man is very hard to find. Although there are plenty of them about they are not wearing the fact on their coat sleeves, and are almost as uncommunicative regarding themselves as members of the A. P. A.

Frank Stone went to San Francisco on the afternoon train, leaving his brother Harry in charge of the headquarters at the Berkshire, and some think that when he returns he will bring De Young with him. All this talk of neither Perkins nor De Young appearing on the scene at all is, of course, sheer nonsense; they will have to be in usual evidence if they expect their friends to be able to draw wavering votes into line.

It may be said, though, that the actual battle has not yet begun; everything up to date is merely skirmishing, and the unreliability of the situation is best shown by the fact that each candidate is claiming votes that will go to the other man. There will be some surprises when the roll is called, though the first ballot, will not, according to the De Young calculations, tell any tale, as a number of his supporters are pledged for second choice, and will not be called on until after they had had an opportunity to show that Perkins cannot get there. The policy to weaken Perkins' strength by weaning away votes for him, by means of a third candidate, will doubtless be maintained, and it is on this line that Bowers' candidacy will come in.

WHAT ALAMEDA COUNTY GETS.

The day in the Legislature was devoted simply to perfecting working organization. Alameda county, as usual, got up a fight among its own members, with the result that some of the most eagerly sought for places were lost. However, the county has not fared so badly up to date, as will be seen by the following list of places already secured:

In the Senate.

Sergeant-at-Arms—Leslie Blackburn of Oakland.

Postmistress—Miss McHugh of West Oakland.

Enrolling Clerk—J. H. Dungan of Livermore.

In the Assembly.

File Clerk—H. D. Chadbourne of Alameda.

Chaplain—Rev. O. Summers of Alameda.

The selection of Rev. Mr. Summers for chaplain was to a certain extent the result of a fight Sacramento got into over the appointment of Bert Kidder. As a result the selection of the man of prayer was taken from the Capital City and given to Alameda county.

Mr. Summers, though, had been making a hard fight for the place and was backed staunchly by the colored element. He is the presiding elder for California of the African Methodist Church, and is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. He was a slave in the South during ante-bellum days, and knows what it is to have been lashed at a whipping post.

His opening prayer this morning was naturally looked to with some interest, and although he was a trifle nervous at making his legislative debut, he acquitted himself well.

The proceedings in the Senate simply consisted of selecting the statutory officers, and the nomination of Thomas Flint of Monterey as president pro tem. was seized on by Senator Tirey Ford as an opportunity to pay the San Juan representative a number of neat compliments.

Senator Seawell made the first official move by the Democrats towards seating Budd by presenting a resolution calling on the Senate and Assembly to meet in joint session and canvass the returns.

The action was, however, premature and the resolution went on the table.

GOOD FOR FOUR YEARS.

Controller's office—W. W. Douglass, L. C. Strieuning, F. W. Rorer, T. R. Swain, R. P. Roper, J. W. Baker, M. E. Colgan.

State Treasurer—Deputy, F. W. Judson; bookkeeper, B. B. Hanscom; clerk, Mrs. B. B. Hanscom; watchman, A. O. Renwick, S. B. Woods.

SOME BILLS TO COME UP.

Senator Dunn of San Francisco intends to introduce a bill aiming for the suppression of betting. It is very sweeping and makes it a misdemeanor to make a wager on any game of chance. Even boxing, baseball, horse-racing and other popular sports come under the ban.

The principal measure from Los Angeles this time will be in the hands of Senator Mathews. It is a constitutional amendment giving counties the right to issue 3 per cent bonds to be sold at par and to run for forty years for the purpose of constructing State railroads. The amendment does not call for the building of any particular line or for any organization that will immediately pertain thereto. The Senator says it is not an anti-Southern Pacific measure, that is, not in the sense of the many bills introduced with that purpose.

Assemblyman Dodge is mentioned for the chairmanship of the County Government Committee. He says that if he is he will see that steps are taken to cut down the salaries now attached to many of the leading offices. Dodge has got a couple of election bills this time, one calling for a secret ballot in conventions, and the other making it a misdemeanor to resort to trading for the purpose of securing a nomination.

Judge Waymire of Alameda is on the alert for an Irrigation bill that is to come up. Congress, at its last session, passed an Act ceding arid lands to various States. California is thus honored to the extent of 1,000,000 acres, and a bill is to be introduced at this session calling for the disposal of the land at a nominal sum per acre. Judge Waymire, however, will oppose the bill, which, he says, will enable the land to pass into the hands of rich operators, and he will, instead, introduce a bill calling for the appointment of a commission, consisting of the Governor, Controller and Attorney General, to employ an engineer to make surveys and arrangements for irrigating the land in question. He then proposes to have the land leased out in small parcels at so much per acre, the title in perpetuity to remain in the State and the proceeds to be for University and school purposes.

Ex-Attorney General W. H. H. Hart will have an important County Government bill introduced. It calls for a uniform fee system throughout the State and also for a system by which county officers shall be remunerated partly by regular salary and partly by fees. By this means he says the problem of fluctuation of county business will be met. A county which is passing through a period of shrinkage will not be saddled with a lot of expensive officials, whereas, on the other hand, if the business increases, the multiplication of the fees will permit the hiring of all the deputies needed.

PERSONALS AND NOTES.

Ed Pringle of East Oakland was given the full Democratic complimentary vote of fifteen for one of the statutory offices in the House. Felix Mulgrew got the same consideration.

Al Baker of Oakland was given the place of assistant file clerk as a sop for having been sidetracked in his fight for assistant sergeant-at-arms. He will draw $4 a day.

Dan Burns is expected tomorrow, (Wednesday).

Leslie Blackburn was formally installed today as sergeant-at-arms of the Senate. Tom Rodgers turned over the keys to him and gave him the combination to the safe and a few pointers on how to satisfy everybody.

Mal Dillon is among the many who are hoping that the flotsam and jetsam will bring something their way.

Senator Hart of Sacramento has decided that he does not want the Committee on Education. It will go to Senator Tirey Ford.

Colonel Thomas F. Garrity is here to defend McDonald in his contest with Collins.

HATTON.

Republicans Will Assemble This Evening.

Perkins Says He Only Needs Four Votes.

Special to The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, January 9. — Senator Perkins arrived today to personally participate in his campaign. He is domiciled at the Golden Eagle here. I interviewed him this afternoon.

"I am of the same opinion that I had at election time," he said, "and that is that I will win.

"I was practically the only candidate mentioned and was indorsed throughout the State.

"Of all the personal assurances and pledges I received the only one I know of that has fallen down is Robert Gay of Oakland.

"He now says, I believe, that he is not bound by any expression of opinion he has made heretofore.

"Congressman Bowers is not in the fight. He personally assured me he would not be and said that if he was required, he would come on from Washington to help me.

"I know though, that his name is being mentioned so as to draw sectional strength from me."

The issue, however, will be made tonight, when a Republican caucus will be held on the Senatorial proposition.

The call is at present signed by forty-seven, and there may be others before evening comes.

"The Republicans should, of course, abide by the issue of this caucus, as it will be representative of their party.

"I am aware that some Republicans will not come, but they are counted, and if they do not choose to attend I do not see how they can afterwards vote for any other candidate in open session.

"As near as I can tell you, my positive strength is 57 votes and has been all along.

"This left four votes to be obtained and I am not afraid to face issue on that score.

"As far as this talk of Democrats voting for De Young is concerned, I am sure many of them would vote for me, though I am not seeking election that way, but on my party issue.

"Of course I will be glad to get their votes too, as when I go to Washington I will endeavor to represent the interests of the State as well as the party."

HATTON.

The Joint Session Resolution Again Laid on the Table.

CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The Gubernatorial contention cropped out in the Senate this morning the first thing after that body was called to order.

Seawell, Democrat, offered a concurrent resolution calling for a joint session of the Senate and Assembly tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of canvassing and publishing the election returns for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Voorhely, Rep., spoke in favor of laying on the table. He said that it had been agreed among the Republicans that a resolution similar in purport was to be introduced in the Assembly today, and it was desired to act upon the Assembly resolution.

Seawall argued that it was proper that such a resolution should emanate from the Senate, and he urged the adoption of his resolution.

Appointments made by Governor Markham during two years past were also laid before the Senate for confirmation.

IN THE ASSEMBLY.

The Gubernatorial Contest Thought to Be Settled.

CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The first business of the Assembly this morning was to receive Governor Markham's last message, which was presented by the Governor's secretary at 11 o'clock.

The reading of the message was dispensed with and a thousand copies were ordered printed for the use of members.

Thomas presented a concurrent resolution providing for a meeting of the Senate and Assembly at 2 p. m. tomorrow, for the purpose of canvassing and publishing the returns of the election for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Adopted without a dissenting voice.

The resolution provides for the appointment of a joint committee of three members from each House to confer with the Governor-elect and Lieutenant Governor-elect for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for their inauguration.

This agreement was reached in the caucus of the Republican Assemblymen this morning and it is not believed that any opposition will be offered in the Senate.

COLLINS' CONTEST.

It Was Called Up This Afternoon by the Speaker.

SACRAMENTO, January 9.—When the House reassembled at 2 o'clock, the contest of McDonald's seat by Collins, Republican candidate from the Forty-ninth district, Alameda county, was announced by Speaker Lynch.

DEMOCRATS CONFER.

SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The Democratic members of the Assembly were in conference with Governor-elect Budd, this afternoon, just after adjournment of the Assembly.

The object of the conference was to organize against any surprise that may be sprung by the Republicans in relation to Budd's inauguration, in order to act quickly and in concert.

It is understood that the Democrats were somewhat worried over the fact that duplicate returns have been sent in from Fresno and Alameda counties.

It has since been learned that the extra returns from Alameda county are to be used in the contest of the seat of McDonald, Democrat, but the object of double returns from Fresno is not known.

MILLARD IS BETTER.

The Precautionary Oath Was Intended to Be a Secret.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., January 9.—Lieutenant Governor Millard's condition is better this morning than at any time since he was taken seriously ill.

The precautionary oath of office taken Monday was intended to be secret, but it leaked out.

"THE BULLETIN" SOLD.

It Was Purchased by R. A. Crothers for $35,500.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 9.—The Evening Bulletin was sold this morning by United States Court Commissioner Heacock.

There were only three bids.

Thomas Magee, for George K. Fitch, offered $30,000; C. M. Shortridge, the new proprietor of the Call, bid $35,000; and Crothers bid $35,500. There being no further bidding, he secured the oldest paper in the city.

OLIVE CONSUMPTION.

The Demand in the United States Is Increasing.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The consumption of olives in the United States is increasing rapidly, as a result of the immigration of large numbers of people from Southern Europe.

The United States Consul at Cadiz, Spain, in a report to the State Department, shows the value of olives sent to the United States from one province of Seville, last year, was $326,854 and the quantity about 150,000 bushels.

This year's crop is about 25 per cent short.

The Consul says the duty of 20 per cent imposed by the new Tariff bill will not materially affect the volume of imports and the Treasury will be a clear gainer by the amount.

A Big Firm Assigns.

A TEST.

Currency Bill Is Knocked Out.

A Preliminary Skirmish on the Measure.

Republicans Stood Solid With the Democratic Opponents.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The special rule to bring the Currency bill to a vote was defeated on ayes and nays.

This was a decisive test vote, and practically kills the bill.

There was a good attendance on the floor of the House when Speaker Crisp rapped the gavel today, as notice had been given that the special order to terminate the debate on the Currency bill would be reported from the Committee on Rules, and the prevailing belief was that the fate of the bill would be determined today.

It provided for closing general debate and consideration of the Springer substitute as original bill under the five minute rule today, tomorrow and Friday until 2:05 p. m., the bill and pending amendments to be reported to the House for final vote Saturday immediately after the morning hour.

Some confusion was caused by a volley of questions from members which followed Outhwaite's demands, the members being anxious to ascertain the status of the amendments after the adoption of the order.

Springer, chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, assured the gentlemen there would be no disposition to shut out members.

Outhwaite made a brief speech urging the necessity for closing the debate on the Currency bill and for the disposing of it in order that more pressing measures like the Nicaragua canal bill might be considered.

Bland wanted to know if the opportunity to offer an amendment to strike out the enacting clause (which would kill the bill) would be given?

Outhwaite said the rule discriminated against no amendment, and Springer again assured the House there would be no disposition to cut off members with amendments.

Bland was not satisfied and insisted that a provision be inserted in the rule, or an agreement be had by which a vote could be had on his amendment.

Reed, in some caustic remarks, said he thought the situation a very unfortunate one.

"We seem to be deliberating here," said he, "as to the proper method of getting rid of this bill. It is unfortunate if we are to hope for remedial legislation."

He agreed with his colleague, Dingley, that Sections 9 and 10, relating to State banks, which were vital, should be first considered. However, he said, Republicans washed their hands of responsibility and he did not know whether they ought to interfere or not.

After some further wrangling, during which Bland and others loudly protested that the adoption of the rule would cut them off, Outhwaite regretted all suggestions for amending the rule and demanded the previous question.

The Republicans voted solidly with the Democratic opponents of the measure against ordering the previous question, and it was defeated on a rising vote of 92 to 101.

Among the Democrats who voted against the ordering of the previous question were Cockrell of Texas, McGann of Illinois, Hooker of Mississippi, Ellis of Kentucky, Money of Mississippi, Bailey of Texas, Bland and Hall of Missouri, Holman of Indiana.

Outhwaite hurriedly demanded the yeas and nays, and the roll was called.

The supporters of the bill made a desperate effort to secure a majority on the roll call, but the previous question was again rejected by 124 to 129.

McCreary, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, moved to go into a Committee of the Whole, for the consideration of the Diplomatic Appropriation bill and it was carried without a division.

The Currency bill has been abandoned, at least temporarily, to give its supporters an opportunity to reform their lines.

It had all happened so quickly it was some time before the members were able to realize that the struggle was over.

The Appropriation Has Only Been Cut Slightly.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The Indian Appropriation bill has been nearly completed by the House Committee on Indian Affairs and may be reported this week.

Slight reductions have been made in nearly all the items, so the total will be about $200,000 less than the appropriations of last year.

WILLING TO COMPROMISE.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs today again postponed the final consideration of the resolution providing for a ballistic test of the Carnegie armor plates, and also the bill for the reorganization of the personnel of the navy.

The postponement of the armor plate resolution was due to a statement that Carnegie had made an application to the Secretary of the Navy for a settlement.

This question, Senator Mckinnon, as chairman, was authorized to investigate, and the matter was left in abeyance pending his report.

It was stated that Carnegie's proposition is to remove the armor plates alleged to be defective and subject them to the required test and replace them at his own expense.

The Charges Against Him to Be Investigated Monday.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The consideration of the charges against Judge Ricks of Cleveland was postponed today by the House Judiciary Committee until Monday next, as the attendance today was one short of a quorum. The charges preferred by the Cleveland Labor Union will be first taken up.

The charges of Samuel J. Ritchie against the Canadian Copper Company will not be considered by the committee until the first case has been disposed of.

Judging by the expressions of several committeemen there is a doubt as to whether Ritchie's case will be deemed worthy of serious investigation.

IN THE SENATE.

The Deficiency Bill to Come Up Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—Harris, just selected for another term of six years in the Senate, has returned to Washington, and was warmly congratulated by his colleagues, when he appeared in the Chamber today.

Ex-Senator Edmunds also visited the scene of his old duties.

Cockrell, from the Appropriation Committee, reported the Urgency Deficiency bill and it was placed on the calendar. Cockrell gave notice that he would call it up tomorrow.

Replying to Quay, Cockrell said that there had been no amendments by the committee to any portion of the bill relating to the income tax.

They Come in for Some Abuse in London.

LONDON, January 9.—The meeting last evening of the Meat and Cattle section of the London Chamber of Commerce has served to bring out a storm of jealous abuse of American meat and American business methods.

The Daily Telegraph states that the American beef kings, after half ruining British husbandry, now coolly propose to take an additional million from the British traders and consumers. This statement is repeated on all sides.

Last night's meeting was to protest against the attempt of American shippers to abolish the customary trade allowance of a pound in every quarter of meat, to compensate for the loss by shrinkage, etc.

AFTER THE HOBOS.

A Safety Committee Organized at Santa Ana.

SANTA ANA, Cal., January 9.—A meeting was held here last night by a large number of citizens to devise some means of protecting this locality from depredations that are being committed by the hobo and criminal element.

The meeting resulted in the appointment of a committee called the Committee of Safety, to propose plans of organization.

The criminal element is flocking here to such an extent that the citizens feel compelled to do something to protect their property and their families. Many of the most prominent residents of the city are acting with the Committee of Safety.

TO SUSPEND HIM.

The Governor of Bitlis May Have to Retire.

LONDON, January 9.—A correspondent of the Standard at Constantinople telegraphs that he has heard that the Sultan requested Great Britain to disavow the speech recently made by Gladstone to the Anglo-Armenia deputation that visited him at Hawarden.

The English, French and Russian Governments have asked the Porte to suspend the Governor of Bitlis, who is held mainly responsible for the Sassoun massacre, until the commission of inquiry shall have concluded its labors.

Elliott Goes to Prison.

CHICAGO, January 9.—Director M. E. Elliott of the American Railway Union surrendered today, and was taken to jail in McHenry county to serve a sentence in the strike contempt case.

Death of an Author.

As a matter of fact, though, an out-and-out De Young man is very hard to find. Although there are plenty of them about they are not wearing the fact on their coat sleeves, and are almost as uncommunicative regarding themselves as members of the A. P. A.

Frank Stone went to San Francisco on the afternoon train, leaving his brother Harry in charge of the headquarters at the Berkshire, and some think that when he returns he will bring De Young with him. All this talk of neither Perkins nor De Young appearing on the scene at all is, of course, sheer nonsense; they will have to be in usual evidence if they expect their friends to be able to draw wavering votes into line.

It may be said, though, that the actual battle has not yet begun; everything up to date is merely skirmishing, and the unreliability of the situation is best shown by the fact that each candidate is claiming votes that will go to the other man. There will be some surprises when the roll is called, though the first ballot, will not, according to the De Young calculations, tell any tale, as a number of his supporters are pledged for second choice, and will not be called on until after they had had an opportunity to show that Perkins cannot get there. The policy to weaken Perkins' strength by weaning away votes for him, by means of a third candidate, will doubtless be maintained, and it is on this line that Bowers' candidacy will come in.

WHAT ALAMEDA COUNTY GETS.

The day in the Legislature was devoted simply to perfecting working organization. Alameda county, as usual, got up a fight among its own members, with the result that some of the most eagerly sought for places were lost. However, the county has not fared so badly up to date, as will be seen by the following list of places already secured:

In the Senate.

Sergeant-at-Arms—Leslie Blackburn of Oakland.

Enrolling Clerk—J. H. Dungan of Livermore.

In the Assembly.

File Clerk—H. D. Chadbourne of Alameda.

Chaplain—Rev. O. Summers of Alameda.

The selection of Rev. Mr. Summers for chaplain was to a certain extent the result of a fight Sacramento got into over the appointment of Bert Kidder. As a result the selection of the man of prayer was taken from the Capital City and given to Alameda county.

Mr. Summers, though, had been making a hard fight for the place and was backed staunchly by the colored element. He is the presiding elder for California of the African Methodist Church, and is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. He was a slave in the South during ante-bellum days, and knows what it is to have been lashed at a whipping post.

His opening prayer this morning was naturally looked to with some interest, and although he was a trifle nervous at making his legislative debut, he acquitted himself well.

The proceedings in the Senate simply consisted of selecting the statutory officers, and the nomination of Thomas Flint of Monterey as president pro tem. was seized on by Senator Tirey Ford as an opportunity to pay the San Juan representative a number of neat compliments.

Senator Seawell made the first official move by the Democrats towards seating Budd by presenting a resolution calling on the Senate and Assembly to meet in joint session and canvass the returns.

The action was, however, premature and the resolution went on the table.

GOOD FOR FOUR YEARS.

Controller's office—W. W. Douglass, L. C. Strienning, F. W. Rorer, T. R. Swain, R. P. Roper, J. W. Baker, M. L. Colgan.

Surveyor General—Deputy, T. D. Wright; clerks, C. J. Willey, T. M. Eby, Hy. Williams, C. A. Bump.

SOME BILLS TO COME UP.

Senator Dunn of San Francisco intends to introduce a bill aiming for the suppression of betting. It is very sweeping and makes it a misdemeanor to make a wager on any game of chance. Even boxing, baseball, horse-racing and other popular sports come under the ban.

The principal measure from Los Angeles this time will be in the hands of Senator Mathews. It is a constitutional amendment giving counties the right to issue 3 per cent bonds to be sold at par and to run for forty years for the purpose of constructing State railroads. The amendment does not call for the building of any particular line or for any organization that will immediately pertain thereto. The Senator says it is not an anti-Southern Pacific measure, that is, not in the sense of the many bills introduced with that purpose.

Assemblyman Dodge is mentioned for the chairmanship of the County Government Committee. He says that if he is he will see that steps are taken to cut down the salaries now attached to many of the leading offices. Dodge has got a couple of election bills this time, one calling for a secret ballot in conventions, and the other making it a misdemeanor to resort to trading for the purpose of securing a nomination.

Judge Waymire of Alameda is on the alert for an Irrigation bill that is to come up. Congress, at its last session, passed an Act ceding arid lands to various States. California is thus honored to the extent of 1,000,000 acres, and a bill is to be introduced at this session calling for the disposal of the land at a nominal sum per acre. Judge Waymire, however, will oppose the bill, which, he says, will enable the land to pass into the hands of rich operators, and he will, instead, introduce a bill calling for the appointment of a commission, consisting of the Governor, Controller and Attorney General, to employ an engineer to make surveys and arrangements for irrigating the land in question. He then proposes to have the land leased out in small parcels at so much per acre, the title in perpetuity to remain in the State and the proceeds to be for University and school purposes.

Ex-Attorney General W. H. H. Hart will have an important County Government bill introduced. It calls for a uniform fee system throughout the State and also for a system by which county officers shall be remunerated partly by regular salary and partly by fees. By this means he says the problem of fluctuation of county business will be met. A county which is passing through a period of shrinkage will not be saddled with a lot of expensive officials, whereas, on the other hand, if the business increases, the multiplication of the fees will permit the hiring of all the deputies needed.

PERSONALS AND NOTES.

Ed Pringle of East Oakland was given the full Democratic complimentary vote of fifteen for one of the statutory offices in the House. Felix Mulgrew got the same consideration.

Al Baker of Oakland was given the place of assistant file clerk as a sop for having been sidetracked in his fight for assistant sergeant-at-arms. He will draw $4 a day.

Dan Burns is expected tomorrow (Wednesday).

Leslie Blackburn was formally installed today as sergeant-at-arms of the Senate. Tom Rodgers turned over the keys to him and gave him the combination to the safe and a few pointers on how to satisfy everybody.

Mal Dillon is among the many who are hoping that the flotsam and jetsam will bring something their way.

Senator Hart of Sacramento has decided that he does not want the Committee on Education. It will go to Senator Tirey Ford.

Colonel Thomas F. Garrity is here to defend McDonald in his contest with Collins.

HATTON.

Republicans Will Assemble This Evening.

Perkins Says He Only Needs Four Votes.

Special to The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, January 9. — Senator Perkins arrived today to personally participate in his campaign. He is domiciled at the Golden Eagle here. I interviewed him this afternoon.

"I am of the same opinion that I had at election time," he said, "and that is that I will win.

"I was practically the only candidate mentioned and was indorsed throughout the State.

"Of all the personal assurances and pledges I received the only one I know of that has fallen down is Robert Gay of Oakland.

"He now says, I believe, that he is not bound by any expression of opinion he has made heretofore.

"Congressman Bowers is not in the fight. He personally assured me he would not be and said that if he was required, he would come on from Washington to help me.

"I know though, that his name is being mentioned so as to draw sectional strength from me."

The issue, however, will be made tonight, when a Republican caucus will be held on the Senatorial proposition.

The call is at present signed by forty-seven, and there may be others before evening comes.

"The Republicans should, of course, abide by the issue of this caucus, as it will be representative of their party.

"I am aware that some Republicans will not come, but they are counted, and if they do not choose to attend I do not see how they can afterwards vote for any other candidate in open session.

"As near as I can tell you, my positive strength is 57 votes and has been all along.

"This left four votes to be obtained and I am not afraid to face issue on that score.

"As far as this talk of Democrats voting for De Young is concerned, I am sure many of them would vote for me, though I am not seeking election that way, but on my party issue.

"Of course I will be glad to get their votes too, as when I go to Washington I will endeavor to represent the interests of the State as well as the party."

HATTON.

The Joint Session Resolution Again Laid on the Table.

CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The Gubernatorial contention cropped out in the Senate this morning the first thing after that body was called to order.

Seawell, Democrat, offered a concurrent resolution calling for a joint session of the Senate and Assembly tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of canvassing and publishing the election returns for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Voorhels, Rep., spoke in favor of laying on the table. He said that it had been agreed among the Republicans that a resolution similar in purport was to be introduced in the Assembly today, and it was desired to act upon the Assembly resolution.

Seawall argued that it was proper that such a resolution should emanate from the Senate, and he urged the adoption of his resolution.

IN THE ASSEMBLY.

The Gubernatorial Contest Thought to Be Settled.

CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The first business of the Assembly this morning was to receive Governor Markham's last message, which was presented by the Governor's secretary at 11 o'clock.

The reading of the message was dispensed with and a thousand copies were ordered printed for the use of members.

Thomas presented a concurrent resolution providing for a meeting of the Senate and Assembly at 2 P. M. tomorrow, for the purpose of canvassing and publishing the returns of the election for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Adopted without a dissenting voice.

The resolution provides for the appointment of a joint committee of three members, from each House to confer with the Governor-elect and Lieutenant Governor-elect for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for their inauguration.

This agreement was reached in the caucus of the Republican Assemblymen this morning and it is not believed that any opposition will be offered in the Senate.

COLLINS' CONTEST.

It Was Called Up This Afternoon by the Speaker.

SACRAMENTO, January 9.—When the House reassembled at 2 o'clock, the contest of McDonald's seat by Collins, Republican candidate from the Forty-ninth district, Alameda county, was announced by Speaker Lynch.

DEMOCRATS CONFER.

SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The Democratic members of the Assembly were in conference with Governor-elect Budd, this afternoon, just after adjournment of the Assembly.

The object of the conference was to organize against any surprise that may be sprung by the Republicans in relation to Budd's inauguration, in order to act quickly and in concert.

It is understood that the Democrats were somewhat worried over the fact that duplicate returns have been sent in from Fresno and Alameda counties.

It has since been learned that the extra returns from Alameda county are to be used in the contest of the seat of McDonald, Democrat, but the object of double returns from Fresno is not known.

MILLARD IS BETTER.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., January 9.—Lieutenant Governor Millard's condition is better this morning than at any time since he was taken seriously ill.

"THE BULLETIN" SOLD.

It Was Purchased by R. A. Crothers for $35,500.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 9.—The Evening Bulletin was sold this morning by United States Court Commissioner Heacock.

There were only three bids.

Thomas Magee, for George K. Fitch, offered $30,000; C. M. Shortridge, the new proprietor of the Call, bid $35,000; and Crothers bid $35,500. There being no further bidding, he secured the oldest paper in the city.

OLIVE CONSUMPTION.

The Demand in the United States is Increasing.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The consumption of olives in the United States is increasing rapidly, as a result of the immigration of large numbers of people from Southern Europe.

The United States Consul at Cadiz, Spain, in a report to the State Department, shows the value of olives sent to the United States from one province of Seville, last year, was $326,884 and the quantity about 150,000 bushels.

This year's crop is about 25 per cent short.

The Consul says the duty of 20 per cent imposed by the new Tariff bill will not materially affect the volume of imports and the Treasury will be a clear gainer by the amount.

A Big Firm Assigns.

A TEST.

Currency Bill Is Knocked Out.

A Preliminary Skirmish on the Measure.

Republicans Stood Solid With the Democratic Opponents.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The special rule to bring the Currency bill to a vote was defeated on ayes and nays.

There was a good attendance on the floor of the House when Speaker Crisp rapped the gavel today, as notice had been given that the special order to terminate the debate on the Currency bill would be reported from the Committee on Rules, and the prevailing belief was that the fate of the bill would be determined today.

It provided for closing general debate and consideration of the Springer substitute as original bill under the five minute rule today, tomorrow and Friday until 2:05 P. M., the bill and pending amendments to be reported to the House for final vote Saturday immediately after the morning hour.

Some confusion was caused by a volley of questions from members which followed Outhwaite's demands, the members being anxious to ascertain the status of the amendments after the adoption of the order.

Springer, chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, assured the gentlemen there would be no disposition to shut out members.

Outhwaite made a brief speech urging the necessity for closing the debate on the Currency bill and for the disposing of it in order that more pressing measures like the Nicaragua canal bill might be considered.

Bland wanted to know if the opportunity to offer an amendment to strike out the enacting clause (which would kill the bill) would be given.

Outhwaite said the rule discriminated against no amendment, and Springer again assured the House there would be no disposition to cut off members with amendments.

Bland was not satisfied and insisted that a provision be inserted in the rule, or an agreement be had by which a vote could be had on his amendment.

Reed, in some caustic remarks, said he thought the situation a very unfortunate one.

"We seem to be deliberating here," said he, "as to the proper method of getting rid of this bill. It is unfortunate if we are to hope for remedial legislation."

He agreed with his colleague, Dingley, that Sections 9 and 10, relating to State banks, which were vital, should be first considered. However, he said, Republicans washed their hands of responsibility and he did not know whether they ought to interfere or not.

After some further wrangling, during which Bland and others loudly protested that the adoption of the rule would cut them off, Outhwaite regretted all suggestions for amending the rule and demanded the previous question.

The Republicans voted solidly with the Democratic opponents of the measure against ordering the previous question, and it was defeated on a rising vote of 92 to 101.

Among the Democrats who voted against the ordering of the previous question were Cockrell of Texas, McGann of Illinois, Hooker of Mississippi, Ellis of Kentucky, Money of Mississippi, Bailey of Texas, Bland and Hall of Missouri, Holman of Indiana.

The supporters of the bill made a desperate effort to secure a majority on the roll call, but the previous question was again rejected by 124 to 120.

McCreary, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, moved to go into a Committee of the Whole, for the consideration of the Diplomatic Appropriation bill and it was carried without a division.

The Currency bill has been abandoned, at least temporarily, to give its supporters an opportunity to reform their lines.

It had all happened so quickly it was some time before the members were able to realize that the struggle was over.

The Appropriation Has Only Been Cut Slightly.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The Indian Appropriation bill has been nearly completed by the House Committee on Indian Affairs and may be reported this week.

Slight reductions have been made in nearly all the items, so the total will be about $200,000 less than the appropriations of last year.

WILLING TO COMPROMISE.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs today again postponed the final consideration of the resolution providing for a ballistic test of the Carnegie armor plates, and also the bill for the reorganization of the personnel of the navy.

The postponement of the armor plate resolution was due to a statement that Carnegie had made an application to the Secretary of the Navy for a settlement.

It was stated that Carnegie's proposition is to remove the armor plates alleged to be defective and subject them to the required test and replace them at his own expense.

The Charges Against Him to Be Investigated Monday.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The consideration of the charges against Judge Ricks of Cleveland was postponed today by the House Judiciary Committee until Monday next, as the attendance today was one short of a quorum. The charges preferred by the Cleveland Labor Union will be first taken up.

The charges of Samuel J. Ritchie against the Canadian Copper Company will not be considered by the committee until the first case has been disposed of.

Judging by the expressions of several committeemen there is a doubt as to whether Ritchie's case will be deemed worthy of serious investigation.

IN THE SENATE.

The Deficiency Bill to Come Up Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, January 9. — Harris, just selected for another term of six years in the Senate, has returned to Washington, and was warmly congratulated by his colleagues, when he appeared in the Chamber today.

Ex-Senator Edmunds also visited the scene of his old duties.

Cockrell, from the Appropriation Committee, reported the Urgency Deficiency bill and it was placed on the calendar. Cockrell gave notice that he would call it up tomorrow.

Replying to Quay, Cockrell said that there had been no amendments by the committee to any portion of the bill relating to the income tax.

They Come in for Some Abuse in London.

LONDON, January 9.—The meeting last evening of the Meat and Cattle section of the London Chamber of Commerce has served to bring out a storm of jealous abuse of American meat and American business methods.

The Daily Telegraph states that the American beef kings, after half ruining British husbandry, now coolly propose to take an additional million from the British traders and consumers. This statement is repeated on all sides.

Last night's meeting was to protest against the attempt of American shippers to abolish the customary trade allowance of a pound in every quarter of meat, to compensate for the loss by shrinkage, etc.

AFTER THE HOBOS.

A Safety Committee Organized at Santa Ana.

SANTA ANA, Cal., January 9.—A meeting was held here last night by a large number of citizens to devise some means of protecting this locality from depredations that are being committed by the hobo and criminal element.

The meeting resulted in the appointment of a committee called the Committee of Safety, to propose plans of organization.

The criminal element is flocking here to such an extent that the citizens feel compelled to do something to protect their property and their families. Many of the most prominent residents of the city are acting with the Committee of Safety.

TO SUSPEND HIM.

The Governor of Bitlis May Have to Retire.

LONDON, January 9.—A correspondent of the Standard at Constantinople telegraphs that he has heard that the Sultan requested Great Britain to disavow the speech recently made by Gladstone to the Anglo-Armenia deputation that visited him at Hawarden.

The English, French and Russian Governments have asked the Porte to suspend the Governor of Bitlis, who is held mainly responsible for the Sassoun massacre, until the commission of inquiry shall have concluded its labors.

Elliott Goes to Prison.

CHICAGO, January 9.—Director M. E. Elliott of the American Railway Union surrendered today, and was taken to jail in McHenry county to serve a sentence in the strike contempt case.

Death of an Author.

Philip Boogar, the aged capitalist, was shot last evening, shortly after 7 o'clock, by his wife's father, Michael Collins. After lingering and suffering in great pain, the injured man died at 12:25 o'clock today in his room at the Galindo. The shooting occurred on Eighth street, in front of the hotel.

So far as known, nobody saw the shooting. The first intimation that anything was wrong was conveyed to people in the neighborhood by the reports of two p stol shots, fired in rapid succession, nearly opposite the entrance to the Galindo. The reports and the flashes, in an instant, drew a hundred people to the scene. The crowd swelled as the time advanced, but all they could see having any connection with the assault was Collins, walking eastwardly on Eighth street, and old man Boogar, pressing his hand to his left side, groaning, and attempting to make his way up the long flight of stairs leading to the hotel.

Boogar was aided in this effort by a young man named Price, whom the reports of the pistol attracted from a saloon to the street. As Price appeared on the walk Collins was standing a few feet away with a smoking revolver in his hand. Boogar was tottering toward the entrance. Price put several questions to him concerning the assault and received from the old man the information that he had been shot by Collins.

The injured man was aided to ascend to his apartment, room 41, in the Galindo, where he was put to bed. Drs. J. A. Miller and Theodore Olmstead were summoned. These gentlemen made an examination and found that one bullet had penetrated the left side of the body between the ninth and tenth ribs, had perforated some of the intestines and that internal hemorrhage had resulted. The second bullet had missed its mark. It was apparent to them after the examination that the injured man could not survive.

The news of the shooting traveled with great rapidity, and in a short time, District Attorney Snook and his deputy, L. S. Church, appeared for the purpose of taking an ante-mortem statement, if such should prove necessary. They discovered, however, that Boogar did not believe he was going to die, so that the taking of the statement had to be abandoned. The attorneys, therefore, left the chamber.

Dr. Miller, however, informed them that he would render an ultimatum, as to the effect of the wound, at midnight, and that he would tell the patient what would be the result of his injuries.

In the meantime Police Officers Banks and Stokes had arrived on the scene without. They ascertained from Manuel Peterson, who had seen the flashes from a distance, that the assailant had approached Boogar from Franklin street and after the affray had returned in that direction; also that the assailant is the father of Mrs. Boogar, at whose residence at the corner of Eighth and Franklin streets, he has been residing for some time. Banks went to the residence, found Collins in the front room looking out upon the scene of the shooting. Collins still had a pistol in his hand. He was placed under arrest and taken to the City Jail, where he assumed an attitude of stolid indifference and refused to speak on the subject.

The wounded man suffered excruciating pains. He gradually lost strength, and, when the midnight hour approached, the doctors announced that he was sinking rapidly. Deputy District Attorney Church and Frank P. Thwaites were summoned. Boogar told Mr. Church that he did not expect to survive his injuries and made the following dying statement:

"I, Philip Boogar, fully believing that I am about to die as a result of wounds inflicted this day by one Collins, do hereby make the following statement. This statement is made in view of immediate death and without any hope of recovery on my part. At the time of making this statement I have abandoned all hope of recovery and I make the same without any hope of recovery whatever, and under the full belief that I am about to die and under full sense of impending dissolution:

"It looks as if I am going to die—I don't have any hope of living; I think I am going to die; my wife's father shot me; Michael Collins shot me; when he shot me he was within four steps away from me; did not have any pistol with me at the time; I did not know what he was going to do when he came up to me, the first thing he did was to pull the pistol on me; he was standing right in front of me at the time and he fired two shots; one of them struck me right in the body; he did not say anything at the time, nor did he say anything during the shooting; I turned immediately and walked upstairs; the first I knew that he was there was when he fired the shot; he did not give any warning at all; he did not say anything at all; he was very close to me when he shot; he was within three feet of me; he held the pistol right up to me and I pushed him away; I pushed him before he fired the second shot; he had the pistol up against me when I pushed him away; when he fired the first shot he put the pistol right up to my belly; I have no idea that I am going to live, and believing that I am going to die and I make the foregoing statement without any hope of recovery, whatever, and under a full sense of immediate death.

"Dated January 9, 1895.

Just as the statement was signed Collins was brought to Boogar's room and identified by Boogar as the man by whom he had been shot.

After the making of the statement he was left to the care of the physicians and nurse. This morning at 5 o'clock, on instructions from P. F. Benson, Boogar's attorney, Dr. Paterson of this city took hold of the case.

There were five physicians in attendance on the injured man during the day. Efforts were directed toward relieving the sufferings of the aged victim, but no attempt was made to locate the bullet. The wound was pronounced fatal, as the bullet had penetrated the vitals and cut the intestines. An operation was performed this morning but without avail. The old man continued to sink slowly until he finally died at 12:25 o'clock today.

Boogar left a will, which is now in a safe deposit vault in this city. While its contents are not definitely known, it is stated that he failed to recognize his wife as a beneficiary. The will was made during the past year. It is believed that he left the bulk of his property to Mrs. Whittemore of Napa, an adopted daughter. She is a niece by a former marriage of the deceased capitalist, but was reared by him from her youth.

Coroner Baldwin will hold an inquest tomorrow. The post mortem examination will be conducted at the Morgue this afternoon. The body was removed there as soon as the Coroner was notified of the death.

The latter, when questioned on the subject, said that her father had been acting strangely of late, that he had been worked up by affidavits recently made by Boogar, in which the latter assailed her character. She also stated that her father felt that Boogar would assault him and that she had advised him to be on his guard to protect himself.

Boogar is 70 years of age, and his assailant, though a more active and hardy man, has the same number of years to his credit.

The troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Boogar are manifold. She has accused her husband of trying to poison her. He has made a similar charge against her. She has also tried to make it appear that he is insane, but has been unsuccessful in the attempt. At present she is proceeding for a divorce against him and the manner in which he has sought to disprove the allegations in the complaint, as also show up certain alleged irregularities in her career, has occasioned a great deal of intense feeling both on the part of Mrs. Boogar and her father and son against Mr. Boogar.

A MURDERER ESCAPES.

Although Supposed to Be Insane He Was a Clever Worker.

STOCKTON, Cal., January 9.—Antone Vital, the condemned murderer who was a short time ago transferred from San Quentin State Prison, while under sentence of death, to the State Insane Asylum in this city, escaped from the latter institution some time last night and is still at large.

Handicapped as he was by shackles on his hands, he managed to remove the casing from the window, taking out the sash and window weights and used them to break enough of the iron bars to admit of his body passing through.

He evidently covered the weights with the bed clothing in his room so as to deaden the sound. He then took the cord that travels over the pulleys, making a rope of his bed clothes.

A BANK ROBBED.

The Vault Blown Open With Dynamite.

TOLEDO, Ohio, January 9.—The safe in the Merchants' National Bank at Defiance, Ohio, was blown open with dynamite Monday night, and about $25,000 stolen.

The officials were unable to open the vault Tuesday morning but as there was no signs of anyone having been in the bank the night before they thought nothing of it.

An expert was sent for and when he opened the outer door, today, it was discovered that the interior of the safe had been blown up. The loss will not affect the standing of the bank.

A MILL BLOWN UP.

Two Unknowns Were Killed by the Explosion.

AUBURN, Cal., January 9.—The Corning mill at Clipper Gap Powder Works, seven miles from here, blew up at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

One man, a stranger, and an Eastern man were killed.

No one else was hurt.

AN OPEN SWITCH,

A Fast Passenger Wrecked and Two Men Killed.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., January 9.—About 10 o'clock last night the fast passenger train from New Orleans, on the Queen and Crescent route, was badly wrecked four miles south of Alta, by striking an open switch.

The engine turned over.

Great Britain Is After a Lone Island.

One of the Hawaiian Group Is Desired.

This chapter is full of interest, inasmuch as it reveals a notable difference of opinion between Admiral Walker and United States Minister Willis regarding the necessity of keeping the United States warships at Honolulu as long as the British Government keeps a man-of-war there.

In the second place it discloses the effort being made by the British Government, with the consent of the Hawaiian authorities, to secure a lease of an island of the Hawaiian group, to be useda as a cable station.

"Senate and House of Representatives: I submit herewith certain dispatches from our Minister at Hawaii, and documents which accompanied the same.

"They disclose the fact that the Hawaiian Government desires to lease to Great Britain one uninhabited island belonging to Hawaii as a station for a submarine telegraph cable to be laid from Canada to Australia, with connection between the island leased and Honolulu.

Both the Government of Hawaii and representatives of Great Britain in this negotiation concede their proposed lease cannot be effected without consent of the United States, for the reason in our reciprocity treaty with the King of Hawaii, he agreed as long as the said treaty remained in force, he would not lease or otherwise dispose of or create any lien upon any port, harbor or other territory in his dominion or grant any special privilege or rights of use therein to any other State or Government.

"At the request of the Hawaiian Government this subject is laid before Congress for its determination upon the question of so modifying the treaty agreement above recited as to permit the proposed lease.

"It will be seen that the correspondence, which is submitted, between Hawaii and the British, that the negotiators negatives the existence on the part of Hawaii of any suspicion of British friendliness or fear of British aggression.

"Attention of Congress is directed to the following statement contained in a communication addressed to the Hawaiian Governments by representatives of Great Britain:

"We propose to inform the British Government of your inquiry whether they will accept the sovereignty of Neckar Island or some other uninhabited island on condition that no subsidy is required from you. As we explained, we have not felt at liberty to entertain that question ourselves, as we were definitely instructed not to ask for sovereignty of any island, but only for a lease, simply for the purpose of a cable.

"Some of the dispatches from our minister, which are submitted, not only refer to a project for leasing the uninhabited island belonging to Hawaii, but contain interesting information concerning recent occurrences in that country and its political and social condition.

"This information is valuable because it is based upon observation and knowledge necessarily within the scope of the diplomatic duties which are entrusted solely to the charge of this intelligent diplomatic officer representing the United States Government at Hawaii.

I hope Congress will see fit to grant the request of the Hawaiian Government and our consent to the proposed lease to be accorded.

"It seems we might not by refusal of request stand in the way of advantages to be gained by isolated Hawaii through telegraphic communication with the rest of the world, and especially in view of the fact that our own communication with that country would thereby be so improved without apparent detriment to any legitimate to American interests."

THE WEBER MURDER.

A Sensational Story Told About Some Drunks.

SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The Bee has a startling story in connection with the Weber murder. It says when Weber and wife were murdered on December 29th the murderers left bloody clothing in a back yard, donning suits from Weber's wardrobe and taking the train for San Francisco early the next morning.

New Year's eve ten drunks were placed in one cell and discharged the next day. Later a trusty found, under the seat in the toilet, a lady's gold watch, which Captain Lees identified as the property of the murdered woman.

Weber's son confirmed the identification.

A Prosecution Suspended.

BERLIN, January 9.—At today's session of the Reichstag a motion was adopted suspending the prosecution of Herr Stadthagen, Socialist member. The debate on the anti-Revolution bill was then taken up.

Dr. Rodgers of the First Presbyterian Church.

HEAVY DAMAGES

Big Claim Filed Against the Guatemalans.

The United States May Appear as an Arbitrator.

There promises to be a preliminary hitch, which will take many months to to settle.

It is evidently the policy of the Guatemalan Government to gain time by raising multitudinous questions to block the progress of the case, so the prospective settlement is a long way off.

Both sides evince a stubborn disposition to carry their points.

Senor De Leon is constantly engaged in correspondence with Senator Zaza Y. Arriga, Guatemalan representative at Washington, presumably looking to the United States stepping in to assume the role of arbitrator.

GOING ABROAD.

Fond Farewell to Father McSweeney Tonight.

Rev. Thomas McSweeney, the energetic and popular pastor of the Church of St. Francis de Sales, at the corner of Grove and Hobart streets, will leave tomorrow on a trip abroad, and will be absent perhaps a year.

Father McSweeney's trip is not undertaken for the purpose of deriving pleasure in revisiting old scenes, but to rebuild a physique and recall sight, both of which have been, in a measure, impaired by the extraordinary devotion to duty, which has characterized the gentleman since he assumed the pastorate of St. Francis. He has earned the relaxation and rest which his friends have impelled him to take, and his return, with health restored, will be awaited with interest by many admirers.

For the purpose of bidding Father McSweeney good-by, there will be a reception in St. Francis' Hall, immediately north of the church, tonight at 7:30 o'clock, to which parishioners and citizens will be welcome. The reception proper will be preceded by a short programme of literary and musical features.

Thomas White, gardener at Jefferson Park, was dismissed last night by the Board of Public Works upon the recommendation of Superintendent of Streets Harrison. White was accused of general incompetency, and disobedience of orders. He was suspended last Saturday, but refused to deliver the keys of the toolhouse of the park. Superintendent Harrison secured admittance and removed the appliances. White was requested to resign, but refused, and charges were subsequently preferred against him.

The board also ordered the carrying out of various resolutions of the Council, ordering street work. The Superintendent of Streets was ordered to resume the sweeping of streets by hand, on Friday night.

ON HIS TRACK.

He Has Failed to Meet His Successor.

His Bondsmen Are Now Out Looking for Him.

PIERRE, S. D., January 9.—The alleged failure of W. H. Taylor, the outgoing State Treasurer, to turn over the office to his successor yesterday, has started rumors flying of an investigation.

Taylor seemingly cannot be located, but his bank at Redfield closed its doors last evening, and he is alleged to be short a large amount of State funds.

Just how much cannot be now learned.

It is reported that about $250 000 should be on hand, but Public Examiner Meirs has not been able to secure a statement where the funds were deposited since last April.

The preliminary examination of C. A. Chittenden, W. J. Parker, W. S. McCormick and L. B. Clarke, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses in connection with a lodging-house sale to Mrs. Matilda R. Tufts, was resumed in the Police Court this morning before Judge Wood. The charges grow out of the sale of the Brunswick House at Sixth and Howard streets, San Francisco, to Mrs. Tufts in exchange for a Napa county ranch, valued at $4000. Mrs. Tufts claimed that the defendants had conspired to defraud her and caused their arrest.

Mrs. V. A. Brown, a landlady of the house, was on the witness stand this morning, but there was nothing new adduced from her testimony.

Regained Her Sight.

After seven months of total blindness, Miss Ella Woolley of Lorin has miraculously regained her sight. Miss Woolley resides with her mother. Seven months ago, after graduating from the Fabiola Hospital as nurse, she went to Virginia City, Nev., for her health. One night she went to bed and next morning awoke to blindness. Her eyes had completely lost the sense of sight. She was brought home to Lorin and placed under the care of physicians, but they gave the case up as hopeless, and Miss Woolley became resigned to her lot. Monday evening she retired as usual. Yesterday morning she awoke at 7 o'clock, and to her amazement was able to see. Vision had come in the night.

FIVE BULLETS.

Again, the familiar form and features of C. R. Bennett, late secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Vice, are attracting attention in the Superior Court.

His appearance proved a great drawing card, and the attendance of spectators, as a consequence, was larger than has been seen in the court for many a day.

The jury in the case comprises the following: G. M. Naismith, Dennis O'Neill, O. Knox, Thomas Walker, John Gunnip, Andrew H. Schou, J. A. Andrews, H. P. Winegar, D. W. Standeford, S. L. Bixby, E. G. Rhodes and C. W. Becker.

The opening address was made by Deputy District Attorney Lin S. Church, who has as associate counsel Colonel Kowalsky of San Francisco.

The first witness on the stand was C. F. Benjamin, who was acting as gateman on the car of the broad-gauge train on which the assault took place in May of last year. He testified to the facts of the shooting by Bennett at Gray, when the latter had retired to the rear of the car, after he had driven Bennett out of the car by firing four bullets at him.

On cross-examination the witness described the relative positions of Gray and Bennett in the car, how the latter had been driven to the platform and how he had immediately returned to the car and then fired once at Gray. The defense got him to show the height of the gates on the platform, with a view of trying to establish the fact that it would be impossible, because of that height, for a person pursued, to jump over them while the train was in motion.

The theory of Bennett's attorney seems to be that he fled for safety, and that when he found he could not jump off the train without endangering his life he returned to the car and, supposing that Gray was premeditating another assault, fired at him in self-defense.

Parties having incomplete sets of "Glimpses of America" will please call at THE TRIBUNE office or send in order for missing numbers at once. A limited number of parts up to 31 are now ready for delivery, and missing parts may be secured by leaving application at the office. Orders by mail must be accompanied by postage at the rate of 1 cent for each number.

BOOGAR KILLED.

His Slayer, the Father of Mrs. Boogar.

Philip Boogar, the aged capitalist, was shot last evening, shortly after 7 o'clock, by his wife's father, Michael Collins. After lingering and suffering in great pain, the injured man died at 12:25 o'clock today in his room at the Galindo. The shooting occurred on Eighth street, in front of the hotel.

So far as known nobody saw the shooting. The first intimation that anything was wrong was conveyed to people in the neighborhood by the reports of two pistol shots, fired in rapid succession, nearly opposite the entrance to the Galindo. The reports and the flashes, in an instant, drew a hundred people to the scene. The crowd swelled as the time advanced, but all they could see having any connection with the assault was Collins walking eastwardly on Eighth street, and old man Boogar, pressing his hand to his side, groaning, and attempting to make his way up the long flight of stairs leading to the hotel.

Boogar was aided in this effort by a young man named Price, whom the reports of the pistol attracted from a saloon to the street. As Price appeared on the walk Collins was standing a few feet away with a smoking revolver in his hand. Boogar was tottering toward the entrance. Price put several questions to him concerning the assault and received from the old man the information that he had been shot by Collins.

The injured man was aided to ascend to his apartment, room 11, in the Galindo, where he was put to bed. Drs. J. A. Miller and Theodore Olmstead were summoned. These gentlemen made an examination and found that one bullet had penetrated the left side of the body between the ninth and tenth ribs, had perforated some of the intestines and that internal hemorrhage had resulted. The second bullet had missed its mark. It was apparent to them after the examination that the injured man could not survive.

The news of the shooting traveled with great rapidity, and in a short time, District Attorney Snook and his deputy, L. S. Church, appeared for the purpose of taking an ante-mortem statement, if such should prove necessary. They discovered, however, that Boogar did not believe he was going to die, so that the taking of the statement had to be abandoned. The attorneys therefore left the chamber.

Dr. Miller, however, informed them that he would render an ultimatum, as to the effect of the wound, at midnight, and that he would tell the patient what would be the result of his injuries.

In the meantime Police Officers Banks and Stokes had arrived on the scene without. They ascertained from Manuel Peterson, who had seen the flashes from a distance, that the assailant had approached Boogar from Franklin street and after the affray had returned in that direction, also that the assailant is the father of Mrs. Boogar, at whose residence at the corner of Eighth and Franklin streets, he has been residing for some time. Banks went to the residence, found Collins in the front room looking out upon the scene of the shooting. Collins still had a pistol in his hand. He was placed under arrest and taken to the City Jail, where he assumed an attitude of stolid indifference and refused to speak on the subject.

The wounded man suffered excruciating pains. He gradually lost strength, and, when the midnight hour approached the doctors announced that he was sinking rapidly. Deputy District Attorney Church and Frank P. Hawkes were summoned. Boogar told Mr. Church that he did not expect to survive his injuries and made the following dying statement:

"I, Philip Boogar, fully believing that I am about to die as a result of wounds inflicted this day by one Collins, do hereby make the following statement. This statement is made in view of immediate death and without any hope of recovery on my part. At the time of making this statement I have abandoned all hope of recovery and I make the same without any hope of recovery whatever and under the full belief that I am about to die and under full sense of impending dissolution.

"It looks as if I am going to die—I don't have any hope of living. I think I am going to die; my wife's father shot me, Michael Collins shot me, when he shot me he was within four steps away from me; did not have any pistol with me at the time; I did not know what he was going to do when he came up to me. the first thing he did was to pull the pistol on me, he was standing right in front of me at the time and he fired two shots; one of them struck me right in the body; he did not say anything at the time, nor did he say anything during the shooting, I turned immediately and walked upstairs, the first I knew that he was there was when he fired the shot, he did not give any warning at all; he did not say anything at all; he was very close to me when he shot, he was within three feet of me; he held the pistol right up to me and I pushed him away; I pushed him before he fired the second shot; he had the pistol up against me when I pushed him away; when he fired the first shot he put the pistol right up to my belly; I have no idea that I am going to live, and believing that I am going to die and I make the foregoing statement without any hope of recovery, whatever, and under a full sense of immediate death.

mark.

"Dated January 9, 1895.

Just as the statement was signed Collins was brought to Boogar's room and identified by Boogar as the man by whom he had been shot.

After the making of the statement he was left to the care of the physicians and nurse. This morning at 5 o'clock, on instructions from P. F. Benson, Boogar's attorney, Dr. Paterson of this city took hold of the case.

There were two physicians in attendance on the injured man during the day. Efforts were directed toward relieving the sufferings of the aged victim, but no attempt was made to locate the bullet. The wound was pronounced fatal, as the bullet had penetrated the vitals and cut the intestines. An operation was performed this morning but without avail. The old man continued to sink slowly until he finally died at 12:25 o clock today.

Boogar left a will, which is now in a safe deposit vault in this city. While its contents are not definitely known, it is stated that he failed to recognize his wife as a beneficiary. The will was made during the past year. It is believed that he left the bulk of his property to Mrs. Whittemore of Napa, an adopted daughter. She is a niece by a former marriage of the deceased capitalist, but was reared by him from her youth.

Coroner Baldwin will hold an inquest tomorrow. The post mortem examination will be conducted at the Morgue this afternoon. The body was removed there as soon as the Coroner was notified of the death.

The latter, when questioned on the subject, said that her father had been acting strangely of late, that he had been worked up by affidavits recently made by Boogar, in which the latter assailed her character. She also stated that her father felt that Boogar would assault him and that she had advised him to be on his guard to protect himself.

Boogar is 70 years of age, and his assailant, though a more active and hardy man, has the same number of years to his credit.

The troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Boogar are manifold. She has accused her husband of trying to poison her. He has made a similar charge against her. She has also tried to make it appear that he is insane, but has been unsuccessful in the attempt. At present she is proceeding for a divorce against him and the manner in which he has sought to disprove the allegations in the complaint, as also show up certain alleged irregularities in her career, has occasioned a great deal of intense feeling both on the part of Mrs. Boogar and her father and son against Mr. Boogar.

A MURDERER ESCAPES.

Although Supposed to Be Insane He Was a Clever Worker.

STOCKTON, Cal., January 9.—Antone Vital, the condemned murderer who was a short time ago transferred from San Quentin State Prison, while under sentence of death, to the State Insane Asylum in this city, escaped from the latter institution some time last night and is still at large.

Handicapped as he was by shackles on his hands, he managed to remove the casing from the window, taking out the sash and window weights and used them to break enough of the iron bars to admit of his body passing through.

He evidently covered the weights with the bed clothing in his room so as to deaden the sound. He then took the cord that travels over the pulleys, making a rope of his bed clothes.

A BANK ROBBED.

The Vault Blown Open With Dynamite.

TOLEDO, Ohio, January 9.—The safe in the Merchants' National Bank at Defiance, Ohio, was blown open with dynamite Monday night, and about $25,000 stolen.

WANT A LEASE.

Great Britain Is After a Lone Island.

One of the Hawaiian Group Is Desired.

This chapter is full of interest, inasmuch as it reveals a notable difference of opinion between Admiral Walker and United States Minister Willis regarding the necessity of keeping the United States warships at Honolulu as long as the British Government keeps a man-of-war there.

In the second place it discloses the effort being made by the British Government, with the consent of the Hawaiian authorities, to secure a lease of an island of the Hawaiian group, to be used as a cable station.

"Senate and House of Representatives: I submit herewith certain dispatches from our Minister at Hawaii, and documents which accompanied the same.

"They disclose the fact that the Hawaiian Government desires to lease to Great Britain one uninhabited island belonging to Hawaii as a station for a submarine telegraph cable to be laid from Canada to Australia, with connection between the island leased and Honolulu.

Both the Government of Hawaii and representatives of Great Britain in this negotiation concede their proposed lease cannot be effected without consent of the United States, for the reason in our reciprocity treaty with the King of Hawaii, he agreed as long as the said treaty remained in force, he would not lease or otherwise dispose of or create any lien upon any port, harbor or other territory in his dominion or grant any special privilege or rights of use therein to any other State or Government.

"At the request of the Hawaiian Government this subject is laid before Congress for its determination upon the question of so modifying the treaty agreement above recited as to permit the proposed lease.

"It will be seen that the correspondence, which is submitted, between Hawaii and the British, that the negotiators negatives the existence on the part of Hawaii of any suspicion of British friendliness or fear of British aggression.

"Attention of Congress is directed to the following statement contained in a communication addressed to the Hawaiian Governments by representatives of Great Britain:

"We propose to inform the British Government of your inquiry whether they will accept the sovereignty of Neckar Island or some other uninhabited island on condition that no subsidy is required from you. As we explained, we have not felt at liberty to entertain that question ourselves, as we were definitely instructed not to ask for sovereignty of any island, but only for a lease, simply for the purpose of a cable.

"Some of the dispatches from our minister, which are submitted, not only refer to a project for leasing the uninhabited island belonging to Hawaii, but contain interesting information concerning recent occurrences in that country and its political and social condition.

"This information is valuable because it is based upon observation and knowledge necessarily within the scope of the diplomatic duties which are entrusted solely to the charge of this intelligent diplomatic officer representing the United States Government at Hawaii.

I hope Congress will see fit to grant the request of the Hawaiian Government and our consent to the proposed lease to be accorded.

"It seems we might not by refusal of request stand in the way of advantages to be gained by isolated Hawaii through telegraphic communication with the rest of the world, and especially in view of the fact that our own communication with that country would thereby be so improved without apparent detriment to any legitimate American interests."

THE WEBER MURDER.

A Sensational Story Told About Some Drunks.

SACRAMENTO, January 9.—The Bee has a startling story in connection with the Weber murder. It says when Weber and wife were murdered on December 29th the murderers left bloody clothing in a back yard, donning suits from Weber's wardrobe and taking the train for San Francisco early the next morning.

New Year's eve ten drunks were placed in one cell and discharged the next day. Later a trusty found, under the seat in the toilet, a lady's gold watch, which Captain Lees identified as the property of the murdered woman.

Weber's son confirmed the identification.

A Prosecution Suspended.

BERLIN, January 9.—At today's session of the Reichstag a motion was adopted suspending the prosecution of Herr Stadthagen, Socialist member. The debate on the anti-Revolution bill was then taken up.

Cleveland's Nominations

WASHINGTON, January 9.—President Cleveland today sent to the Senate the following nominations: War—Lieutenant Colonel George H. Burton, inspector general, to be colonel and inspector general; Major Peter D. Vroom, inspector general, to be lieutenant and inspector general.

Funeral of Mrs Stevens.

The funeral of Mrs. Tillie L. Stevens, nee Cordes, of Elk Grove, took place yesterday afternoon at Elk Grove. Mrs. Stevens was the only sister of Mrs. Charles P. Visher, and was for a number of years railroad agent at East Oakland. The funeral was largely attended and the floral pieces which were received from the various parts of the State, were many and beautiful. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Rodgers of the First Presbyterian Church.

HEAVY DAMAGES

Big Claim Filed Against the Guatemalans.

The United States May Appear as an Arbitrator.

There promises to be a preliminary hitch, which will take many months to to settle.

It is evidently the policy of the Guatemalan Government to gain time by raising multitudinous questions to block the progress of the case, so the prospective settlement is a long way off.

Both sides evince a stubborn disposition to carry their points.

Senor De Leon is constantly engaged in correspondence with Senator Zaza Y. Arriga, Guatemalan representative at Washington, presumably looking to the United States stepping in to assume the role of arbitrator.

GOING ABROAD.

Fond Farewell to Father McSweeney Tonight.

Rev. Thomas McSweeney, the energetic and popular pastor of the Church of St Francis de Sales, at the corner of Grove and Hobart streets, will leave tomorrow on a trip abroad, and will be absent perhaps a year.

Father McSweeney's trip is not undertaken for the purpose of deriving pleasure in revisiting old scenes, but to rebuild a physique and recall sight, both of which have been, in a measure, impaired by the extraordinary devotion to duty, which has characterized the gentleman since he assumed the pastorate of St. Francis. He has earned the relaxation and rest which his friends have impelled him to take, and his return, with health restored, will be awaited with interest by many admirers.

For the purpose of bidding Father McSweeney good-by, there will be a reception in St. Francis' Hall, immediately north of the church, tonight at 7:30 o'clock, to which parishioners and citizens will be welcome. The reception proper will be preceded by a short programme of literary and musical features.

LOST HIS JOB.

Gardener Thomas White Charged With Incompetency.

Thomas White, gardener at Jefferson Park, was dismissed last night by the Board of Public Works upon the recommendation of Superintendent of Streets Harrison. White was accused of general incompetency, and disobedience of orders. He was suspended last Saturday, but refused to deliver the keys of the toolhouse of the park. Superintendent Harrison secured admittance and removed the appliances. White was requested to resign, but refused, and charges were subsequently preferred against him.

The board also ordered the carrying out of various resolutions of the Council, ordering street work. The Superintendent of Streets was ordered to resume the sweeping of streets by hand, on Friday night.

TO CONSOLIDATE.

The Council Will Consider a Preliminary Step.

Under the head of unfinished business the Council will tomorrow evening consider a resolution of Councilman Snell creating a commission to commence preliminary work touching the consolidation of Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley and all the territory lying west of the western boundary of San Leandro.

The resolution names as commissioners M. J. Keller, John R. Glascock and W. G. Palmanteer. The purpose is to canvass the field and to ascertain the general feeling with reference to the proposition of consolidation.

A JURY TRIAL.

Case of E. A. Sherman Jr. Set for February Twenty-first.

E. A. Sherman Jr., president of the Alameda County Christian Endeavor Union, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with criminal libel, issued at the instance of Chief of Police Schaffer. Sherman was released on bonds in the sum of $2000. He appeared in the Police Court this morning and was arraigned. Sherman pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. Judge Wood set the case for trial on February 21st. Attorney Ben Morgan will appear for Sherman.

SOUTH SIDE LEAGUE.

Next Friday night another meeting of the South Side Protective League will be held in Buswell Block, at the corner of Fourth street and Broadway, at which a set of by-laws for the government of the league will be adopted.

The committee intrusted with that work is said to be ready to report.

ON HIS TRACK.

He Has Failed to Meet His Successor.

His Bondsmen Are Now Out Looking for Him.

PIERRE, S. D., January 9.—The alleged failure of W. H. Taylor, the outgoing State Treasurer, to turn over the office to his successor yesterday, has started rumors flying of an investigation.

Taylor seemingly cannot be located, but his bank at Redfield closed its doors last evening, and he is alleged to be short a large amount of State funds.

Just how much cannot be now learned.

It is reported that about $350,000 should be on hand, but Public Examiner Mears has not been able to secure a statement where the funds were deposited since last April.

The preliminary examination of C. A. Chittenden, W. J. Parker, W. S. McCormick and L. B. Clarke, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses in connection with a lodging-house sale to Mrs. Matilda R. Tufts, was resumed in the Police Court this morning before Judge Wood. The charges grow out of the sale of the Brunswick House at Sixth and Howard streets, San Francisco, to Mrs Tufts in exchange for a Napa county ranch, valued at $1800. Mrs Tufts claimed that the defendants had conspired to defraud her and caused their arrest.

Mrs. V. A. Brown, a landlady of the house was on the witness stand this morning, but there was nothing new adduced from her testimony.

Regained Her Sight.

After seven months of total blindness, Miss Ella Woolley of Lorin has miraculously regained her sight. Miss Woolley resides with her mother. Seven months ago, after graduating from the Fabiola Hospital as nurse, she went to Virginia City, Nev., for her health. One night she went to bed and next morning awoke to blindness. Her eyes had completely lost the sense of sight. She was brought home to Lorin and placed under the care of physicians, but they gave the case up as hopeless and Miss Woolley became resigned to her lot. Monday evening she retired as usual. Yesterday morning she awoke at 7 o'clock, and to her amazement was able to see. Vision had come in the night.

FIVE BULLETS.

Again, the familiar form and features of C. R. Bennett, late secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Vice, are attracting attention in the Superior Court.

His appearance proved a great drawing card, and the attendance of spectators, as a consequence, was larger than has been seen in the court for many a day.

The jury in the case comprises the following: G. M. Nasmith, Dennis O'Neill, O. Knox, Thomas Walker, John Gunnip, Andrew H. Senoa, J. A. Andrews, H. P. Winegar, D. W. Standeford, S. L. Bixoy, L. G. Rholes and C. W. Becker.

The opening address was made by Deputy District Attorney Lin S. Church, who has as associate counsel Colonel Kowalsky of San Francisco.

The first witness on the stand was C. F. Benjamin, who was acting as gateman on the car of the broad-gauge train on which the assault took place in May of last year. He testified to the facts of the shooting by Bennett at Gray, when the latter had retired to the rear of the car, after he had driven Bennett out of the car by firing four bullets at him.

On cross-examination the witness described the relative positions of Gray and Bennett in the car, how the latter had been driven to the platform and how he had immediately returned to the car and then fired once at Gray. The defense got him to show the height of the gates on the platform, with a view of trying to establish the fact that it would be impossible, because of that height, for a person pursued, to jump over them while the train was in motion.

The theory of Bennett's attorney seems to be that he fled for safety, and that when he found he could not jump off the train without endangering his life he returned to the car and, supposing that Gray was premeditating another assault, fired at him in self-defense.

Parties having incomplete sets of "Glimpses of America" will please call at TRIBUNE office or send in order for missing numbers at once. A limited number of parts up to 31 are now ready for delivery, and missing numbers may be secured by leaving application at the office. Orders by mail must be accompanied by postage at the rate of 1 cent for each number.

CITY FINANCES.

Auditor Snow Making a Semi-Annual Estimate.

Statement of the Condition of Funds.

To Be Submitted to the City Council at Once.

The condition of the city's finances has been receiving considerable attention of late from interested officials. Auditor Snow recently held a conference with the members of the Finance Committee of the Council, the result of which was that the Auditor decided to prepare a statement of the condition of the city's funds which should show what amounts are available for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30th.

This compilation is now being prepared by the Auditor and will be ready for presentation to the Council at its next regular meeting. The statement will be very comprehensive, covering an estimate of the amount required by absolute necessity for the maintenance of the city departments and showing the exact condition of each fund. The statement is intended to be a guide for the Council in outlining the work to be done during the remainder of the year.

The Auditor has examined the books of each department and has ascertained the amount of bills now outstanding against the funds. He has also checked up all the resolutions and ordinances of the Council for several months past which authorize the expenditure of money. When completed, the Auditor's statement will be a sufficient guide to the Council as to the city's finances, which will enable it to make further appropriations without overstepping the limit for the year.

In estimating the probable expenditures for the remainder of the year the Auditor has confined himself solely to the absolute requirements of the department. In his tabulations of the income from taxes, yet to be collected, he has ignored the increased figures of the assessment roll as made by the City Board of Equalization. "I understand," said Mr. Snow, "that the Council has decided not to use the increased figures, hence, I shall ignore them."

While the estimate is not quite complete, the Auditor stated this morning that he was satisfied that there would be enough in each fund to cover the necessary expenditures, the "bread and butter" items, and his statement would show where the Council could make judicious expenditures of the remaining funds.

"I find," said the Auditor, in discussing the semi-annual estimate, "that I shall have to make a new estimate of income, as compared with that of last year. The receipts from liquor and peddlers' licenses and the Police Court are falling somewhat short. Another point in connection with this estimate is the danger that the Council may forget just where it stands. This will give it data. I find the City Engineer has been authorized to do work which will cost $2000 for surveying alone.

"By estimating nothing but the absolute requirements we shall probably have money left in every fund. The question left with the Council is, 'how shall the money remaining be expended and the legal limit not over-reached.'"

A NOVEL PURSE.

Charles A. Webster of Spokane, Wash., who resided in Oakland twenty-six years ago and spends a portion of his time in this State, is the inventor of an ingeniously devised coin-holder, on which he is taking out a patent, and of which there will be numerous designs—some to carry in the pocket, others to be connected with the belt, for children and ladies. It consists of a case, some of them flexible or hinged, between each coin, and long enough to hold several coins, while the slot or opening through the coin-holder admits of the easy passage of the different kinds of coins to pass through from an opening at upper end and down by gravitation in some of them to the lower section, which has an ingeniously contrived circular opening in front and rear which opens out to the lower end and shows about two-thirds of the center of the coin in that section and which can be readily and quickly grasped by the thumb and forefinger and removed at the will of the operator, there being springs (or side pressure) at top, also at lower end to keep coins in place.

CITY FINANCES.

Auditor Snow Making a Semi-Annual Estimate.

Statement of the Condition of Funds.

To Be Submitted to the City Council at Once.

The condition of the city's finances has been receiving considerable attention of late from interested officials. Auditor Snow recently held a conference with the members of the Finance Committee of the Council, the result of which was that the Auditor decided to prepare a statement of the condition of the city's funds which should show what amounts are available for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30th.

This compilation is now being prepared by the Auditor and will be ready for presentation to the Council at its next regular meeting. The statement will be very comprehensive, covering an estimate of the amount required by absolute necessity for the maintenance of the city departments and showing the exact condition of each fund. The statement is intended to be a guide for the Council in outlining the work to be done during the remainder of the year.

The Auditor has examined the books of each department and has ascertained the amount of bills now outstanding against the funds. He has also checked up all the resolutions and ordinances of the Council for several months past which authorize the expenditure of money. When completed, the Auditor's statement will be a sufficient guide to the Council as to the city's finances, which will enable it to make further appropriations without overstepping the limit for the year.

In estimating the probable expenditures for the remainder of the year the Auditor has confined himself solely to the absolute requirements of the department. In his tabulations of the income from taxes, yet to be collected, he has ignored the increased figures of the assessment roll as made by the City Board of Equalization. "I understand," said Mr. Snow, "that the Council has decided not to use the increased figures, hence, I shall ignore them."

While the estimate is not quite complete, the Auditor stated this morning that he was satisfied that there would be enough in each fund to cover the necessary expenditures, the "bread and butter" items, and his statement would show where the Council could make judicious expenditures of the remaining funds.

"I find," said the Auditor, in discussing the semi-annual estimate, "that I shall have to make a new estimate of income, as compared with that of last year. The receipts from liquor and peddlers' licenses and the Police Court are falling somewhat short. Another point in connection with this estimate is the danger that the Council may forget just where it stands. This will give it data. I find the City Engineer has been authorized to do work which will cost $2000 for surveying alone.

"By estimating nothing but the absolute requirements we shall probably have money left in every fund. The question left with the Council is, 'how shall the money remaining be expended and the legal limit not over-reached.'"

A NOVEL PURSE.

Charles A. Webster of Spokane, Wash., who resided in Oakland twenty-six years ago and spends a portion of his time in this State, is the inventor of an ingeniously devised coin-holder, on which he is taking out a patent, and of which there will be numerous designs—some to carry in the pocket, others, to be connected with the belt, for children and ladies. It consists of a case, some of them flexible or hinged, between each coin, and long enough to hold several coins, while the slot or opening through the coin-holder admits of the easy passage of the different kinds of coins to pass through, from an opening at upper end and down by gravitation, in some of them, to the lower section, which has an ingeniously contrived circular opening in front and rear which opens out to the lower end and shows about two-thirds of the center of the coin in that section and which can be readily and quickly grasped by the thumb and forefinger and removed at the will of the operator, there being springs (or side pressure) at top; also at lower end to keep coins in place.

W. H. HAMMON,
Forecast Official.

WEDNESDAY.....JANUARY 9, 1895

CHINA has been playing "fast and loose" with Japan, professing to sue for peace, and using that profession as a blind to conceal her efforts to strengthen her defenses.

POLITICAL corruption, which, according to recent revelations, has attained such astounding proportions in San Francisco, has at last precipitated a crisis in that city's affairs, and a demand is now being made upon the Mayor, by some of the leading citizens, to call a public mass meeting to devise measures of reform.

THE Nantasket and Warren and Bristol branches of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, all of which are short lines, are to be operated hereafter by electricity. These lines do local service like the Seventh street line in this city, accommodating the traffic of a number of small towns in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

THE change in the ownership of the San Francisco Call has resulted in some editorial changes also. John McNaught, who has for four years presided over the editorial page of the San Jose Mercury, has been transferred to the chair of the chief editorial writer of the Call, and Fred L. Foster succeeds him on the Mercury. The latter paper is giving new evidences of prosperity, having added another column to the width of its pages, now carrying eight columns to the page.

"GENERAL" KELLEY, the organizer of tramps, ex-convicts and vagrants into an "Industrial Army," contemplates changing his headquarters to San Francisco to await the opening of spring, when he will head again for Washington. Kelley had better get back again to honest work as soon as he can, even if it involves rock-breaking for a living. To prolong his stay in this community as the leader of vagrants and the preacher of lawless doctrines is fraught with peril to his person, for human patience has a limit, and long-suffering communities are sometimes stirred into action, as is evidenced in the recent conduct of Sacramento.

ONE of the pathetic side scenes to the change that is taking place in the Administration of the State is a Lieutenant Governor-elect so prostrated by a dangerous sickness that the oath of office will have to be administered to him in the room in which he has been lying for some time past in a critical condition, in the presence of a joint committee of the Legislature, specially selected for the purpose. This joint committee will represent the Legislature and will be required to visit Mr. Millard at his Los Angeles home to witness the taking of the oath, in compliance with the law, which provides that the oath shall be taken "in joint session of the Legislature."

THE new Mayor of San Francisco, Adolph Sutro, deals with the question of liquor license in his inaugural address in a clear and intelligent way. The following paragraph is quoted from the inaugural: "Intemperance produces more crime and misery than all other causes combined, and nine-tenths of the cases of intoxication arise from the sale of spirits, for which a high license should be exacted. Wine and beer might be sold at lower license, as they are comparatively innocuous. This has been demonstrated in France, Germany and other countries, where but little intoxication is to be found. Total abstinence cannot be enforced in the larger cities, as experience has abundantly shown."

THE weather prophet presiding over the doings and destinies of the Signal Service station at San Francisco has been wonderfully wide of his mark frequently through the winter in his weather predictions. But he was never more astray than yesterday morning and today. Yesterday his predictions were for fair weather and the rain dropped in derision in sheets. This morning we were promised up to midnight, "occasional rains; somewhat cooler; brisk to high southerly winds." The weather clerk is again laughing at this false weather prophet, for the day opened lovely, the sun warm, the air calm, and no showers in sight. "Forecast Official" W. H. Hammond, is a rank failure as a weather prophet and is a miserable hand at guessing.

The Demand for Cheaper Food.

Cheaper food is the cry nowadays all along the line. It is not restricted to the poor only. It is heard through the domiciles of the middle classes and well up among those who are well to do. The process of industrial and financial re-adjustment has entered largely into domestic economies. How far it extends into the social organism may be better understood when we cite the utterance of a citizen of ample means who has been living in ease and comfort on the proceeds of the snug fortune which he made in the halcyon days of the State, and which is securely invested: "Thirty cents per pound for fish! That is more than three times the price of beef! There is no sense in it! Fish ought to retail at 5 cents per pound."

That citizen expressed two things in his running comments on the price of fish: First—That those who are far above want, as well as those whose means are limited, are taking an active interest in the cost of the necessaries of life. Second—That fish, which is in every other seaboard State the poor man's meat, is inordinately dear here, and owing to its outrageously high price takes rank among the luxuries of the table.

The State and the Federal Governments have been for many years past spending large sums of money in the development of the fisheries of the Pacific coast, so as to make fish food abundant and cheap. The rivers and lakes and bays of the State have been stocked with the best food fishes of Eastern waters. The native food fishes have been protected and propagated for the same purpose. And as a result every river that flows to the sea, every bay that opens on the ocean and every roadstead and shoal on the coast is teeming with the best and largest food fishes of the two great oceans that lave the continent and of the rivers that drain into them. But salmon sells today at the same price per pound at which it was retailed in the flush days of twenty years ago, and the delicious food fishes of Eastern waters that were transplanted here by the State for the poor man's benefit never get beyond the rich man's table and are furnishing a harvest only for the fisherman and the fishmonger.

There is reason in the public demand for cheaper fish as there is in the cry for cheaper bread. The man who casts his nets in the waters gathers the harvest without expense, beyond what is represented in his nets and boat. He pays no rent; nor has he farmed for the harvest. Fish food ought, therefore, to be the cheapest article offered in the markets for domestic consumption, instead of the dearest. There is something radically wrong about the whole business when prime beef is being retailed for one-third the retail price of fish food.

Wage-earners are required to hedge in all domestic expenditures, for they are now compelled to labor for much less than two years ago. The loss which this reduction in the power to earn represents must be divided. The days when fortunes could be made in a few years in trade have gone by. Profits on the necessaries of life must conform to the earning power of the laborer. Beef is cheaper here today, in obedience to that law, than it is in Great Britain; clothing has dropped 50 per cent in three years; house rents are lower; fuel is cheaper; but bread here costs twice as much as it costs in England and in the Eastern States, and fish from five to ten times as much. There is something out of joint somewhere. As to fish food, the State seems to have a duty to perform in connection with it, for inasmuch as the State has been fostering the fisheries, it may be within the line of its duty to determine why its efforts to furnish cheap fish food for the poor in its waters are not fittingly rewarded and to apply an effective remedy. As to bread, also, the State can follow the example of other States and fix the weight of a loaf, which will, in effect, determine the price likewise.

THE pistol is a poor agent for the settlement of personal grievances and legal complications. It may accomplish the removal of some legal obstructions, but it surely erects barriers far more formidable in their stead. The presence of the deadly weapon always makes matters worse, without regard to how bad they may have been before. Only in extreme cases does society justify its use; the grounds for the justification must, however, be unmistakable and the remedy which the law applies either wholly inadequate or immeasurably too slow and uncertain in its operation. But society rightly revolts against the use of the pistol in cold blood for the settlement of civil complications that are adjustable by the ordinary processes of law, no matter who is behind the trigger or who stands before the muzzle. Every lover of law and order will deplore and deprecate its use under such circumstances.

IN his inaugural address Mayor Sutro of San Francisco made the following suggestion in speaking of a new charter which has a local application here in view of an approaching election: "Among the most important provisions should be one for a Board of Public Works, consisting of competent engineers and architects, independent of politics."

RANDOM NOTES.

Berlin claims to be the healthiest large city in the world, but it is not. London has a lower death rate.

Only six persons out of each 1000 live to be 75 years old, and only one reaches the century mark.

At Butte, Mont., a young lady applied for permission to kill her traitor lover. The court said that, while it might be desirable to wipe out such a scoundrel, it had no power to order it to be done except by ordinary legal means.

The engineers appointed by the War Department to determine the greatest practicable length of a span for a suspension bridge report that it is not only possible but practicable to build a six-track suspension bridge, with a span of 3200 feet, at a cost of $23,000,000.

The statistics gathered by the Department of Agriculture at Washington show that during the nine months of 1894, ending September 30th, the farmers and stock raisers of the United States exported to Great Britain more than 300,000 head of beef cattle, of a value of over $26,000,000.

Thackeray's dinner service is offered for sale in London; but it wasn't the service that made the dinners gay.

There are at present eighteen Swedish ladies studying medicine at the Karolinska Institute in Stockholm. Eight of these have passed their examination as candidates of medicine, and one of the latter, Froken Steckstein, has recently been appointed amanuensis at the institute at the pathological and anatomical demonstrations.

The next Congress may turn out to be a little off color, because there will be no colored member in it.

The real estate of Dr. Herz, of Panama Canal notoriety, has been sold and realized 1,348,000 francs.

Opposition to the use of the anti-toxine treatment for diphtheria has already taken an organized form in England. A deputation headed by Lord Coleridge has protested to the authorities against its use in the hospitals on the ground that "public money ought not to be devoted to experiments in psychology."

Better Times.

Better times for Ninety-five!
Don't care what the croakers say—
Country's happy on the way!
Sun's still shinin' round about—
When it's night the stars come out;
An' when they ain't shinin' right,
'Long comes the electric light!
Better times in Ninety-five!

Country's lookin' all serene:
Somewhere, underneath the snow,
There's a daisy that'll grow!
If it's cold, it does us good:
Exercise in choppin' wood!
An' if wood comes purty high,
Summer'll be here by an' by!
Keep on goin'—look alive,
Better times in Ninety-five!

BITS OF GOSSIP.

Queen Margaret of Italy has been presented with a golden bicycle. Now every morning when she and King Umberto go for their spin a big bulldog trots along to protect the golden wheel.

W. H. Sheppard, at the age of 10, was a poor little colored boy in the streets of Waynesboro, Va. Now, at the age of 30, he is a distinguished missionary of the Southern Presbyterian Church, and the only American negro who has ever been made a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

It is not generally known that Inspector Byrnes shares with other well known men real old-fashioned superstitions. The house which he now lives in was, before the Plaza Hotel was finished, numbered "13," and the Inspector would not consent to live in it, although the property was valuable and he was anxious to secure it. At last, by common consent of the neighbors, a change was effected and the number changed. No. 13 became No. 17, and the Byrnes family moved in.

Winkelmann's salary as operatic tenor in Vienna is $10,000 a year for about sixty appearances. Reichmann gets $8800 for six months; Frau Renard, $7200. Frau Schlager, who fifteen years ago received $10 a month as chorus girl, now has $8000 a year at the Imperial Opera.

Editor McDowell of the Mississippi Populist has disappeared, and the paper is suspended. He left the following note to his employes: "I leave two lamps, a bucket and dipper, a coal scuttle, a shovel, a broom, a washpan, a coal oil can, and about 700 pounds of coal. Divide the same between you."

C. M. Gill, '89, Yale's football captain and oarsman, has applied to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church for employment as a missionary to either China or Africa. He was recently staying in a little Maine town in which there was no church, so he shouldered an ax, cut enough timber, built his church, and preached in it.

During his first term as President Mr. Cleveland was quite obliging to autograph hunters, but during the past year he has paid no attention to letters asking for his signature.

Miss Emily Davies, who laid the foundation of Girton College, in 1869, is still living. Mme. Bodichon, who gave the first endowment to Girton ($5000), is dead.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

It is a common belief among women that the moth will not attack any green material, and many of them make it a point to buy stuffs of green dye whenever the color is not incompatible with the purpose for which the material is intended. Green dyes often contain arsenic, and that may account for the antipathy of the moth to the color.

A young woman, who was a passenger on a Sixth avenue car the other day, says the New York Sun, wore thirteen rings on her ungloved left hand. Each finger was laden two or three deep, and on the thumb was a gold band set with colored stones. The rings included a solitaire marquise, a three-stone diamond ring and several diamonds alternating with other precious stones, and an unusually large wedding ring. No one wondered at the young woman's hand being ungloved after the first glance, and she was the cynosure of all feminine eyes as long as she remained in the car.

For the first time a woman has received the degree of Doctor of Literature from London University in the person of Miss Dawes, a graduate of Girton.

The flower bonnet of the hour is a novelty. It usually consists of a single nodding flower, which appears to be growing from the high coil of hair. The bonnet's sole foundation is a soft coil of velvet. The flower is caught at the back. One shows a twist of pink velvet, with an American Beauty rose standing with graceful erectness at the back. Another has a coil of violet velvet and a careless cluster of heliotrope arranged toward the back.

To utilize any good fruit preserves on hand, cherries preferably, a savory little motley cake is made first by beating together four eggs for ten minutes, with a teacup of pulverized sugar, and afterward beat in a cup and a half of flour that has been sifted twice, a half cup of butter just brought to melting, and after mixing thoroughly add a half a pound of the cherries with a teaspoonful of the baking powder. When the cherries are evenly distributed through the batter pour into a cake pan lined with buttered white paper and bake for not longer than an hour and a quarter, trying the while with broom straws.

Lemon Cake—With two-thirds of a cupful of butter cream, two cupfuls of sugar, adding, in this order, the beaten yolks of three eggs, the beaten whites of the same, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, three and a half cupfuls of flour and the juice of one lemon. Two-thirds of a teaspoonful of soda should be sifted into the flour before that is added to the mixture, or it may be beaten in just before the lemon juice is added. Bake in the usual manner. Any plain cake may be flavored with lemon, thus making it in fact, a "lemon cake."

The greatest curiosity in the Queen's stables and harness rooms is a very beautiful set of harness for four horses. It is called "the quill harness," being one mass of the finest embroidery of white quills on black leather. The maker of the set brought an action against the Queen on the question of the price. The case, when fought out, resulted in a favorable verdict for her majesty, but Prince Albert would never allow the harness to be used, and it hangs in glass cupboards in the largest of the many harness rooms.—St. Paul's.

PRIZES ON PATENTS.

We secure patents and to induce people to keep track of their bright ideas we offer a prize of one hundred dollars to be paid on the first of every month to the person who submits to us the most meritorious invention during the preceding month. We will also advertise the invention free of charge in the National Recorder, a weekly newspaper, published in Washington, D. C., which has an extensive circulation throughout the United States and is devoted to the interests of inventors.

NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

The idea of being able to invent something strikes most people as being very difficult: this delusion the Company wishes to dispel. It is the simple things and small inventions that make the greatest amount of money, and the complex ones are seldom profitable. Almost everybody, at some time or another, conceives an idea which, if patented, would probably be worth to him a fortune. Unfortunately such ideas are usually dismissed without thought. The simple inventions like the car window which could be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, the saucepan, the collar button, the nut lock, the bottle stopper, the snow shovel, are things that almost everyone sees some way of improving upon, and it is these kind of inventions that bring the greatest returns to the author.

The prize we offer will be paid at the end of each month, whether the application has been acted upon by the Patent Office or not. Every competitor must apply for a patent on his invention through us, and whether he secures the prize or not, the inventor will have a valuable patent.

W. H. HAMMOND,
Forecast Official.

WEDNESDAY.....JANUARY 9, 1895

CHINA has been playing "fast and loose" with Japan, professing to sue for peace, and using that profession as a blind to conceal her efforts to strengthen her defenses.

POLITICAL corruption, which, according to recent revelations, has attained such astounding proportions in San Francisco, has at last precipitated a crisis in that city's affairs, and a demand is now being made upon the Mayor, by some of the leading citizens, to call a public mass meeting to devise measures of reform.

THE Nantasket and Warren and Bristol branches of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, all of which are short lines, are to be operated hereafter by electricity. These lines do local service like the Seventh street line in this city, accommodating the traffic of a number of small towns in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

THE change in the ownership of the San Francisco Call has resulted in some editorial changes also. John McNaught, who has for four years presided over the editorial page of the San Jose Mercury, has been transferred to the chair of the chief editorial writer of the Call, and Fred L. Foster succeeds him on the Mercury. The latter paper is giving new evidences of prosperity, having added another column to the width of its pages, now carrying eight columns to the page.

"GENERAL" KELLEY, the organizer of tramps, ex-convicts and vagrants into an "Industrial Army," contemplates changing his headquarters to San Francisco to await the opening of spring, when he will head again for Washington. Kelley had better get back again to honest work as soon as he can, even if it involves rock-breaking for a living. To prolong his stay in this community as the leader of vagrants and the preacher of lawless doctrines is fraught with peril to his person, for human patience has a limit, and long-suffering communities are sometimes stirred into action, as is evidenced in the recent conduct of Sacramento.

ONE of the pathetic side scenes to the change that is taking place in the Administration of the State is a Lieutenant Governor-elect so prostrated by a dangerous sickness that the oath of office will have to be administered to him in the room in which he has been lying for some time past in a critical condition, in the presence of a joint committee of the Legislature, specially selected for the purpose. This joint committee will represent the Legislature and will be required to visit Mr. Millard at his Los Angeles home to witness the taking of the oath, in compliance with the law, which provides that the oath shall be taken "in joint session of the Legislature."

THE new Mayor of San Francisco, Adolph Sutro, deals with the question of liquor license in his inaugural address in a clear and intelligent way. The following paragraph is quoted from the inaugural: "Intemperance produces more crime and misery than all other causes combined, and nine-tenths of the cases of intoxication arise from the sale of spirits, for which a high license should be exacted. Wine and beer might be sold at lower license, as they are comparatively innocuous. This has been demonstrated in France, Germany and other countries, where but little intoxication is to be found. Total abstinence cannot be enforced in the larger cities, as experience has abundantly shown."

THE weather prophet presiding over the doings and destinies of the Signal Service station at San Francisco has been wonderfully wide of his mark frequently through the winter in his weather predictions. But he was never more astray than yesterday morning and today. Yesterday his predictions were for fair weather and the rain dropped in derision in sheets. This morning we were promised up to midnight, "occasional rains; somewhat cooler; brisk to high southerly winds." The weather clerk is again laughing at this false weather prophet, for the day opened lovely, the sun warm, the air calm, and no showers in sight. "Forecast Official" W. H. Hammond, is a rank failure as a weather prophet and is a miserable hand at guessing.

The Demand for Cheaper Food.

Cheaper food is the cry nowadays all along the line. It is not restricted to the poor only. It is heard through the domiciles of the middle classes and well up among those who are well to do. The process of industrial and financial re-adjustment has entered largely into domestic economies. How far it extends into the social organism may be better understood when we cite the utterance of a citizen of ample means who has been living in ease and comfort on the proceeds of the snug fortune which he made in the halcyon days of the State, and which is securely invested: "Thirty cents per pound for fish! That is more than three times the price of beef! There is no sense in it! Fish ought to retail at 5 cents per pound."

That citizen expressed two things in his running comments on the price of fish: First—That those who are far above want, as well as those whose means are limited, are taking an active interest in the cost of the necessaries of life. Second—That fish, which is in every other seaboard State the poor man's meat, is inordinately dear here, and owing to its outrageously high price takes rank among the luxuries of the table.

The State and the Federal Governments have been for many years past spending large sums of money in the development of the fisheries of the Pacific coast, so as to make fish food abundant and cheap. The rivers and lakes and bays of the State have been stocked with the best food fishes of Eastern waters. The native food fishes have been protected and propagated for the same purpose. And as a result every river that flows to the sea, every bay that opens on the ocean and every headstead and shoal on the coast is teeming with the best and largest food fishes of the two great oceans that lave the continent and of the rivers that drain into them. But salmon sells today at the same price per pound at which it was retailed in the flush days of twenty years ago, and the delicious food fishes of Eastern waters that were transplanted here by the State for the poor man's benefit never get beyond the rich man's table and are furnishing a harvest only for the fisherman and the fishmonger.

There is reason in the public demand for cheaper fish as there is in the cry for cheaper bread. The man who casts his nets in the waters gathers the harvest without expense, beyond what is represented in his nets and boat. He pays no rent; nor has he farmed for the harvest. Fish food ought, therefore, to be the cheapest article offered in the markets for domestic consumption, instead of the dearest. There is something radically wrong about the whole business when prime beef is being retailed for one-third the retail price of fish food.

Wage-earners are required to hedge in all domestic expenditures, for they are now compelled to labor for much less than two years ago. The less which this reduction in the power to earn represents must be divided. The days when fortunes could be made in a few years in trade have gone by. Profits on the necessaries of life must conform to the earning power of the laborer. Beef is cheaper here today, in obedience to that law, than it is in Great Britain; clothing has dropped 50 per cent in three years; house rents are lower; fuel is cheaper; but bread here costs twice as much as it costs in England and in the Eastern States, and fish from five to ten times as much. There is something out of joint somewhere. As to fish food, the State seems to have a duty to perform in connection with it, for inasmuch as the State has been fostering the fisheries, it may be within the line of its duty to determine why its efforts to furnish cheap fish food for the poor in its waters are not fittingly rewarded and to apply an effective remedy. As to bread, also, the State can follow the example of other States and fix the weight of a loaf, which will, in effect, determine the price likewise.

THE pistol is a poor agent for the settlement of personal grievances and legal complications. It may accomplish the removal of some legal obstructions, but it surely erects barriers far more formidable in their stead. The presence of the deadly weapon always makes matters worse, without regard to how bad they may have been before. Only in extreme cases does society justify its use; the grounds for the justification must, however, be unmistakable and the remedy which the law applies either wholly inadequate or immeasurably too slow and uncertain in its operation. But society rightly revolts against the use of the pistol in cold blood for the settlement of civil complications that are adjustable by the ordinary processes of law, no matter who is behind the trigger or who stands before the muzzle. Every lover of law and order will deplore and deprecate its use under such circumstances.

IN his inaugural address Mayor Sutro of San Francisco made the following suggestion in speaking of a new charter which has a local application here in view of an approaching election: "Among the most important provisions should be one for a Board of Public Works, consisting of competent engineers and architects, independent of politics."

RANDOM NOTES.

Berlin claims to be the healthiest large city in the world, but it is not. London has a lower death rate.

Only six persons out of each 1000 live to be 75 years old, and only one reaches the century mark.

At Butte, Mont., a young lady applied for permission to kill her traitor lover. The court said that, while it might be desirable to wipe out such a scoundrel, it had no power to order it to be done except by ordinary legal means.

The engineers appointed by the War Department to determine the greatest practicable length of a span for a suspension bridge report that it is not only possible but practicable to build a six-track suspension bridge, with a span of 3200 feet, at a cost of $23,000,000.

The statistics gathered by the Department of Agriculture at Washington show that during the nine months of 1894, ending September 30th, the farmers and stock raisers of the United States exported to Great Britain more than 300,000 head of beef cattle, of a value of over $26,000,000.

There are at present eighteen Swedish ladies studying medicine at the Karolinska Institute in Stockholm. Eight of these have passed their examination as candidates of medicine, and one of the latter, Froken Steckstein, has recently been appointed amanuensis at the institute at the pathological and anatomical demonstrations.

Opposition to the use of the anti-toxine treatment for diphtheria has already taken an organized form in England. A deputation headed by Lord Coleridge has protested to the authorities against its use in the hospitals on the ground that "public money ought not to be devoted to experiments in psychology."

BITS OF GOSSIP.

Queen Margaret of Italy has been presented with a golden bicycle. Now every morning when she and King Umberto go for their spin a big bulldog trots along to protect the golden wheel.

W. H. Sheppard, at the age of 10, was a poor little colored boy in the streets of Waynesboro, Va. Now, at the age of 30, he is a distinguished missionary of the Southern Presbyterian Church, and the only American negro who has ever been made a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

It is not generally known that Inspector Byrnes shares with other well known men real old-fashioned superstitions. The house which he now lives in was, before the Plaza Hotel was finished, numbered "13," and the Inspector would not consent to live in it, although the property was valuable and he was anxious to secure it. At last, by common consent of the neighbors, a change was effected and the number changed. No. 13 became No. 17, and the Byrnes family moved in.

Winkelmann's salary as operatic tenor in Vienna is $10,000 a year for about sixty appearances. Reichmann gets $8800 for six months; Frau Renard, $7200. Frau Schlager, who fifteen years ago received $10 a month as chorus girl, now has $8000 a year at the Imperial Opera.

Editor McDowell of the Mississippi Populist has disappeared, and the paper is suspended. He left the following note to his employes: "I leave two lamps, a bucket and dipper, a coal scuttle, a shovel, a broom, a washpan, a coal oil can, and about 700 pounds of coal. Divide the same between you."

C. M. Gill, '89, Yale's football captain and oarsman, has applied to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church for employment as a missionary to either China or Africa. He was recently staying in a little Maine town in which there was no church, so he shouldered an ax, cut enough timber, built his church, and preached in it.

During his first term as President Mr. Cleveland was quite obliging to autograph hunters, but during the past year he has paid no attention to letters asking for his signature.

Miss Emily Davies, who laid the foundation of Girton College, in 1869, is still living. Mme. Bodichon, who gave the first endowment to Girton ($5000), is dead.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

It is a common belief among women that the moth will not attack any green material, and many of them make it a point to buy stuffs of green dye whenever the color is not incompatible with the purpose for which the material is intended. Green dyes often contain arsenic, and that may account for the antipathy of the moth to the color.

A young woman, who was a passenger on a Sixth avenue car the other day, says the New York Sun, wore thirteen rings on her ungloved left hand. Each finger was laden two or three deep, and on the thumb was a gold band set with colored stones. The rings included a solitaire marquise, a three-stone diamond ring and several diamonds alternating with other precious stones, and an unusually large wedding ring. No one wondered at the young woman's hand being ungloved after the first glance, and she was the cynosure of all feminine eyes as long as she remained in the car.

For the first time a woman has received the degree of Doctor of Literature from London University in the person of Miss Dawes, a graduate of Girton.

The flower bonnet of the hour is a novelty. It usually consists of a single nodding flower, which appears to be growing from the high coil of hair. The bonnet's sole foundation is a soft coil of velvet. The flower is caught at the back. One shows a twist of pink velvet, with an American Beauty rose standing with graceful erectness at the back. Another has a coil of violet velvet and a careless cluster of heliotrope arranged toward the back.

To utilize any good fruit preserves on hand, cherries preferably, a savory little motley cake is made first by beating together four eggs for ten minutes, with a teacup of pulverized sugar, and afterward beat in a cup and a half of flour that has been sifted twice, a half cup of butter just brought to melting, and after mixing thoroughly add a half a pound of the cherries with a teaspoonful of the baking powder. When the cherries are evenly distributed through the batter pour into a cake pan lined with buttered white paper and bake for not longer than an hour and a quarter, trying the while with broom straws.

Lemon Cake—With two-thirds of a cupful of butter cream, two cupfuls of sugar, adding, in this order, the beaten yolks of three eggs, the beaten whites of the same, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, three and a half cupfuls of flour and the juice of one lemon. Two-thirds of a teaspoonful of soda should be sifted into the flour before that is added to the mixture, or it may be beaten in just before the lemon juice is added. Bake in the usual manner. Any plain cake may be flavored with lemon, thus making it in fact, a "lemon cake."

The greatest curiosity in the Queen's stables and harness rooms is a very beautiful set of harness for four horses. It is called "the quilt harness," being one mass of the finest embroidery of white quills on black leather. The maker of the set brought an action against the Queen on the question of the price. The case, when fought out, resulted in a favorable verdict for her majesty, but Prince Albert would never allow the harness to be used, and it hangs in glass cupboards in the largest of the many harness rooms.—St. Paul's.

PRIZES ON PATENTS.
We use the patents and to induce people to keep track of their bright ideas we offer a prize of one hundred dollars to be paid on the first of every month to the person who submits to us the most meritorious invention during the preceding month. We will also advertise the invention free of charge in the National Recorder, a weekly newspaper, published in Washington, D. C., which has an extensive circulation throughout the United States and is devoted to the interests of inventors.
NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS
The idea of being able to invent something strikes most people as being very difficult; this delusion the Company wishes to dispel. It is the simple things and small inventions that make the greatest amount of money, and the complex ones are seldom profitable. Almost everybody, at some time or another, conceives an idea which, if patented, would probably be worth to him a fortune. Unfortunately such ideas are usually dismissed without thought. The simple inventions like the car window which could be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, the saucepan, the collar button, the nut lock, the bottle stopper, the snow shovel, are things that almost everyone sees some way of improving upon, and it is these kind of inventions that bring the greatest returns to the author.
The prize we offer will be paid at the end of each month, whether the application has been acted upon by the Patent Office or not. Every competitor must apply for a patent on his invention through us, and whether he secures the prize or not, the inventor will have a valuable patent.

PASSED AWAY.

The Funeral Will Be Held Next Friday at 10 O'clock.

Howard Shaw of Shawsville is dead. He passed away at 1:30 o'clock this morning at his residence, Thirty-seventh street and San Pablo avenue. He was taken ill just a month ago with typhoid pneumonia, which caused his death.

Mr. Shaw, who was widely known throughout the county, was born on Prince Edwards Island thirty-nine years ago. Fifteen years ago he came to Oakland, and a year later married the daughter of M. J. Evoy.

Some years ago his father-in-law died, and three weeks ago was followed by Mrs. Evoy.

The estate is worth in the vicinity of $240 000, of which Mrs. Shaw will get about $125,000.

The funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the Sacred Heart Church, Temescal. The remains will be interred in St. Mary's Cemetery.

THE BECKER TRIAL.

The attendance was not so large as on preceding days and interest in the proceedings seem to be on the wane according as the end approaches.

The principal witness this morning was Mrs. Becker the wife of the accused. She testified, among other things, to the fact that her husband had repeatedly called upon Edson, after he (Becker) had left the employ of Edson, in order to collect overdue wages from Edson. Sometimes he would make calls and demands once a week, and frequently he would receive neither money nor satisfaction.

Orders have been issued to arrest all tramps, and the detectives have been instructed to clear the streets of all suspicious characters.

The History of a Contest of Interest to Local Passengers.

The Robinson stop-over cases, in which the Supreme Court finally decided the entire legal principle last Saturday against the railroad and in favor of the right of stop-over at Oakland, commenced in 1890. The question whether section 490 of the Civil Code was in existence or was repealed first came up before Judge Greene in this county in a case of criminal libel by the People vs. Halstead, the editor of the Alameda Statesman. The prosecution was for an editorial calling W. H. Robinson a blackmailer for bringing in numerous suits at law because of denial of the stop-over privilege. The case lasted a week and was prosecuted by Hon. Thomas V. Cator. The question of stop-over, after a long argument, was decided by Judge Greene in favor of the right of stop-over, but before the close of the trial the judge decided that the point was not necessary to the determination of the criminal case. Halstead was convicted upon a charge by Judge Greene that Robinson had a right to bring the suits whether Section 490 was repealed or not, if Robinson in good faith believed it was yet the law.

The point next came before Judge Hunt in San Francisco in civil cases for damages by Robinson against the Southern Pacific. After elaborate briefs upon a demurrer, Judge Hunt held the stop-over right existed. Then the test case came to trial before Judge Hunt and a jury and at the close of arguments he decided that the ticket gave stop-over rights, that Oakland was an intermediate station to Alameda; that if the Central Pacific Railway was exempt from the stop-over law, it could not by its lease assign such exemption to the Southern Pacific, a foreign corporation. The railroad appealed to the Supreme Court and the case was heard in department, and later before the full bench. The whole court decided to hear further argument and ordered the case re-argued again on May 9, 1894, at Sacramento. In October, 1894, the Supreme Court decided the case against the railroad upon all the points presented. On November 5th a rehearing was granted upon new points presented by the railroad, viz: that the ticket being to "Oakland or Alameda," the holder exhausted the ticket by getting off at Oakland. This was argued on November 26, 1894, and on January 5, 1895, a decision was rendered upon all points in favor of plaintiff. This case has been closely contested and has aroused much interest not only in Oakland, but in all parts of the State. The railroad has sent its entire legal force and special counsel to the front at various stages of the litigation. Messrs. Walker, Cross, Goar and McInerney making the principal arguments. For Dr. Robinson, Hon. Thomas V. Cator has appeared at every stage of the cases. The legal questions being now settled, the remaining cases will be easily disposed of.

GREAT CUT IN PRICES.

J. J. O'Brien's Clearance Sale Is Universally Appreciated.

There are clearance sales and clearance sales, but the clearance sale of J. J. O'Brien & Co., of San Francisco, is unexampled, even in the history of that great firm.

There is nothing in the great store in the Murphy Building, corner of Market and Jones sts., San Francisco, that may not be had at prodigiously low prices. There is a demand for these goods all over the State, and hundreds of dollars' worth of them come every day to Oakland. This is especially true of the fall and winter stock of cloaks and dry goods.

He carries a full line of the Columbia and Cleveland wheels, besides a large assortment of cheaper and smaller ones for the holiday trade. He makes a specialty of teaching and can be found at the Central Cyclery, 426 Fourteenth street, corner Broadway.

A New Series of Peddlers' Licenses Issued.

City Treasurer Gilpin Will Pay a Rebate.

The Terms Upon Which Exchanges Can Be Made.

City Treasurer Gilpin has prepared a new series of peddlers' licenses. He is anxious to have all those now in use returned to the city treasury, where a rebate will be given holders of them, under a resolution of the Council, which has appropriated $200 for that purpose.

The new licenses are made of metal and can be affixed to carts and wagons in a conspicuous place. They will be found much more serviceable and durable than the old paper authorizations. The new issue are made for the quarter ending March 31st, and are to be paid for at $15 a quarter for residents and $30 for non-residents.

Holders of the old licenses will, when exchanging them for new ones, receive a rebate at the rate of $5 a month for such time as has not elapsed before they expire.

The old licenses were irregular in the time of expiration, some were issued for one, others for two months and so on. The new series will date from the beginning of the regular quarter of the year.

The Treasurer will return in coin the amount to which holders of old licenses are entitled, provided they secure licenses of the new issue in their stead.

Fine Bills at the Oriental and People's.

A Benefit Tomorrow Night for the Native Sons.

The season of the Aladdin Jr. Company came to a close last night, with credit to the people of this city, the company itself and Manager Cook of the Macdonough.

No such engagement was ever played in Oakland previously. So many people never attended a production in three performances in this city before, and no production, in the same time, gave more general satisfaction here to so large a number of people.

Notwithstanding the storm of yesterday afternoon and evening the theater was packed at each performance. Hundreds of spectators were compelled to stand during the performances, being unable to obtain seats. It is now believed that the spectacle could have been presented here for two nights longer to paying houses.

From an amusement standpoint the effect of the successful engagement of the Aladdin Jr. Extravaganza Company will be incalculable. It will attract to this city the attention of the best theatrical managers, with the result that they will be pleased to send us their attractions. It is such attractions only that the people of this city desire, and, such being the case, they will have little use in seeking abroad for their entertainment.

Haverley's Mastodon Minstrels.

J. H. Haverley's Original Mastodon Minstrels are announced to appear at the Macdonough Friday and Saturday, January 11th and 12th inst. In the long list of the members of the company may be mentioned Larry Dorley, Burt Shepard, Harry Armstrong, E. M. Kayne, Alf Gibson, Constantine and Lyons, and thirty other favorites of the first water—everything that goes to make up an attractive and entertaining programme of modern minstrelsy will be found with the "Mastodons" this season. The sale of seats opened this morning.

On next Monday, Miss Sadie Martinot will be seen in her latest and most successful comedy, The Passport, by E. J. Stephenson and William Fardley, authors of The Nominee. Miss Martinot's appearance is always interesting and a sure sign of calling forth the most refined theater-goers. She will be supported by Max Figman, the well known stage manager and director. The sale of seats for this attraction opens tomorrow at 9 A. M.

The Oriental.

The Oriental Theater, which has been closed for several days, will re-open tomorrow night, when there will be a grand benefit for the fund of the local parlors of Native Sons to enable them to make arrangements for the grand parlor, which is to be held in this city in April. The attraction will be The Operator, in which the Newell Brothers, aided by their fine company, will again appear.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights the same combination will appear in a fine production of The Corsican Brothers, a very entertaining play.

The People's.

At the People's Theater Spray, one of the prettiest and most interesting nautical dramas of the times, holds the boards. It is produced in a most interesting manner. The stage is well set, the characters are well sustained and, as a whole, a performance is given which greatly satisfies the audiences, which are large and enthusiastic. The same piece will be produced all the week.

GETTING SETTLED.

Third Day in Power of the New County Officers.

County Clerk Jordan contemplates the railing off of portions of the office and segregating the clerks and copyists from people who are always moving about within the present inclosure. He thinks that this isolation is necessary because of the danger incurred of losing valuable papers, making mistakes in the transcription of important documents, as also because of the necessity of preserving the secrets of the office, such as regards attachments, divorces, and other actions filed. He has made an appeal to the Supervisors to be aided in making the proposed improvements, and there seems to be no doubt that his appeal will be granted.

Last night Recorder Spear dined all the new, and the old clerks of his office under Rod Church, at Barnum's restaurant. There was an even dozen present, including Messrs. Church and Melvin of the District Attorney's office.

Mr. Spear's last appointment of an assistant was made today, the incumbent being C. F. Gompertz of Berkeley, as a copyist.

Tax Collector Barber is right in the harness, like the other officials. Yesterday he took in $1000 taxes on the second installment, which becomes delinquent on the last Monday in April.

Assessor Dalton will not appoint his second assistant, as he says, until the storm ceases and he can go out into the country and dig up one—a man.

PASSED AWAY.

The Funeral Will Be Held Next Friday at 10 O'clock.

Howard Shaw of Shawsville is dead. He passed away at 4:30 o'clock this morning at his residence, Thirty-seventh street and San Pablo avenue. He was taken ill just a month ago with typhoid pneumonia, which caused his death.

Mr. Shaw, who was widely known throughout the county, was born on Prince Edwards Island thirty-nine years ago. Fifteen years ago he came to Oakland, and a year later married the daughter of M. J. Evoy.

Some years ago his father-in-law died, and three weeks ago was followed by Mrs. Evoy.

The estate is worth in the vicinity of $240,000, of which Mrs. Shaw will get about $125,000.

The funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Sacred Heart Church, Temescal. The remains will be interred in St. Mary's Cemetery.

THE BECKER TRIAL.

The attendance was not so large as on preceding days and interest in the proceedings seem to be on the wane according as the end approaches.

The principal witness this morning was Mrs. Becker the wife of the accused. She testified, among other things, to the fact that her husband had repeatedly called upon Edson, after he (Becker) had left the employ of Edson, in order to collect overdue wages from Edson. Sometimes he would make calls and demands once a week, and frequently he would receive neither money nor satisfaction.

STOP-OVER TICKETS.

The History of a Contest of Interest to Local Passengers.

The Robinson stop-over cases, in which the Supreme Court finally decided the entire legal principle last Saturday against the railroad and in favor of the right of stop-over at Oakland, commenced in 1890. The question whether section 490 of the Civil Code was in existence or was repealed first came up before Judge Greene in this county in a case of criminal libel by the People vs. Halstead, the editor of the Alameda Statesman. The prosecution was for an editorial calling W. H. Robinson a blackmailer for bringing in numerous suits at law because of denial of the stop-over privilege. The case lasted a week and was prosecuted by Hon. Thomas V. Cator. The question of stop-over, after a long argument, was decided by Judge Greene in favor of the right of stop-over, but before the close of the trial the judge decided that the point was not necessary to the determination of the criminal case. Halstead was convicted upon a charge by Judge Greene that Robinson had a right to bring the suits whether Section 490 was repealed or not, if Robinson in good faith believed it was yet the law.

The point next came before Judge Hunt in San Francisco in civil cases for damages by Robinson against the Southern Pacific. After elaborate briefs upon a demurrer, Judge Hunt held the stop-over right existed. Then the test case came to trial before Judge Hunt and a jury and at the close of arguments he decided that the ticket gave stop-over rights, that Oakland was an intermediate station to Alameda; that if the Central Pacific Railway was exempt from the stop-over law, it could not by its lease assign such exemption to the Southern Pacific, a foreign corporation. The railroad appealed to the Supreme Court and the case was heard in department, and later before the full bench. The whole court decided to hear further argument and ordered the case re-argued again on May 9, 1894, at Sacramento. In October, 1894, the Supreme Court decided the case against the railroad upon all the points presented. On November 5th a rehearing was granted upon new points presented by the railroad, viz: that the ticket being to "Oakland or Alameda," the holder exhausted the ticket by getting off at Oakland. This was argued on November 26, 1894, and on January 5, 1895, a decision was rendered upon all points in favor of plaintiff. This case has been closely contested and has aroused much interest not only in Oakland, but in all parts of the State. The railroad has sent its entire legal force and special counsel to the front at various stages of the litigation. Messrs. Walker, Cross, Goar and McInerney making the principal arguments. For Dr. Robinson, Hon. Thomas V. Cator has appeared at every stage of the cases. The legal questions being now settled, the remaining cases will be easily disposed of.

GREAT CUT IN PRICES.

J. J. O'Brien's Clearance Sale Is Universally Appreciated.

There are clearance sales and clearance sales, but the clearance sale of J. J. O'Brien & Co., of San Francisco, is unexampled, even in the history of that great firm.

There is nothing in the great store in the Murphy building, corner of Market and Jones street, San Francisco, that may not be had at prodigiously low prices. There is a demand for these goods all over the State, and hundreds of dollars' worth of them come every day to Oakland. This is especially true of the fall and winter stock of cloaks and dry goods.

No Use for the Board of Public Works.

Some Caustic Comments by Henry Dalton.

Editor Tribune: The Board of Works, instead of removing the police, street and fire departments from politics, has made them a part of the local political machine. Instead of being the executive right arm of the city government, the board is a useless, expensive thing, serving no good purpose in the body politic. Instead of being an aid to the City Council, the board leaves the Council to do the work, while the board draws the salaries. Instead of the board inspecting all parts of the city 'vigilantly,' as required by the charter, it spends about an hour of its time a day in the service of the city. And instead of "recommending from time to time to the Council such work as it shall deem necessary or proper," the board makes no recommendations whatever to the Council, and does its utmost to keep from carrying out the recommendations that the Council makes to it. The board, instead of being an aid to the Council and the city, is a positive drag upon the progress of Oakland, and does its best to retard and set at naught the efforts of the Council to improve the city.

Another promise made for the Board of Public Works by its proposers was that it would lend to economy in the administration of public affairs, and would prove such a watch dog of the Treasury that many thousands of dollars would be saved annually to the taxpayers. That promise, like all the others made for the board, has not been kept.

Instead of "vigilantly inspecting all parts of the city," as required by the charter, the board hires other people to do the inspecting and pays them out of the City Treasury. For instance, while the new schoolhouses were in course of construction, it was, according to the charter the duty of the board to 'vigilantly inspect' them. Did they do it? No, they hired other people to do it, while they attended to their own private business and drew their salaries at the end of each and every month. And they paid these "inspectors" out of the city treasury. They hired a superintendent to "vigilantly inspect" each building and paid each superintendent $100 per month. There were five such buildings under the control of the Board of Works. The board, therefore, in addition to their own salaries of $900 per month, paid out of the city treasury $700 per month to have the new schoolhouses "vigilantly inspected." Fourteen hundred and fifty dollars per month does not look like very great economy from a board that was to be the executive right arm of the city, was to cause the affairs of the city to be economically administered, and whose duty it is, according to the charter, to 'vigilantly' inspect all parts of the city.

But if the work of "vigilantly inspecting" had been well done by the deputy inspectors of the $1350 per month Board of Public Works, it would not have been so bad. But, unfortunately for the economical Board of Works, the unfinished foundations of the sixth ward schoolhouse silently preach an eloquent sermon, and the text of that sermon is "it shall be the duty of the board to vigilantly inspect all parts of the city." Had the Board of Works done its duty, the Sixth ward school would now have been nearly, if not quite, completed. But, unfortunately for the city, the Board of Works had its own private business to "vigilantly inspect" at the time the schoolhouse was in course of erection, and, of course, the business of the city was neglected.

The Third Ward school is another example of the devotion of the Board of Public Works to its public duties. The board the "executive right arm of the city," be it remembered, adopted the plans for this building, and hired a man to "vigilantly inspect" it while it was being put up. When almost completed the building was found to be unsafe and in danger of collapsing. So the city was forced, on account of the neglect of duty by the Board of Public Works, to spend a large sum of money to remedy the defects which the Board of Public Works is paid $600 per month to see do not exist. In spite of the direct command of the charter to the board to "vigilantly inspect all parts of the city" (a duty, by the way, that the $600 per month board paid another man $150 per month out of the City Treasury to perform) the building was put up in a scandalously imperfect manner.

Add to the $1350 per month that the Board of Works cost the city during the time the new schoolbuildings were in course of construction the sum of $3500, for which the city is now being sued on account of the faulty construction of the Fifth ward school, to the sum thus gained and the interest the city is paying on the money it borrowed for, but cannot use, in the construction of the sixth ward school, to this sum add the $8000 that the city has been compelled to expend in strengthening the dangerous Third ward school, add to this sum a money equivalent for the worry, vexation of spirit and annoyance of taxpayers, city officials and parents and citizens generally (to say nothing of Grand Juries, etc.); add to this sum counsel fees in the suit concerning the Sixth ward school, witness fees, expert fees, etc., etc., add together all these sums and it will be seen that the Board of Public Works, instead of being a source of economy in the administration of public affairs, is an expensive, useless incumbrance, one that the city would be better off without, and one against which the taxpayer has a just cause for complaint.

Another good illustration of the way the Board of Public Works attends to the business of the city is the matter of the purchase of the last fire engine. The Council directed the board to advertise for bids for a third class fire engine. Now a third-class fire engine is one having certain dimensions of pump, etc. A third-class engine costs more money than a fourth class one. The board advertised for bids for "a third class engine, but accepted "a fourth class engine" and paid nearly as much for it as a third class engine costs. To cut a long story short, the board received a fourth class engine and paid nearly as large a sum for it as a third-class engine would have cost. That the board knew that it was receiving a fourth class engine under the name of a third-class engine is not to be doubted. And when the attention of the board was called to the matter, the members of that body took refuge in silence, and neither denied nor affirmed that the city had been swindled. The object of the board in thus permitting the city to be robbed is not apparent. That it was robbed is however, a fact.

A board that is paid $7200 per annum to prevent the city from being robbed, and still allows (even invites) the robbery of its employes, is not worthy of the continued support of the people of this city. It should be swept out of existence, and its place supplied by some other body of men. Any change would be for the better, for the reason that no change could, by any possibility, be for the worse.

The Way by Which It Gets Into the System—Some New Scientific Facts of Great Value and Interest.

"Any man or woman who can go through the trying winters and springs of this climate without suffering from rheumatism or neuralgic pains of some kind is decidedly fortunate." It was Dr. Hamilton, the popular physician, who declared this while talking to some friends at the club. Continuing, he said:

'What it is that causes these pains has been a greater mystery to physicians and scientists than almost any other question. Some have declared that they are the results of a severe cold, others that imprudent exposure has caused them, and still others that they arise from blood poisoning.

'In order to obtain, if possible, a correct theory of rheumatism and all the aches and pains which accompany it, certain authorities in Washington have taken steps to obtain the views of the physicians of America upon this subject. These views are of a varied nature, but so overwhelming a proportion hold to one belief as to leave but little doubt that it is a correct one. This belief briefly stated is that uric acid in the blood causes rheumatism and that it is only by removing this poisonous acid that rheumatism or neuralgic troubles and their terrible forms can be cured. This being true, the important question arises, 'How does the uric acid get into the blood, and how can it best be removed?'

'Uric acid finds its way into the blood because the kidneys are weakened and can not throw it from the system. Restore the kidneys, and you will restore the power that will force the uric acid from the body and thus banish the rheumatic agonies which it causes.

'This is reason. It is science. It is true. No one whose kidneys are in a perfect condition was ever troubled with rheumatism and no rheumatic sufferer, however slight the pain may be, has perfect kidneys. The conclusion of the truth is inevitable. Perfect kidneys mean freedom from rheumatism.

"There never was, and probably never will be, but one remedy that can, in every case, drive uric acid from the blood. That remedy is Warner's Safe Cure. It cures rheumatism by eliminating the deadly uric acid. It banishes pain by removing the cause. It acts directly upon the kidneys. Within an hour from the time it is taken, its influence will be felt. It sustains the organs that sustain life, the forces that make the blood. For ladies during the severe ordeals through which they are compelled to pass it is invaluable. For the nervous troubles of youth and the debility that precedes old age it has no rival. There are thousands of men and women too, who are in perfect health to-day wholly by reason of its great power, and it is the most potent remedy the world has ever known.'

No Use for the Board of Public Works.

Some Caustic Comments by Henry Dalton.

Editor Tribune: The Board of Works, instead of removing the police, street and fire departments from politics, has made them a part of the local political machine. Instead of being the executive right arm of the city government, the board is a useless, expensive thing, serving no good purpose in the body politic. Instead of being an aid to the City Council, the board leaves the Council to do the work, while the board draws the salaries. Instead of the board inspecting all parts of the city 'vigilantly,' as required by the charter, it spends about an hour of its time a day in the service of the city. And instead of "recommending from time to time to the Council such work as it shall deem necessary or proper," the board makes no recommendations whatever to the Council, and does its utmost to keep from carrying out the recommendations that the Council makes to it. The board, instead of being an aid to the Council and the city, is a positive drag upon the progress of Oakland, and does its best to retard and set at naught the efforts of the Council to improve the city.

Another promise made for the Board of Public Works by its proposers was that it would lead to economy in the administration of public affairs, and would prove such a watch dog of the Treasury that many thousands of dollars would be saved annually to the taxpayers. This promise, like all the others made for the board, has not been kept.

Instead of "vigilantly inspecting all parts of the city," as required by the charter, the board hires other people to do the inspecting and pays them out of the City Treasury. For instance, while the new schoolhouses were in course of construction, it was, according to the charter, the duty of the board to "vigilantly inspect" them. Did they do it? No; they hired other people to do it, while they attended to their own private business and drew their salaries at the end of each and every month. And they paid these "inspectors" out of the city treasury. They hired a superintendent to "vigilantly inspect" each building, and paid each superintendent $150 per month. There were five such buildings under the control of the Board of Works. The board, therefore, in addition to their own salaries of $600 per month, paid out of the city treasury $750 per month to have the new schoolhouses "vigilantly inspected." Thirteen hundred and fifty dollars per month does not look like very great economy from a board that was to be the executive right arm of the city, was to cause the affairs of the city to be economically administered, and whose duty it is, according to the charter, to 'vigilantly' inspect all parts of the city.'

But if the work of "vigilantly inspecting" had been well done by the deputy inspectors of the $1350-per-month Board of Public Works, it would not have been so bad. But, unfortunately for the economical Board of Works, the unfinished foundations of the Sixth ward schoolhouse silently preach an eloquent sermon; and the text of that sermon is "It shall be the duty of the board to vigilantly inspect all parts of the city." SCRATCHED 3 YEARS

Nothing like CUTICURA REMEDIES was ever manufactured. For three years I have I suffered with a sore head. I would break out all over my head with pimples which would form a watery matter, and I would have to scratch until I would bleed. After doctoring with two doctors for three years, more or less, I finally made up my mind to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, with result entirely satisfactory to me. After using two sets I am entirely cured. I have recommended your remedies to several persons and they all tell me they are No. 1. Our druggist is doing a nice business in CUTICURA REMEDIES, since my cure. I have given him the privilege of using my name as proof of their efficiency. I enclose my portrait. A. P. GRAMM,
Photographer, Mt. Horeb, Wis.

SALT RHEUM CURED

My wife has been troubled with the salt rheum for four years. During this time doctors of Wisconsin, Illinois, and the most eminent of Chicago, failed to give relief. I bought the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and she used only one box of CUTICURA SOAP, and half a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and these have cured her completely.
C. M. STONE, 111 State St., Chicago, Ill.

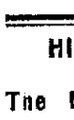

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

There is no doubt that the CUTICURA REMEDIES daily perform more wonderful cures than all other skin and blood remedies combined. They instantly relieve and speedily cure every humor of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula, when the best physicians fail.

Some Queer Results of the Police Examination.

Would-be Policeman Fail to Catch the Idea.

Forty-one more or less intelligent appearing men struggled last Saturday in the Council chamber at the City Hall with the examination schedule, their answers to which shall determine their fitness to become members of the police force of Oakland.

George Kaufman, secretary of the Board of Public Works, is now trying to find "where he is at" with those "hopefuls'" papers. To determine whether the applicant has a sufficient amount of common sense and education to entitle him to become a part of the municipal peace-preserving force he is put to the test through a series of questions touching his knowledge of the general duties of a policeman and the more familiar forms of crimes.

Besides these, he must wrestle with a few problems in common arithmetic and the primary English branches. The examination is supposed to give an insight into the general character, mentally, of the applicant. That many of those who essayed to pass the ordeal found themselves in hot water is clearly manifest from a glance over the papers submitted by them at the close of the day's proceedings. They wrestled with such intricate and involved problems, as, for instance, a definition of the duties of a police officer. One applicant, doubtless imbued with the example of some "con," answered, "Be quiet while on duty." Another puzzling number on the list was, "Define homicide?" The answers ran riot and here are some of them: "Trying to take your own life"; "An act according to law"; "An offense committed at home."

The examiners asked "what persons were classed as vagrants?" They were told variously that under that head were persons who lived by their wits; the industrial army; "low life" persons. One sturdy citizen wrote when told to say what he would do if requiring assistance in making an arrest. "Dobbis sum one to assis," rendered into English, "Deputize some one to assist." One applicant was way at sea on his definition of a search warrant. He wrote, "a man who kills and tries to escape." Another said a search warrant could only be served "ten days after drowned". O here were as badly tangled on homicide. It was "making an arrest" and "carrying a concealed weapon without permit of Governor," Crime, felony, misdemeanor and riot were respectively defined as "drunkness," "take of human life," break in store" and "an outlaw."

LOST HIS REASON.

Alvin S. Young, a confectioner, residing at 1012 Jefferson street, has been committed to the Agnews' Insane Asylum. The unfortunate man wanders aimlessly, and talks incoherently. He imagines that he sees angels and that he hears them singing. He tears his clothes and strikes his wife without any provocation. The other day he threatened to drown himself. The cause of his insanity is believed to be due to an injury on his head, which he received by being struck by a locomotive about a year ago. He was arrested by Sheriff White, on complaint of his wife, Mrs. A. S. Young. Deputy Sheriff Al White took Young to the asylum.

I have used ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS for all kind of lameness and acute pain, and, by frequent experiments, find that they can control many cases not noticed in your circulars.

SCRATCHED 3 YEARS

Nothing like CUTICURA REMEDIES was ever manufactured. For three years have I suffered with a sore head. I would break out all over my head with pimples which would form a watery matter, and I would have to scratch until I would bleed. After doctoring with two doctors for three years, more or less, I finally made up my mind to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, with result entirely satisfactory to me. After using two sets I am entirely cured. I have recommended your remedies to several persons, and they all tell me they are No. 1. Our druggist is doing a nice business in CUTICURA REMEDIES, since my cure. I have given him the privilege of using my name as proof of their efficiency. I enclose my portrait. A. F. GRAMM,

SALT RHEUM CURED

My wife has been troubled with the salt rheum for four years. During this time doctors of Wisconsin, Illinois, and the most eminent of Chicago, failed to give relief. I bought the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and she used only one box of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and half a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and these have cured her completely.
C. M. STONE, 141 State St., Chicago, Ill.

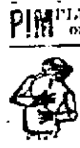

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

There is no doubt that the CUTICURA REMEDIES daily perform more wonderful cures than all other skin and blood remedies combined. They instantly relieve and speedily cure every humor of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula, when the best physicians fail.

Would-be Policemen Fail to Catch the Idea.

Forty-one more or less intelligent appearing men struggled last Saturday in the Council chamber at the City Hall with the examination schedule, their answers to which shall determine their fitness to become members of the police force of Oakland.

George Kaufman, secretary of the Board of Public Works, is now trying to find "where he is at" with those "hopefuls'" papers. To determine whether the applicant has a sufficient amount of common sense and education to entitle him to become a part of the municipal peace-preserving force he is put to the test through a series of questions touching his knowledge of the general duties of a policeman and the more familiar forms of crime.

Besides these, he must wrestle with a few problems in common arithmetic and the primary English branches. The examination is supposed to give an insight into the general character, mentally, of the applicant. That many of those who essayed to pass the ordeal found themselves in hot water is clearly manifest from a glance over the papers submitted by them at the close of the day's proceedings. They wrestled with such intricate and involved problems, as, for instance, a definition of the duties of a police officer. One applicant, doubtless imbued with the example of some "cop," answered, "Be quiet while on duty." Another puzzling number on the list was, "Define homicide?" The answers ran riot and here are some of them: "Trying to take your own life"; "An act according to law"; "An offense committed at home."

The examiners asked "what persons were classed as vagrants?" They were told variously that under that head were persons who lived by their wits; the Industrial army; "low life" persons. One sturdy citizen wrote when told to say what he would do if requiring assistance in making an arrest, "Deptis sum one to asisis," rendered into English, "Deputize some one to assist." One applicant was way at sea on his definition of a search warrant. He wrote, "a man who kills and tries to escape." Another said a search warrant could only be served "ten days after drownded". Others were as badly tangled on homicide. It was "making an arrest" and "carrying a concealed weapon without permit of Governor." Crime, felony, misdemeanor and riot were respectively defined as "drunkness," "take of human life," break in store" and "an outlaw."

LOST HIS REASON.

Alvin Young is Now Confined in an Asylum.

Alvin S. Young, a confectioner, residing at 1012 Jefferson street, has been committed to the Agnews' Insane Asylum. The unfortunate man wanders aimlessly, and talks incoherently. He imagines that he sees angels and that he hears them singing. He tears his clothes and strikes his wife without any provocation. The other day he threatened to drown himself. The cause of his insanity is believed to be due to an injury on his head, which he received by being struck by a locomotive about a year ago. He was arrested by Sheriff White, on complaint of his wife, Mrs. A. S. Young. Deputy Sheriff Al White took Young to the asylum.

SUNSET LIMITED

The Southern Pacific Company's magnificent Vestibuled Train, between San Francisco and New Orleans, now starts on its flying transcontinental trip an hour and a half earlier and arrives in the Southern metropolis two hours earlier than formerly, reducing the run to 78 hours and opening several other popular routes to prominent Eastern cities.

Immediate connection is now made in New Orleans with the fast through trains of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL for Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago; the QUEEN & CRESCENT for Chattanooga, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston; also the PIEDMONT AIR LINE and the SEABOARD AIR LINE, for Atlanta, Danville, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, and other Eastern cities, and in many cases reducing the time an entire day.

To be whirled across the continent from ocean to ocean in 3 days, from San Francisco to New York, with only one change, in the most palatial train that ever crossed a continent, and in a climate of perpetual Spring, is possible by the SUNSET ROUTE only, and on the SUNSET LIMITED. Remember that it costs only the regular fare to travel on this train; that it leaves Oakland Pier every THURSDAY at 9:27 A. M.

MESSAGE.

Reforms in the State Affairs.

Says the Primary Law Should Be Amended.

Comments on the National Guard and Blind Home.

SACRAMENTO, January 8. — Governor Markham today sent his second biennial message to the Senate and the Assembly. The message is a most complete one in every respect. The Governor deals with every department of State, and makes many wise recommendations. A synopsis of his report is as follows

ADULT BLIND.

"I have made two visits to this institution. Both were somewhat hurried, yet I believe that I have a fair knowledge of its work and method. There are about 112 inmates engaged in the manufacture of brooms. The home is under the supervision of Joseph Sanders, a blind man, formerly in the institution as a teacher. The wisdom of placing a sightless man in so responsible a position has been the subject of much controversy, and the division of the board on that subject has been the result—three being in favor of retaining Mr. Sanders and two emphatically opposed. At my request a Legislative Committee of Investigation was appointed, and its report exonerated Mr Sanders and those supporting him for the position.

"This has been an unfortunate disputation, and, as far as I have been able to learn, more or less personal and local in its effect. Personally, I believe Mr. Sanders to be a remarkably efficient man, considering his infirmity, and one deeply interested in the success of this institution. The mere question of financial success should not supersede the charitable objects for which it was instituted. It has proven nearly self-supporting, and, I believe, will be entirely so, under favorable auspices.

"A demand for $10,000 extra for maintenance will be asked, together with sufficient money to purchase additional ground, both of which should be carefully considered. The latter is imperative. The fact that these unfortunates are striving to become self-supporting, warrants encouragement at the hands of the State, and it is to be hoped that proper assistance will be granted them.

"I desire to call your attention to the pressing needs of this great educational institution, and I know of no more effective way of accomplishing it than to quote what Dr. Bonte and President Kellogg have just stated to me.

"'These very exigent demands come to us, as will be seen, from the scientific side of the University, and the University cannot keep pace with the growth of science, particularly applied science, without a knowledge of which our people will fail to see the use of a university and send their sons elsewhere, unless we are provided with the means of instruction.

"'The regents and faculties have long given anxious thought to these matters, and the finance committee eighteen months ago formulated a report, after four years of discussion, which was submitted to and approved by the Board of Regents. It is as follows:

"'The fact is, the University, in response to a great public demand, is expanding in every direction, and the appeal from almost every department of the University for more room and greater facilities is emphatic and urgent

"'The construction of a large building, that will afford room for the educational departments, now cramped and crowded in unsuitable quarters; that will furnish space for the classification and display of the very valuable collections now concealed in boxes or stowed away in lockers, and which should be placed in a properly arranged museum; that will permit the shelving of more books and supply room for study and reading in connection with the increasing library; that will enable a large audience to be seated in a well-lighted, warmed and ventilated auditorium; and in which suitable fire-proof vaults can be constructed for the preservation of the papers and archives of the State University, now scattered in insecure places in the various buildings; and where also may be provided suitable and contiguous rooms for the administrative offices of the University—such a building should be erected without unnecessary delay as an economical measure. And as it will cost probably $500,000, this sum should be asked for from the Legislature for this purpose, to be expended in two years; and relieved of this strain, the income of the University would suffice to carry on the current work.'"

Many other recommendations are made concerning the University.

DEAF, DUMB, AND BLIND INSTITUTION.

"This institution is a credit to our State, its management worthy of all praise and the purpose of its creation completely carried out. No one can visit it without recognizing and acknowledging its benefits. It certainly is gratifying to me to speak so highly of its usefulness and management, but it is because I believe it is merited. I have made two visits to this establishment and carefully inspected its workings and financial conduct.

"The last Legislature appropriated $75,000 for an additional building. It is one of the most complete and economical erected during my administration. Its future wants will be found in the report of its Board of Directors.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

"The voice of the people through the ballot, when free from restraint of every kind, becomes their true expression. To render this grand privilege secure is the solemn duty of the law-making power. Expense in contributing to this end, if it but fulfils its purpose, is unworthy of consideration. Our present Election law has been thoroughly tested, and so far as I have been enabled to observe, its workings have proven satisfactory.

"The system could, however, be improved by the adoption of some method whereby the counting of the votes could be more rapidly performed, particularly so in our larger cities. Suggestions will be presented you, with changes which experience has demonstrated to be necessary, and to which I desire to ask your earnest, serious consideration.

"Your attention is called to the urgent necessity of establishing some form of procedure regulating and controlling primary elections. The danger to our government lies in the loose and very often profligate manner in which these elections are conducted, regardless of the rights of communities, imperiling their safety, and entirely under the control of the worst elements of society. Like stringent laws, which protect the voter at a regular election, should shield him at these primaries.

"It is absurd to declare that the voter has the right at a general election to vote for whom he pleases, when those for whom he must vote have been placed before him, without giving him an opportunity of declaring his choice. The privilege of nomination is strangled at the birth, and he must follow the dictates of a convention corruptly assembled, or quietly abstain from the use of the franchise. This is an evil growing by what it feeds on, threatening the liberties of the people by debarring them from the free and untrammeled exercise of personal choice.

CHINESE PRISONERS.

"I would recommend that you pass a joint resolution requesting the Governor to commute every Chinese subject now confined in our prisons, upon condition that he be deported to China at his own expense, never to return. We now have about 150 of these in our prisons, and it would seem to be wise to return them in this manner, if they are willing to go. While the Governor needs no change in the law to empower him to do so, yet such a resolution sanctioning the act would relieve him from assuming the entire responsibility, and apprise the people of the State of its object.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL.

"From the Adjutant-General's report it will be observed that there are on the rolls of the National Guard of California 5200 officers and men, which includes 525 officers and men of the Naval Battalion. As his report appears to have been prepared with much care, I would respectfully call your attention to it for the the details pertaining to that department.

"At my request, he, on a summing office, took an inventory of all the State property, as far as it was possible to do so, and I believe he will be able to leave to his successor an intelligent account of its disposition since that time. It was found in disorder when he came in, and I trust great improvement in that regard will be observed. I have in all ordinary matters pertaining to that department, relied implicity upon his suggestions, opinions, etc. His report will furnish you with ample information regarding the operations of the guard during his term of office, and especially during the last two years.

"Owing to the great stagnation in all classes of business, which naturally caused a deep-seated feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction in the minds of many of our people during the last two years, the guard of the State has many times been called upon to assist the civil authorities in maintaining order throughout the State, and I am pleased to say that with but a single exception its efficiency could not be questioned. While the aggregate cost to the State for this service is large, I feared that it would far exceed the amount asked for, and those entitled to it should be credited with loyalty to the interest of the State and I beg you to care for them without delay. Remember that the majority of the rank and file is composed of young men who depended upon their daily earnings for their support, and while in service were deprived of the same. Many of them have lost their situations by reason of having been called into active service. Do not assume that because no lives were lost and no property was destroyed that this important arm of the Government is useless, for the very fact that 5200 armed men stood ready to assist in the enforcement of the law made such a result possible. The Guard of this State is a creature of the statutes, and you should exercise extreme caution in framing laws for its government. It has never been called out by me except to assist the civil authorities, as provided by law.

KEEPER OF THE ARCHIVES.

"The Legislature of 1889, in my judgment, wisely created the position of keeper of the archives, an office that could and should be one of great importance. By the present arrangement the papers and documents of the State, while somewhat improved by the provisions of the act, are yet in a very unsatisfactory condition. For some unaccountable reason the appropriation for the payment of the salary of such offi cer was not allowed by the last Legislature. This was an error that should be remedied immediately.

BOUNTY FOR COYOTE SCALPS.

"I called the attention of the last Legislature to the necessity of repealing the act of 1891, providing for the payment of a bounty on coyote scalps. No action was taken, and in consequence the sum of $187,485 has been already paid out, and existing demands against the State amounting to $195,085 have been presented. For many good reasons this law should be repealed. The State has been shamefully defrauded by the payment for scalps that have been shipped into the State from Oregon, Nevada, Arizona and Mexico. The law provides that after the scalps are examined by the Board of Supervisors of a county, they shall be destroyed by fire, thereby extinguishing all evidences of fraud; and as the Supervisors have no interest in the matter, and simply act as agents of the State, it is manifest that no extra effort has been made to check irregularities, and the Board of Examiners have no means of preventing this swindle upon the State. It is to hoped that this law will be repealed.

CARE OF UNFORTUNATES.

"In my message to the last Legislature, I called attention to the number of unfortunates which were cared for wholly or in part by the State during the one year preceding that date. It was about 19,500, consisting of insane, orphans, half-orphans, abandoned children and foundlings, aged indigents, prisoners, feebleminded, juvenile offenders, deaf, dumb, and blind, soldiers' widows and orphans, veterans at the Yountville Home and adult blind I have examined and estimated the same for the last year, and find there are about 22,000, or an increase over that of two years ago of about 3000. It is for you to determine whether the State shall continue this work, or ask the counties whence they come to stand the expense.

FIFTY-CENT LIMIT.

"I was nominated and elected on a party platform which pledged the people that the tax rate should not exceed 50 cents on each $100 of taxable property. I soon discovered that this rate was a purely arbitrary one to adopt, and left me no definite foundation upon which to estimate the resources to be derived under it. After assuming office, I immediately sought the most reliable sources of information, to wit, the office of the State Board of Equalization and that of the Controller, and upon these data the valuations of 1893 were adopted, which yielded $1,932,646, and after deducting fixed charges, as the law allowed, the remainder represented the gross expenditures for permanent improvements. I was then able to furnish every interested legislator with a detailed statement of our financial condition. Notwithstanding this information, it was unheeded, and I was obliged to veto $700,000 of appropriation bills in order that the limit should not be exceeded. In 1891-92 the valuations were increased enough to reduce the average rate for these years to 11 cents.

"A similar course was adopted for the benefit of the last Legislature, with the same results. The valuations of 1892 were accepted as my guide, and they yielded $3,000,127, and in order to keep within said limit I was obliged to veto $1,000,000 of appropriations.

"In 1893-94, valuations were sufficiently reduced to increase the rate for those two years to an average of 53.4 cents, making for the four years of my administration an average of 48.7 cents on the $100. While this is the lowest rate since the State was organized, it should and can with proper legislation be reduced.

"All that was left for me to do was to veto still more appropriation bills, in order to reduce; but as I had already vetoed in all $1,700,000, exceeding in amount that of all the Executives since the adoption of the State government, I could but feel that I had reached the limit in that regard. Let it be hoped that my successor be spared that trying ordeal.

"On questions of appropriation the Legislature should act with caution, for it is presumed to be the proper judge of their necessity. Such action would avoid the responsibility so often unjustly thrust upon the veto power for protection.

"I have given considerable attention to the methods of performing State work, and carefully observed and noted the defects, and in my message to the last Legislature clearly pointed out many of them.

"The question as to whether our people outside of incorporated cities are called upon to pay a greater aggregate of taxes in proportion to actual valuations than those in other States, is debatable and very difficult of ascertainment, and I am not prepared to say they do. I have given the subject much thought, but there are so many contingencies to be considered that it is almost impossible to make comparisons.

"But our purely State taxes are much higher than the average States of the Union. This is to be accounted for in the growing tendency of our people to look to the State for aid in every direction, throwing the burden of responsibility that should be borne by others entirely on her shoulders, thus leaving her, as it were, without a friend.

"The constantly increasing number of unfortunates to be cared for is another cause. We have about 280,000 voters in the State, while we support in some manner over 22,000 unfortunates; being in the ratio of 1 to every 13 voters of the State. This is appalling. Are we not by this method encouraging dependency on the part of those that could be cared for in other ways? By this system of unrestricted charity are we not doing more harm than good? That many of these cases will appeal to our better nature none will deny, but it will be gainsaid that, if the respective localities in which these unfortunates live and ask for aid were compelled to answer their demands, investigations as to their deservings would be more carefully inquired into? As it is, no questions are asked, because the onerous load is borne by the State.

California is a miniature United States and our institutions widely spread, which adds to the legitimate expenses. The cost per capita of our insane in the three old institutions is less than in any State in the Union. The average is about 38½ cents a day, which includes food, clothing, attendance, in fact all costs outside of permanent improvements, and the inmates most humanely cared for. So with the State Prisons; the food is good, clothing ample, and all are well treated, and outside of permanent improvements the average is less than 10 cents per day. The Whittier and Preston schools, the Feeble-Minded, the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind, are, in fact, more than educational in their work, and are thereby more expensive in proportion, but by all of them economy has been rigidly practiced. The costs of commissions and boards are of themselves inexpensive, as only a very few of their members receive compensation for their labors. The objects to be attained by these boards and commissions are what the money is used for, and it is for you to say whether any or all of them can be dispensed with. Those most interested in them consider their work worth all it costs.

Aged indigents		100,000
For the insane, about		992,000
For charitable and educational institutions—
Deaf, Dumb and Blind	$ 56,000
Feeble-minded	50,000
		106,000
Reformatories, to wit
Whittier	$30,000
Preston	4,000
		115,000
For half salaries of eighty-six Superior Judges		165,000
For transporting prisoners, insane, etc.		40,000
Total		$1,853,000

"To this there should be added some deficiencies in order to meet the required demands upon them. Nearly all this expense in other States is borne by individuals, counties and municipalities. In other words, the state is relieved or reimbursed in some form for its expenditures in that direction.

"The total income of the State this year on the basis of 1894 will be about $5,728,112. Thus it is plain to be seen that after deducting the $1,853,000 and the $2,775,000 paid for our public school system, including Normals and University, there will be left about $1,121,612 to meet all other expenditures. The Controller's report will clearly define what the other expenditures of the State are and should be carefully estimated and added to the $1,646,500, which should represent the fixed charges against the State as the law now stands. Based on a rate of 45 cents instead of 50 cents it would yield $5,155,000 and leave about $550,000. To those who have claimed that the State government could be run on a basis of 25 per cent less than the present cost let me call their attention to the true situation. On that basis the yield would be about $4,295,000, which you will see is $461,500 less than the items embraced in the public school, benevolent and judicial charges, $4,695,500.

"For your convenience I will give you, as near as I can ascertain, the principal items that will be asked of you for permanent improvements, to wit:

San Bernardine	250,000
Napa (not estimated)
Stockton	50,000
Agnews	50,000
Whittier	50,000
Preston (estimated)	50,000
San Quentin (not estimated)
Folsom (not estimated)
Adult Blind (not estimated)
Deaf, Dumb, and Blind	25,000
Building for State officers in San Francisco	500,000
State University in San Francisco, Berkeley and Mt Hamilton	750,000
Amounting in all to	$1,625,500

"There will be others which I have not considered and cannot estimate.

"If there is one question upon which our people are a unit it is on the subject of taxation. You are their immediate representatives, pledged to respect their wishes, and to keep the rate of taxation within the 50-cent limit. Therefore, unless you determine to make radical changes in our method of transacting state work you will readily see that it will require every dollar that the 50-cent basis will produce in order to meet what may be properly considered fixed charges, as the law now stands notwithstanding the increased income over 1893.

"By considering the Controller's report, and the estimates furnished you by the State Board of Equalization, you will see that no permanent improvements can be made unless some of the State's responsibilities are shifted, as heretofore indicated, or the rate will exceed the 50-cent limit. However unpleasant these facts may be, it is due to you and our taxpayers that they be plainly stated, in order that you may act accordingly, and our people be made aware of the true situation of affairs.

"Permit me to say that as to the financial statements above enumerated, I have given them to you for your own convenience. They are believed to be correct; but the means of verification are at your hands, and I would respectfully suggest that you examine the same for your own protection.

"I have no apologies to make as to our expenditures. They have all been made according to law, and it is for you to say in what manner they shall be reduced. I have striven to do all that any Governor should be expected to do in that respect."

In conclusion the Governor gives his thanks to all the departments of state and bids them farewell.

Reforms in the State Affairs.

Says the Primary Law Should Be Amended.

Comments on the National Guard and Blind Home.

SACRAMENTO, January 9. — Governor Markham today sent his second biennial message to the Senate and the Assembly. The message is a most complete one in every respect. The Governor deals with every department of State, and makes many wise recommendations. A synopsis of his report is as follows:

ADULT BLIND.

"I have made two visits to this institution. Both were somewhat hurried, yet I believe that I have a fair knowledge of its work and method. There are about 112 inmates engaged in the manufacture of brooms. The home is under the supervision of Joseph Sanders, a blind man, formerly in the institution as a teacher. The wisdom of placing a sightless man in so responsible a position has been the subject of much controversy, and the division of the board on that subject has been the result—three being in favor of retaining Mr. Sanders and two emphatically opposed. At my request a Legislative Committee of investigation was appointed, and its report exonerated Mr. Sanders and those supporting him for the position.

"This has been an unfortunate disputation, and, as far as I have been able to learn, more or less personal and local in its effect. Personally, I believe Mr. Sanders to be a remarkably efficient man, considering his infirmity, and one deeply interested in the success of this institution. The mere question of financial success should not supersede the charitable objects for which it was instituted. It has proven nearly self-supporting, and, I believe, will be entirely so, under favorable auspices.

"A demand for $10,000 extra for maintenance will be asked, together with sufficient money to purchase additional ground, both of which should be carefully considered. The latter is imperative. The fact that these unfortunates are striving to become self-supporting, warrants encouragement at the hands of the State, and it is to be hoped that proper assistance will be granted them.

"I desire to call your attention to the pressing needs of this great educational institution, and I know of no more effective way of accomplishing it than to quote what Dr. Bonte and President Kellogg have just stated to me.

"'These very exigent demands come to us, as will be seen, from the scientific side of the University, and the University cannot keep pace with the growth of science, particularly applied science, without a knowledge of which our people will fail to use the use of a university and send their sons elsewhere, unless we are provided with the means of instruction.

"'The regents and faculties have long given anxious thought to these matters, and the finance committee eighteen months ago formulated a report, after four years of discussion, which was submitted to and approved by the Board of Regents. It is as follows:

"'The fact is, the University, in response to a great public demand, is expanding in every direction, and the appeal from almost every department of the University for more room and greater facilities is emphatic and urgent.

"'The construction of a large building, that will afford room for the educational departments, now cramped and crowded in unsuitable quarters; that will furnish space for the classification and display of the very valuable collections now concealed in boxes or stowed away in lockers, and which should be placed in a properly arranged museum; that will permit the shelving of more books and supply room for study and reading in connection with the increasing library; that will enable a large audience to be seated in a well-lighted, warmed and ventilated auditorium; and in which suitable fire-proof vaults can be constructed for the preservation of the papers and archives of the State University, now scattered in insecure places in the various buildings; and where also may be provided suitable and contiguous rooms for the administrative offices of the University—such a building should be erected without unnecessary delay as an economical measure. And as it will cost probably $500,000, this sum should be asked for from the Legislature for this purpose, to be expended in two years; and relieved of this strain, the income of the University would suffice to carry on the current work.'"

Many other recommendations are made concerning the University.

DEAF, DUMB, AND BLIND INSTITUTION.

"This institution is a credit to our State, its management worthy of all praise and the purpose of its creation completely carried out. No one can visit it without recognizing and acknowledging its benefits. It certainly is gratifying to me to speak so highly of its usefulness and management, but it is because I believe it is merited. I have made two visits to this establishment and carefully inspected its workings and financial conduct.

"The last Legislature appropriated $75,000 for an additional building. It is one of the most complete and economical erected during my administration. Its future wants will be found in the report of its Board of Directors.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

"The voice of the people through the ballot, when free from restraint of every kind, becomes their true expression. To render this grand privilege secure is the solemn duty of the law-making power. Expense in contributing to this end, if it but fulfils its purpose, is unworthy of consideration. Our present Election law has been thoroughly tested, and so far as I have been enabled to observe, its workings have proven satisfactory.

"The system could, however, be improved by the adoption of some method whereby the counting of the votes could be more rapidly performed, particularly so in our larger cities. Suggestions will be presented you, with changes which experience has demonstrated to be necessary, and to which I desire to ask your earnest, serious consideration.

"Your attention is called to the urgent necessity of establishing some form of procedure regulating and controlling primary elections. The danger to our government lies in the loose and very often profligate manner in which these elections are conducted, regardless of the rights of communities, imperiling their safety, and entirely under the control of the worst elements of society. Like stringent laws, which protect the voter at a regular election, should shield him at these primaries.

"It is absurd to declare that the voter has the right at a general election to vote for whom he pleases, when those for whom he must vote have been placed before him, without giving him an opportunity of declaring his choice. The privilege of nomination is strangled at the birth, and he must follow the dictates of a convention corruptly assembled, or quietly abstain from the use of the franchise. This is an evil growing by what it feeds on, threatening the liberties of the people by debarring them from the free and untrammeled exercise of personal choice.

CHINESE PRISONERS.

"I would recommend that you pass a joint resolution requesting the Governor to commute every Chinese subject now confined in our prisons, upon condition that he be deported to China at his own expense, never to return. We now have about 150 of these in our prisons, and it would seem to be wise to return them in this manner, if they are willing to go. While the Governor needs no change in the law to empower him to do so, yet such a resolution sanctioning the act would relieve him from assuming the entire responsibility, and apprise the people of the State of its object.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL.

"From the Adjutant-General's report it will be observed that there are on the rolls of the National Guard of California 5,99) officers and men, which includes 325 officers and men of the Naval Battalion. As his report appears to have been prepared with much care, I would respectfully call your attention to it for the the details pertaining to that department.

"At my request, he, on assuming office, took an inventory of all the State property, as far as it was possible to do so, and I believe he will be able to leave to his successor an intelligent account of its disposition since that time. It was found in disorder when he came in, and I trust great improvement in that regard will be observed. I have in all ordinary matters pertaining to that department, relied implicitly upon his suggestions, opinions, etc. His report will furnish you with ample information regarding the operations of the guard during his term of office, and especially during the last two years.

"Owing to the great stagnation in all classes of business, which naturally caused a deep-seated feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction in the minds of many of our people during the last two years, the guard of the State has many times been called upon to assist the civil authorities in maintaining order throughout the State, and I am pleased to say that with but a single exception its efficiency could not be questioned. While the aggregate cost to the State for this service is large, I feared that it would far exceed the amount asked for, and those entitled to it should be credited with loyalty to the interest of the State and I beg you to care for them without delay. Remember that the majority of the rank and file is composed of young men who depended upon their daily earnings for their support, and while in service were deprived of the same. Many of them have lost their situations by reason of having been called into active service. Do not assume that because no lives were lost and no property was destroyed that this important arm of the Government is useless, for the very fact that 4,00 armed men stood ready to assist in the enforcement of the law made such a result possible. The Guard of this State is a creature of the statutes, and you should exercise extreme caution in framing laws for its government. It has never been called out by me except to assist the civil authorities, as provided by law.

KEEPER OF THE ARCHIVES.

"The Legislature of 1889, in my judgment, wisely created the position of keeper of the archives, an office that could and should be one of great importance. By the present arrangement the papers and documents of the State, while somewhat improved by the provisions of the act, are yet in a very unsatisfactory condition. For some unaccountable reason the appropriation for the payment of the salary of such officer was not showed by the last Legislature. This was an error that should be remedied immediately.

BOUNTY FOR COYOTE SCALPS.

"I called the attention of the last Legislature to the necessity of repealing the act of 1891, providing for the payment of a bounty on coyote scalps. No action was taken, and in consequence the sum of $187,485 has been already paid out, and existing demands against the State amounting to $195,985 have been presented. For many good reasons this law should be repealed. The State has been shamefully defrauded by the payment for scalps that have been shipped into the State from Oregon, Nevada, Arizona and Mexico. The law provides that after the scalps are examined by the Board of Supervisors of a county, they shall be destroyed by fire, thereby extinguishing all evidences of fraud, and as the Supervisors have no interest in the matter, and simply act as agents of the State, it is manifest that no extra effort has been made to check irregularities, and the Board of Examiners have no means of preventing this swindle upon the State. It is to hoped that this law will be repealed.

CARE OF UNFORTUNATES.

"In my message to the last Legislature, I called attention to the number of unfortunates which were cared for wholly or in part by the State during the one year preceding that date. It was about 19,300, consisting of insane, orphans, half-orphans, abandoned children and foundlings, aged indigents, prisoners, feeble-minded, juvenile offenders, deaf, dumb, and blind, soldiers' widows and orphans, veterans at the Yountville Home and adult blind. I have examined and estimated the same for the last year, and find there are about 23,300, or an increase over that of two years ago of about 4000. It is for you to determine whether the State shall continue this work, or ask the communities whence they come to stand the expense.

FIFTY-CENT LIMIT.

"Taxation is always a vital question to the taxpayer. Be it ever so moderate, it is always capable of undergoing reduction.

"I was nominated and elected on a party platform which pledged the people that the tax rate should not exceed 50 cents on each $100 of taxable property. Upon discovered that this rate was a purely arbitrary one to adopt, and left me no definite foundation upon which to estimate the resources to be derived under it. After assuming office, I immediately sought the most reliable sources of information, to wit, the office of the State Board of Equalization and that of the Controller, and upon these data the valuations of 1893 were adopted, which yielded $1,982,646, and after deducting fixed charges, as the law allowed, the remainder represented the gross expenditures for permanent improvements. I was then able to furnish every interested legislator with a detailed statement of our financial condition. Notwithstanding this information, it was unheeded, and I was obliged to veto $700,000 of appropriation bills in order that the limit should not be exceeded. In 1891-92 the valuations were increased enough to reduce the average rate for these years to 41 cents.

"A similar course was adopted for the benefit of the last Legislature, with the same results. The valuations of 1892 were accepted as my guide, and they yielded $6,060,127, and in order to keep within said limit I was obliged to veto $1,000,000 of appropriations.

"In 1893-94, valuations were sufficiently reduced to increase the rate for those two years to an average of 53.4 cents, making for the four years of my administration an average of 48.7 cents on the $100. While this is the lowest rate since the State was organized, it should and can with proper legislation be reduced.

"All that was left for me to do was to veto still more appropriation bills, in order to reduce; but as I had already vetoed in all $1,700,000, exceeding in amount that of all the Executives since the adoption of the State government, I could but feel that I had reached the limit in that regard. Let it be hoped that my successor be spared that trying ordeal.

"On questions of appropriation the Legislature should act with caution, for it is presumed to be the proper judge of their necessity. Such action would avoid the responsibility so often unjustly thrust upon the veto power for protection.

"I have given considerable attention to the methods of performing State work, and carefully observed and noted the defects, and in my message to the last Legislature clearly pointed out many of them.

"The question as to whether our people outside of incorporated cities are called upon to pay a greater aggregate of taxes in proportion to actual valuations than those in other States, is debatable and very difficult of ascertainment, and I am not prepared to say they do. I have given the subject much thought, but there are so many contingencies to be considered that it is almost impossible to make comparisons.

"But our purely State taxes are much higher than the average States of the Union. This is to be accounted for in the growing tendency of our people to look to the State for aid in every direction, throwing the burden of responsibility that should be borne by others entirely on her shoulders, thus leaving her, as it were, without a friend.

"The constantly increasing number of unfortunates to be cared for is another cause. We have about 258,000 voters in the State, while we support in some manner over 23,000 unfortunates; being in the ratio of 1 to every 13 voters of the State. This is appalling. Are we not by this method encouraging dependency on the part of those that could be cared for in other ways? By this system of unrestricted charity are we not doing more harm than good? That many of these cases will appeal to our better nature none will deny, but it will be gainsaid that, if the respective localities in which these unfortunates live and ask for aid were compelled to answer their demands, investigations as to their deservings would be more carefully inquired into? As it is, no questions are asked, because the onerous load is borne by the State.

California is a miniature United States and our institutions widely spread, which adds to the legitimate expenses. The cost per capita of our insane in the three old institutions is less than in any State in the Union. The average is about 38½ cents a day, which includes food, clothing, attendance, in fact all costs outside of permanent improvements, and the inmates most humanely cared for. So with the State Prisons; the food is good, clothing ample, and all are well treated, and outside of permanent improvements the average is less than 10 cents per day. The Whittier and Preston schools, the Feeble-Minded, the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind, are, in fact, more than educational in their work, and are thereby more expensive in proportion, but by all of them economy has been rigidly practiced. The costs of commissions and boards are of themselves inexpensive, as only a very few of their members receive compensation for their labors. The objects to be attained by these boards and commissions are what the money is used for, and it is for you to say whether any or all of them can be dispensed with. Those most interested in them consider their work worth all it costs.

Aged indigents		30,000
For the insane, about		622,00
For charitable and educational institutions—
Deaf, Dumb, and Blind	$ 50,000
Feeble-minded	50,000
		105,000
Reformatories, to wit:
Whittier	$80,000
Preston	35,000
		115,000
For half salaries of eighty-six Superior Judges		145,000
For transporting prisoners, insane, etc.		60,000
Total		$1,653,500

"To this there should be added some deficiencies in order to meet the required demands upon them. Nearly all this expense in other States is borne by individuals, counties and municipalities. In other words, the state is relieved or reimbursed in some form for its expenditures in that direction.

"The total income of the State this year on the basis of 1893 will be about $5,728,112. This it is plain to be seen that after deducting the $1,850,500 and the $2,775,000 paid for our public school system, including Normals and University, there will be left about $1,121,612 to meet all other expenditures. The Controller's report will clearly define what the other expenditures of the State are and should be carefully estimated and added to the $1,653,500, which should represent the fixed charges against the State as the law now stands. Based on a rate of 45 cents instead of 50 cents it would yield $5,155,000 and leave about $550,000. To those who have claimed that the State government could be run on a basis of 25 per cent less than the present cost let me call their attention to the true situation. On that basis the yield would be about $1,290,000, which you will see is $411,500 less than the items embraced in the public school, benevolent and judicial charges, $1,606,500.

"For your convenience I will give you, as near as I can ascertain, the principal items that will be asked of you for permanent improvements, to wit:

San Bernardino	150,000
Napa (not estimated)	...
Stockton	30,000
Agnews	3,000
Whittier	73,000
Preston (estimated)	74,000
San Quentin (not estimated)	...
Folsom (not estimated)	...
Adult Blind (not estimated)	...
Deaf, Dumb and Blind	25,000
Building for State officers in San Francisco	200,000
State University in San Francisco, Berkeley and 31st Hamilton	750,000
Amounting in all to	$1,655,500

"There will be others which I have not considered and cannot estimate.

"If there is one question upon which our people are a unit it is on the subject of taxation. You are their immediate representatives, pledged to respect their wishes, and to keep the rate of taxation within the 50-cent limit. Therefore, unless you determine to make radical changes in our method of transacting State work you will readily see that it will require every dollar that the 50-cent basis will produce in order to meet what may be properly considered fixed charges, as the law now stands, notwithstanding the increased income over 1893.

"By considering the Controller's report, and the estimates furnished you by the State Board of Equalization, you will see that no permanent improvements can be made unless some of the State's responsibilities are shirked, as heretofore indicated, or the rate will exceed the 50-cent limit. However unpleasant these facts may be, it is due to you and our taxpayers that they be plainly stated, in order that you may act accordingly, and our people be made aware of the true situation of affairs.

"Permit me to say that as to the financial statements above enumerated. I have given them to you for your own convenience. They are believed to be correct; but the means of verification are at your hands, and I would respectfully suggest that you examine the same for your own protection.

"I have no apologies to make as to our expenditures. They have all been made according to law, and it is for you to say in what manner they shall be reduced. I have striven to do all that any Governor should be expected to do in that respect."
